FIGUEREO GIVES UP.

Is Forced to Resign the Presidency of Santo Domingo.

NO MORE FIGHTING.

Gen. Jiminez, the Revolutionary Leader Will Likely Be His Successor-Complete Victory of the Revolutionary Forces-Santiago Taken After a Hot Fight-The Revolution Bloodless.

Santo Domingo, (By Cable.)-President Figuereo has resigned, and the success of the revolutionists is complete.

The ministers will continue at the head of their various departments until a provisional government has been formed, after. which the elections for president and vice president will take place. This city is quiet, but business is at a standstill.

The Dominican gunboat Restauracion is ashore on the rocks at the entrance to the harbor of Macoris. Efforts are being made to get her off.

The United States cruiser New Orleans and the French cruiser Cecille are still in port.

Santiago, Moca, Lavega, Porto Plata, San Francisco de Macoris and Bani have declared in favor of the revolution. Santiago was taken after a strong fight.

It is expected that all the other places will submit to the revolution without any more fighting, principally owing to the fact that the president has resigned. The political prisoners have all been released.

Santiago de Cuba, (By Cable.)-General Juan Isidro Jiminez, the revolutionary aspirant to the presidency of Santo Domingo, left Santiago de Cuba on a specially chartered steamer, the George Croise, General Wood, the military governor, having received instructions from Governer General Brooke to release him from custody unless there are indications that he is promoting a flibustering expedition.

General Jiminez received numerous despatches from Santo Domingo announcing the downfall of the old government, and urging his speedy arrival. He says the revolution has been practically bloodiess, as the people are almost unanimous against the old regime. General Jiminez has issued a long proclamation, announcing the reforms he will institute if he is chosen president. The existing laws of Santo Domingo are, he asserts, adequate, if properly enforced. All that is needed is honest execution, and he has no doubt of his own immediate success.

PORTO RICAN LOSSES

Victims of the Recent Hurricane Number Five Thousand.

Ponce, Porto Rico, (By Cable.)-The furious storm during the day of Tuesday, August 8, and the exceedingly heavy rains which accompanied and followed the wind were the most destructive combination of elements that have visited this island since August 22, 1772. A conservativo estimate would place the loss of life on the island at

The wind unroofed many buildings and blew down hundreds of poorly constructed native buts, but the injuries and loss of life from the wind were very small, indeed. The wind played havoe with the vegetation. It broke down and uprooted large trees and royal paims; it destroyed the coffee trees that were loaded with ripening berries; it blew oranges, limes, lemons and all kinds of fruits from the trees, or else swept away the trees entirely, and, worst of all, it leveled practically all the banana paims of the island, and thus destroyed the fruit that served as bread to the peons. The sugar-houses and machinery suffered greatly, while the sugar-cane itself was little injured except from the floods. The young cane that was flooded was greatly improved by the alluvial deposit brought down from the mountains, while cane that was older was broken down and ruined, although the land itself was in many cases improved. On the other hand, the tobacco and coffee lands on the mountain sides were greatly injured by the washing away of the richest part of the top soil.

Coffee planters are perhaps the most to be pitied, because it takes five or six years to produce a tree that will yield a crop. The great loss of life throughout the island was caused almost entirely by the floods which followed the windstorm. The rivers rose so suddenly and to such unprecedented height that all were caught unawares.

Too much cannot be said for the "bomberos" or native fire department of Ponce and the soldiers. Both worked the whole sight, and aided by many citizens, saved hundreds of lives.

Almost the entire loss of life was among the peons.

Miss Edith Dunn Killed by Type Grove, a Neighbor, Who Mistook the Girl for a Burglar .- Two Threshing Machine Operators Seriously Injured in Berks County .- Other Live News.

Miss Edith Dunn, aged 17 years, daughter of a prominent farmer of Franklin, was fatally shot by Tyne Grove, a neighbor, who mistook the girl for a burglar.

Miss Dunn had attended a church social in the neighborhood, returning home at 2 oclock. After her escort left her she made a futile attempt to arouse some member of her family to let her into the house.

The girl then went to Grove's home, a short distance away. She knocked at the front door several times, according to her story, and received no response until a shot was fired through the door.

Mr. Grove says that he was aroused by a knock at the door and called out "Who's there?" This demand he repeated several times, but received no reply. He then called out: "If you don't leave, I'll shoot."

Again no response came, and he immemediately procured his 38-calibre rifle. Mr. Grove says in getting the gun he made considerable noise and allowed several shells to drop on the floor with the hope of frightening the person away.

The knock came again and he fired toward the door. A scream followed, and when Mr. Grove stepped outside to pick up a supposed burglar he learned his mistake. The ball had entered the groin of the victim, and she died in the afternoon.

Mr. Grove had sold some oil the day previous and had several hundred dollars in the house. He thought the person at the door was somebody who knew he had the money and was attempting to rob him. The giri was a general favorite in the community, and her family is frantic over her death. Grove has been excuerated from all biame, the girl requesting this before she died.

Cincinnati, O., (Special.)-Editor Murat Halstead lectured by invitation before the Economic Club. The audience was miscellaneous, in addition to the members of the club, which is largely anti-imperialistic. Mr. Halstead's subject was the "Philippines." After the lecture, according to the rules of the club, Mr. Halstead was plied with questions. One of the questioners, with decided sympathy for Aguinaldo, after his question had been answered, added the remark: "I hone Otia will be kept in and will keep on blundering till he and the whole army are driven into the sea or captured. Mr. Halstead said: "A man with those sentiments Commercial Concress at Philadelphia. is a traitor to his country." Several men jumped up and remarked: "Two-thirds of this audience thinks that way." Mr. Halstead replied: "Whoever thinks that way is a traitor.'

Then there was a rush down the hall, with raised fists toward Mr. Halstead, but a great number of men stepped in between Mr. Haistead and those who were rushing at him. There was a great noise and uproar, which disclosed the fact that the audience was composed of men on both sides of that question. Mr. Haistead was quietly led out of the building by a side door and taken home. No blows were struck, but chairs and seats were upset, and there were loud threats and great uproariousness.
