burg Post, finding excuses and apologies for Colonel Barnett, says that he was "fearless," which is disputed by his late command, and "that while he cannot be said to have distinguished himself he made a first-rate record as an efficient officer." Then how does it come that the lamented Colonel Hawkins on his death bed said that one thing that made him regret dying was that "Barnett "was unfit to command the regiment !" This is not idle gossip, but is vouched for by an officer of Company H, of Washington, Pa., whose authorized statement is as fol-

WERE CHEATED.

The great and alluring promise was made to the farmer in the last presidential campaign that prosperity was to be his lot if McKinley was elected in that they would receive a high price for wheat and all other grain. It was a vote-catching promise unfulfilled and will remain as a lie. Here is the proof, McKinley having served threefourths of his term, the farmer's grain was not affected a continental, as yet, see the low figures:

Wheat remains down to 60a65. Corn down at 35.

Oats down at 18a20.

Now what of the promise that Mc-Kinley would put these prices away up? But, the Trusts, on the other hand, created under Republican rule, have put up the prices on all the farmer must buy, making his condition all the more burdensome, namly,

His implements are higher. His stoves are higher. His nails are double in price. His tools much higher. All his hardware higher. His clothing much higher. His coal and coal oil higher. And we can enumerate scores of oths er articles on which the price has been put up on the farmer. Prosperity has been brought to the Trusts and poverty to the farmer.
