In the lower portions of the ranch a great number of springs gush out of the soll in copious volumes. It was the springs that determined the first location of the ranch. The site, overlooking an expansive view of the beautiful bay, was capable of vast improvement. A dozen acres, inclosing the springs, were surrounded with a hedge of cypress. The grounds were laid out with taste and soon presented the rare beauty incident to the profuse vegetation of a emi-tropical climate. Three ponds

THE EMINENT DIVINE'S SUNDAY DISCOURSE.

Subject: The Divorce Question-Domestic Disorders a Subject of National Importance-Uniformity of Divorce Laws in the Various States Suggested.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.] WASHINOTON, D. C. -- Dr. Talmage in this discourse discusses a question of national importance, which is confessedly as diffi-cult as it is urgent. The text is Matthew xix. 6, "What therefore God hath joined together let not man put asunder." That there are hundreds and thousands of infelicitous homes in America no one will doubt. If there were only one skeleton in the closet, that might be locked up and ibondoned, but in many a home there is a skeleton in the hallway and a skeleton in all the apartments. "Unhappily married" are two words descriptive of many a home-tead. It needs no orthodox minister to prove to a badly mated pair that there is a stead. It needs no orthodox minister to prove to a badly mited pair that there is a hell. They are there now. Sometimes a grand and gracious woman will be thus in-carcerated, and her life will be a craci-lixion, as was the case with Mrs. Sigour-ney, the great poetess and the great soul. Sometimes a consecrated man will be united to a fury, as was John Wesley, or united to a vixen, as was John Milton. Sometimes and generally both parties are to blame. vixen, as was John Milton. and generally both parties are to blame, and generally both parties are to blame, and Thomas Carlyle is an intolerable grumbler, and his wife has a pungent re-tort always heady, and Fronde, the histo-rian, pledged to tell the plain truth, has to pull aside the curtain from the lifelong synabile at Craigan puttock, and 5 Charpe squabble at Craigenputtock and 5 Cheyne Some say that for the alleviation of all these domestic disorders of which we hear easy divorce is a good prescription. God sometimes authorizes divorce as certainly sometimes authorizes divorce as certainly as He authorizes marriage. I have just as much regard for one lawfully divorced as I have for one lawfully married. But you know and I know that wholesale divorce is one of our national scourges. I am not surprised at this when I think of the influ-onces which have been approad militation ences which have been abroad militating against the marriage relation. For many years the platforms of the country rang with talk about a free love millennium. There were meetings of this kind held in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn; Cooper Institute, New York, Tremont Temple, Boston, and all over the land. Some of the women who were most prominent in that movement have since been distinguished for great promiscusity of affection. Popu-lar themes for such occasions were the tyr-anay of man, the oppression of the marriage relation, women's rights and the riage relation, women's rights and the affinities. Prominent speakers were women with short curls and short dress and very long tongue, ever-lastingly at war with God because they were created women, while on the plat-form sat meek men with soft accent and cowed demeasior, apologetic for mascuin-ity and holding the parasols while the termscent orators went on preaching the termagant orators went on preaching the gospel of free love. That campaign of about twenty years set more devis into the about tweaty years set hore devising the marriage relation than will be exorcised in the next fifty. Men and women went home from such meetings so permanently con-fused as to who were their wives and husbands that they never got out of the per-plexity, and the criminal and the civil courts tried to disentangle the Illad of woes, and the one got alimony, and that one got a limited divorce, and this mother kept the children on condition that the father could sometimes come and look at them, and these went into poorhouses. and those went into an insane asylum, and those went into dissolute public life, and all went to destruction. The mightiest war ever made against the marriage institution was that free love campaign, sometimes under one name and sometimes under au-

other. Another influence that has warred upon the marriage relation has been polygamy in Utab. That is a stereotyped carlcature of the marriage relation and has polsoned the whole land. You might as well think that you can have an arm in a state of mor-tification and yet the wuole body not be Sickened as to have any Territories or States polygamized and yet the body of the States polygamized and yet the body of the nation not feel the putrefaction. Hear it, good men and women or America, that so long ago as 1862 a law was passed by Con-gress forbidding polyamy in the Territories and in all the places where they had juris-diction. Thirty-seven years have passed along and nine administrations, yet not until the passage of the Edmunds law in the places are solve poly of polycamic 1882 was any active policy of polygamic suppression adopted. Armed with all the power of government and having an army at their disposal, the first brick had not till then been knocked from that fortress of libertinism. Every new President in his inaugural tickled that monster with the straw ondemnation, and every Congress stuitified itself in proposing some plan that would not work. Polygamy stood in Utab, and in other of the Territories more intrenched. more brazen, more puissant, more brag-gart and more internal than at any time in its history. James Buchanan, a much abused man of his day, did more for the extirpation of this villainy than all the subsequent administrations dared to do up Mr. Bucbanan sent out an army and, although it was balted in its work, stil and, atthought was batted in its work, still be accomplished more than the subsequent administrations, which did nothing but talk, talk, talk. Even at this late day and with the Edmunds act in force the evil has bot been wholly extirpated. Polygamy in Utab, though outlawed, is still practiced in secret. It has warred against the marriage relation throughout the land. impossible to have such an awful sewer of iniquity sending up its miasma, which is waited by the winds north, south, east and west, without the whole land being affected by it. by it. "Now," say some, "we admit all these evils, and the only way to clear them out or to correct them is by easy divorce," Well, before we yield to that cry let us find out how easy it is now. I have looked over the laws of all the States, and I find that, while in some States it is easy. The in others, in every States it is easy. The State of Illinois, through its Legislature, recites a long list of proper causes for divorce and then sloses up by giving to the courts the right to make a decree of divorce in any case where they deem it expedient. After that you are not surprised at the announcement that in one year there were $33 dithat in one year there were 853 di-vorces. If you want to know how easy it is, you have only to look over the records of the States—in Massachusetts, 603 di-vorces in one year; in Maine, 478 in one year, in Connecticut, 401 divorces in one year; in the city of San Francisco, 533 divorces in one year; in New England in one year, 2113 divorces, and in twenty years in New England, 20,-600. Is that not easy enough? If the same ratio continues the ratio of multiplied di-vorce and multiplied causes of divorce, we are not far from the time when our courts will have to set apart whole days we are not far from the time when our courts will have to set apart whole days for application, and all you will have to prove against a man will be that he left his slippers in the middle of the floor; and all nor will have to have a set of the floor.

What we want is that the Congress of what we want is that the Congress of the United States move for the changing of the national constitution so that a law can be passed which shall be uniform all over the country and what shall be right in one State shall be right in all the States and what is wrong in one State will be in one state shall be right in all the states and what is wrong in one State will be wrong in all the States. How is it now? If a party in the marriage relation gets dissatisfied, it is only necessary to move to another State to achieve liberation from the domestic tie, and divorce is effected so the domestic fie, and divorce is effected so easily that the first one party knows of it is by seeing it in the newspaper that Rev. Dr. Somebody a few days or weeks atter-ward introduced into a new marriage rela-tion a member of the household who went off on a pleasure excursion to Newport or a business excursion to Chicago. Married a business excursion to Chicago. Married at the bride's house; no cards. There are States of the Union which practically put a premium upon the disintegration of the marriage relation, while there are other States, like the State of New York, which has the pre-eminent idlocy of making marriage lawful at twelve and fourteen years of uge. The Congress of the United States needs The Congress of the United States needs to move for a change of the national con-stitution and then to appoint a committee —not made up of single gentlemen, but of men of families, and their families in Wash-ington—who shall prepare a good, honest, righteous, commencesive uniform law that ington-who shall prepare a good, honest, righteous, comprehensive uniform law that will control everything from Sandy Hook to the Golden Gate. That will put an end divorce lawyers into a decent business. That will set people agitated for many years on the question of how they shall get away from each other to planning how they can adjust themselves to the more or less unfavorable circumstances. More difficuit divorce will put an estop-More difficult divorce will put an estop-

More difficult divorce will put an estop-pal to a great extent upon marriage as a financial speculation. There are men who go into the relation just as they go into Wall street to purchase shares. The fe-male to be invited into the partnership of medical is utilized an attractive, and in diswedlock is utterly unattractive and in dis-position a suppressed Vesuvius. Everybody knows it, but this mascuine candidate for matrimonial orders, through the commermatrimonial orders, through the commer-cial agency or through the county records, finds out how much estate is to be in-herited, and he calculates it. He thinks out how long it will be before the old man will die and whether he can stand the re-fractory temper until he does die, and then he enters the relation, for he says, "If I cannot stand it, then through the divorce law I will back out." That process is gocannot stand it, then turbigh the sis go-law I will back out." That process is go-ing on all the time, and men enter into the relation without any moral principle, with-out any affection, and it is as much a mat-ter of stock speculation as anything that was transacted yesterday in Union Pacific, Wabash and Delaware and Lackawanna. was transacted yeaterday in Charteman.
Wabash and Delaware and Lackawanna.
Now, suppose a man understood, as he ought to understand, that if he goes into that relation there is no possibility of his texting cut or no probability. He would he more slow to put his neck in the yoke.
He should say to himself, "Rather than a Caribbean whirlwind with a whole fleet of shipping in its arms, give me a zephyr off fields of sunshine and gardens of peace."
Rigorous divorce law will also hinter women from the fatal mistake of marrying men to reform them. If a young man, by twenty-five years of age or thirty years of age, have the babit of storng drink fixed on him, he is as certainly bound for a drunkard's grave as that a train starting out from the Grand Central depot at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning is bound for Albany. The train may not reach Albany. o'clock to-morrow morning is bound for Albany. The train may not reach Albany, for it may be thrown from the track. The young man may not reach a drunkard's grave, for something may throw him off the iron track of evil habit. But the proba-bility is that the train that starts to-mor-morning at 8 colock for Albany will row morning at 8 o'clock for Albany will get there, and the probability is that the get there, and the probability is that the young man who has the habit of strong drink fixed on him before tweaty five or thirty years of age will arrive at a drunkard's grave. She knows he drinks, although he tries to hide it by chewing cloves. Everybody knows he drinks. Paren's warp: neighbors he drinks. Parents warn; neighbors and friends warn. She will marry him, she will reform him. If she is unsuccess-ful in the experiment, why, then, the divorce law will emancipate her, because habitual drupkenness is a cause for divorce in Indiana, Kentucky, Florida, Connecticut and nearly all the States. No the poor thing goes to the altar of sacrifice. If you will show me the poverty struck, if streets in any city, I will show you the homes of the women who married men to reform them. In one case out of ten thou sand it may be a successful experiment. sand it may be a successful experiment. But never saw the successful experiment. But bave a rigorous divorce iaw, and that woman will say, "If I am affianced to that man, it is for life, and if now, in the ardor of his young love and I the prize to be won, he will not give up his cups, when he has won the prize surely he will not give nds won the prize surely he will hot give up his cups." And so that woman will say to the man: "No, sir; you are already mar-ried to the club, and you are married to that evil habit, and so you are married twice, and you are a bigamist. Go!" Let me say to all young people, before you give your beart and hand in boly alitance, use all caution. Inquire outside as to babits, explore the disposition, scrutin-ize the taste, question the ancestry and find out the ambitions. Do not take the heroes and beroines of cheap novels for a model. Do not part part form illustrate and model. Do not put your lifetime happi-ness in the keeping of a man who has a reputation of being a little loose in morals r in the keeping of a woman who dresse immodestly. Remember that, while good looks are a kindly gift of God, wrinkles or accident may descoil them. Remember accident may descoil them. Remember that Byron was no more celebrated for his beauty than for his depravity. Remember that Absalom's hair was not more splendid than bis habils were despicable. Hear it! Hear it! The only foundation for happy Hear II. The only foundation for bary marriage that ever has been or ever will be is good character. Ask the counsel of father and mother in this most important step of your life. They are good advisers. They are the best friends you ever had. They made more sacrifices for you than any adviser did They made more sacrifices for you than any one else ever did. And let me say to those of you who are in happy married uniou, avoid first quar-reis; have no unexplained correspondence with former admirers; cultivate no sus-picions; in a moment of bad temper do not rush out and tell the neighbors; do not let any of those gadabouts of society unload in your house their baggage of gab and tittle tattle; do not make it an invariable role to stand on your rights; learn how to açologize; do not be so proud or so stub-born or so devilish that you will not make up. Remember that the *worst domestic misfortunes and most scandalous divorce cases started from little infeliaites. The whole piled up train of ten rail cars tele-scoped and smashed at the foot of an em-bakment 100 feet down came to that ca-tastrophe by getting two or three inches bankment 100 feet down came to that ea-tastrophe by getting two or three inches off the track. #### What Is the Correct Spelling of the Name?

At a recent meeting of the Clan Stewart Society in Glasgow, Col. John Stewart of Ardvoirlich, who presided, referring to the different ways of spelling the clan name, said that the "different ways of spelling the name arose either from accidental causes or other well-defined reasons. The final letter 't' was substituted for the 'd' of the original name 'Steward' for the sake of euphony. The spelling of the name Steuart was quite accidental, arising probably from the illegibility of the writing of some member; while the spelling of Stuart was caused by Queen Mary, on her return from France, using the French spelling of her name, to which she had been accustomed, and many clansmen perpetuated the royal spelling. But in whatever way they spelt their name, they all came from the original stock. Nor does this end the matter, for it may be remembered by many that the Earl of Galloway refused to take part in the collection of "Stuart exhibition" in London in 1889, because the committee refused to spell the name "Stewart," as his lordship himself does. He maintained that this was the only correct orthography. and held aloof from the exhibition which disregarded this assertion. This, however, seemed rather high-handed, especially when we discover by reference to historical documents that nearly all the famous people of the fifteenth. and sixteenth centuries spelt their names in two or three different ways. In short, there was no "proper spelling," though Mary Queen of Scots always wrote "Stuart," for the simple reason that she was educated in France and the French alphabet had no "w." Earlier kings of her race spelt their names "Steward," or "Stewart," or "Stuart," at the fancy of the moment when they held the pen. We have nearly thirty different ways on record of spelling the surname of Stewart in English, Gaelic, French, Latin, Italian, Spanish and Dutch, as follows: Steward, Stewart, Stewartt, Stuart, Stuard, Steuarde, Steuard, Steuart, Steuert, Stewort, Steort, Steubhart, Steubhartt, Stiubhart, Stevyard, Stiurt, Stowart, Sturgard, Stuyarde, Styward, Stuardus, Estuard, Estuarza, Stivard, Stivardi. #### Stevenson as a Burglar.

Edmond Gosse has written a paper on "Stevenson's Relation with Children." in Chambers' Journal. In it he relates a story of his youthful days, as narrated to himself by Stevenson. He was still a little fellow when in the summer holidays, after reading a number of detective novels of a bad kind, he was passing one Sunday afternoon along a road in an Edinburgh suburb. There he saw a deserted house, furnished, but without a caretaker. It struck young Stevenson that it would be a fine thing to break into the house, which he accordingly did, roaming from room to room, looking at books and pictures in great excitement, until he thought he heard a noise in the garden. Terror seized upon him as he imagined himself handcuffed and conveyed to prison just as the church folks were returning home. He burst into crying, then managed to creep out as he had come in were formed by confining the waters of the flowing springs, some acres in extent, and stocked with frogs. A fence high enough to prevent the escape of the inmates surrounded each, and the ponds were filled with aquatic plants and mosses. Then hundreds of frogs were placed in the ponds, and from the original stock the increase has been so great that, though thousands are sent to market yearly, the withdrawals have no sensible effect upon the vast numbers.

THE ills of women overshadow their whole lives. Some women are constantly getting medical treatment and are never well. "A woman best understands women's ills," and the women who consult Mrs. Pinkham find in her counsel practical assistance. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

MRS. MABEL GOOD, Correctionville, Ia., tells how Mrs. Pinkham saved her life. She says:

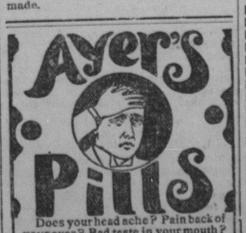

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. I can recommend it as one of the best medicines on earth for all women's ills. I suffered for two years with female weakness and at last became bedfast. Three of our best doctors did me no good so I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking a few bottles of your medicine, I was able to do all my housework. I know that your medicine raised me from a bed of sickness and perhaps death, and am very thankful for what it has done for me. I hope that every suffering woman may be persuaded to try your medicine." Get Mrs. Pinkham's advice as soon as you begin to be puzzled. The sick headaches and dragging sensation come from a curable cause. Write for help as soon as they appear. MRS. DOLE STANLEY, Campbellsburg, Ind., writes: " DEAR MRS. PINKHAM--- I was troubled with sick headache and was so weak and nervous, I could hardly go. A friend called upon me one evening and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying that she knew that it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine and after taking five bottles of it, I was entirely cured. I cannot praise it enough."
