Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about October 12, great central valleys October 14, eastern states October 16. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about October 15, great central valleys 17, eastern states 19.

Fourth storm wave of October will reach the Pacific coast about October 18, cross the west of Rockies country by close of October 19, great central valleys October 20 to 22, eastern states 23.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about October 18th, great central valleys October 20, eastern states October 22. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about October 21, great central valleys 23, eastern states 25.

The last above mentioned cool wave will be a cold wave, and the principal weather event of October. Within two days of October 21 the temperature will go very high on meridian 90, and immediately following this will come the most severe cold wave and blizzard of the month. The changes will occur one or two days earlier west of that meridian, and as much later east. The cool wave due about 17 will not be of the mild type.

A Popular Brand.

John Auman, our popular miller, is kept very busy these times supplying his trade with flour, and he is often compelled to run over time in order to keep up with orders. He's manufacturing a fine grade of flour and has built up a very good trade since he opened here. Mr. Auman has purchased a large gasoline engine which he will install in the place of the present steam engine.

Brother of Ex-Gov. Hastings Dead.

Major James L. Hastings, a brother of ex-Governor Daniel H. Hastings died Thursday in the University hospital, Philadelphia, from a complication of diseases resulting from wounds received during the civil war. His wife and daughter and his distinguished brother and Mrs. Hastings were at his bedside when he died. Major Hastings was born in Clinton county, Pa., September 14, 1841. He enlisted in the Seventh Pennsylvania reserves as a private at the outbreak of the war and had a long and honorable war record, having participated in many battles.

Brungard Inmate.

George C. Brungard, of Lamar, who burned his farm buildings and then attempted suicide, and later was sent to the Danville asylum, was taken back for trial, to Lock Haven last week. By an agreement of all the attorneys concerned, this verdict was ordered to be rendered: "Guilty in manner and form as indicted, but now insane." The rendering of the verdict in this form means that the defendant will not be sentenced to the penitentiary, but that he will be sent to an asylum instead.

Virginia Timberland Deal.

Negotiations were closed at Bellefonte on Monday whereby a syndicate of Williamsport lumbermen, backed by Philadelphia capitalists, purchased of the Brockerhoff Brothers, of Bellefonte, the timber on 13,000 acres of land in Braxton county, W. Va. The price paid is above $250,000. The purchasers will at once begin extensive operations. These lands were purchased many years ago by Henry Brockerhoff, father of the above brothers.

Popular "Wild Man."

The Lewisburg Journal of last week says: Last week at the fair an alleged wild man captured by two brave soldiers near Manila was on exhibition for the sum of ten cents. It may be of interest to learn that the Bellefonte darkey who played the wild man for a similar exhibition at the Centre Hall Grange picnic received $38 for his share of the game, while the two "soldiers" had $160 to the good. They catch a new wild man at each place where they set down their cage, and in this way save car fare on the "savage Phillipino."

A Cure for Hog Cholera.

An exchange says that every newspaper in the state should publish the fact that burnt corn is a sure cure for hog cholera. It was discovered by burning a pile of corn belonging to a distillery. It was thrown to the hogs and eaten by them. Before that a number of them had been dying each day, but the disease immediately disappeared. It is so simple a remedy that it can be easily tried, and if it is efficacious should be generally used as a preventive.

Died at Bellefonte.

William S. Tripple, one of Bellefonte's oldest citizens, died last Friday night, unexpectedly, from heart failure. He was a tailor by trade and had been at work during the day. During the evening he became ill and death soon resulted. He was aged nearly eighty years and has resided in Bellefonte for over sixty years. He was twice married and leaves five children to survive him.

Was in a Hole.

In digging a well for the Wilson creamery, Alf. Krape had a bit come off and stick in the hole. He fished nearly two weeks for the tool, which was down about one hundred feet, and finally landed it on top last week. The well runs a good strong stream but the water is polluted by apple pumice, and it is the intention to cut off the stream from the pumice source.

Worthy of Imitation.

There are to be no docked horses in Colorado. A law has been passed making it unlawful to import any horses with docked tails, as well as illegal for a horse owner to so mutilate any animal he owns. A fine of not less than $100, or thirty days' imprisonment, is the penalty.

Don't Hunt on Sunday.

The hunting season does not open until October 15th, rather the 16th, as the 15th comes on Sunday, and you are liable to a heavy fine if you go hunting on that day. It is the duty of any one who knows of game law violations to report the same to a constable and have a return made.

Wagging Their Heads.

The recent heavy frosts have given an early golden color to the mountain tree tops. The old men are wagging their heads and predicting a hard, cold winter. When the leaves turn from green to gold so early, they say, a hard winter is sure to follow.

Another Sale of Mule Colts.

H. Pfaltzgraf, who last week had a public sale of horse and mule colts at the Centre Hall hotel, has decided to offer another car load of colts at this market. He expects to arrive in about a week or ten days and give the people in the valley another opportunity of buying fine Kentucky stock at low prices. The date of the sale will be announced in a few days, and those in need of bargains in young stock will do well to watch for the announcement made by posters. There will be a few horse colts among this lot coming.

Died in Altoona.

George A. Herring, son of Mr. James P. Herring, died at his home at Altoona on Sunday morning, from consumption. He was aged about twenty-three years and was employed on the staff of the Altoona Gazette. At the outbreak of the war with Spain he enlisted in Co. D 5th Regiment, and at Chickamauga he contracted the disease which terminated in his death. He was a popular young man and was a frequent visitor to Centre Hall, where he had hosts of friends who were sorry to hear of his demise.

Labor Troubles.

Centre Hall had its share of infant labor troubles on Monday when a number of boys and girls went on a strike for higher wages at the evaporator plant. The boys asked for an increase from 50 to 75 cents and the girls wanted an increase of 10 cents to 50 cents for a day's work of ten hours. The strikers would not go to work and the management hired other hands to take their places.

Champion Corn Cutters

The champion corn cutters of Kelly township are the venerable Henry Eisenbauer, aged 80, and his wife, of 65 years, who assisted by their servant girl and Harry Baker in two days cut nine acres of corn. The old gentleman tied all of the corn on shocks and helped along with the cutting. Taking the age of the two old people into consideration and the amount of work done they have a record hard to beat. —Lewisburg Journal.

Shipped to Germany.

The amount of walnut timber shipped from this section during the last few years, would leave one under the impression that little was left standing. However there was much left on the stump, for almost one hundred thousand feet was bought the last summer right around here. The timber goes to Hamburg, Germany. The large logs are shipped without cutting, while the smaller timber is cut at Colyer's mill. The timber goes by rail to Baltimore and Philadelphia ports, thence across the pond.

Their Season.

The apple evaporator plant is now working in the midst of their busy season, and they are turning out a large quantity of the finished product every day. About twelve hands are employed and the work will continue for several weeks yet. The proprietor, Chas. H. Miner, of Rose, N. Y., superintends the entire process. Apples are shipped from all parts of the county, the upper end furnishing the most.

Hunting Season.

The legal season for most Pennsylvania game opens on the 15th of this month, when quail, partridge, pheasants, wild turkey, woodcock, and squirrel may be killed until December 15th. Rabbits and deer do not come in until November 1st.

None Better.

This town is a good location for almost any ordinary enterprise. Persons desiring to go into manufacturing business, should come here and look around. Centre Hall has facilities and advantages far above many other villages. Come and see.

Coal Prospects.

Interest in the supposed coal on the farm of the John Emerick estate, three miles east of here, is reviving, an expert's examination, recently, tended to give assurances of coal being there, the gentleman offering to take the risk of developing the coal.

Mustered Out.

Eight Selingsgrove Children Bitten by a Mad Dog.

Eight children and several adults in Selingsgrove were bitten last week by a dog, which it had just been discovered on Saturday, was afflicted with hydrophobia, and Sunday night an anxious party of those who felt the animal's teeth set out for the Pasteur Institute, New York, for treatment. About five weeks ago a canine having symptoms of hydrophobia bit several dogs, among them one owned by Dr. Potteiger, a veterinary surgeon. After several weeks, as Dr. Potteiger's dog showed no unfavorable signs, the Doctor's and neighbors' children were allowed to play with it. During the past week at least seven of the children and the Doctor himself were bitten. When the dog acted strangely on Saturday, the Doctor took him to New York and a telegram received Sunday evening states that the experts said the dog had hydrophobia in its worst form. The Doctor's wife and children, accompanied by the neighbors' children, left at once for New York, where they will undergo treatment.

General Weighing of all the Mail.

For the first time in more than twenty years the postoffice department has ordered a general weighing of the mail passing through all the offices between October 3 and November 6. The department at Washington has been arranging for this general weigh-up and preparing blanks, circulars, etc., for some time. At the end of 35 days reports from all of the postoffices in the country will be forwarded to Washington. During the periods since the last weighing of the mails by the government the railroad companies and other carriers have weighed the mails themselves. The department could only estimate their weight and the government may have been overcharged.

A Good Word for Miller.

Since the arrest of postmaster W. G. Miller, of Rebersburg, a thorough investigation has been made by the friends of Mr. Miller, and they say there has developed very good ground for the belief that the proceedings were brought about by the enemies of Mr. Miller for the purpose of blackmailing him. Persons in the community where he lives are enthusiastic in their praise of his honesty and integrity.

Purchased a Hotel.

The sale of the Hotel Vermilyea, at Gaines, and other property connected with the hotel, including the water works, was consummated in Wellsboro Tuesday of last week. The purchaser was H. E. Shadle, of Williamsport, says the Sun, and it is said the consideration was $16,000. Mr. Shadle takes possession of the property to-day, Thursday.

Mr. Shadle is a son-in-law of John Bitner, of near Centre Hall.

Another Pastor Resigns.

Rev. F. F. Christine, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has resigned from the charge, which information is a source of general surprise in the community. This action was taken at the meeting of the Huntingdon Presbytery at Bellefonte, Pa., and few in the community were aware that the Reverend contemplated such a course. The resignation was accepted by the Presbytery, to take effect about February 1st, next.

More Smallpox.

Smallpox has broken out in Punxsutawney. The fourteen-year-old daughter of William Stuthers was taken to the hospital, supposed to be ill with typhoid fever, but the ailment developed into smallpox. In Bell township, Jefferson County, five members of one family are ill with smallpox.
