When the several members were gathered in the parlors of the Arlington, Miss Charlotte Smith made an informal statement to the effect that the women's organization, which is credited with starting the home fund project, desired that so extensive and important an undertaking should be placed in the hands of experienced and responsible business men, and the league would be satisfied with lending all its efforts to furthering the object of the fund board. An autograph album was exhibited by Miss Smith which had been approved by Admiral Schley as a medium through which subscriptions should be solicited. Inside the cover it bears notice to the public that its pages are for the autographs of all who shall contribute the sum of $1 or more to the Schley Home Fund. It is designed to place these albums in the principal hotels, the Masonic lodge rooms and the great clubs of the country where subscriptions may be received, and the subscribers may place their autographs in the albums When a sufficient sum has been obtained for frame building at the corner of Brooklyn and the objects of the fund, these albums will be returned to Washington and placed in the June 9th. BOERS' BIG VICTORY. The British Forces Led Into a Gigantic Trap.

DEAD AND WOUNDED.

Repetition of Msjubs Hill Disaster-The Royal Irish Fusileers, a Mountain Battery and the Gloucestershire Regiment, After Suffering Heavy Losses in Killed and Wounded, Surrender.

London, (By Cable:)-General Joubert commander-in-chief of the Boer army, has ompletely outgeneraled General White, ommander of the British forces in Natal, and inflicted a crushing blow upon the British at Ladysmith. History repeats itself, and the disaster which has overtaken the British is a repetition of Majuba Hill, with a view to protecting the left flank of his forces, the Royal Irish Fusileers, a mountain battery and the Gloucestershire Regiment was surrounded by the Boers. They fought desperately, a large number were killed and wounded, and forty-two officers and all the rest of the force of 1,500 to 2,000 nen were taken prisoners.

The disaster also cost the British six seven-pound guns, which will be of great help to the Boers in field operations.

It is reported that the Boers also lost heavily, some estimates placing their loss at over nine hundred in killed and wounded, but these reports are not confirmed. General Joubert continued to press the advantage he had gained. There was fierce lighting at Umbanene, a few miles from Ladysmith, and several shells crashed into the town, setting houses on fire. The Boers reoccupied the old position held by their heavy artillery, which General White reported as having been silenced by the guns of the naval brigade from the Powerful. The bombardment of the town and the steady, strong advance of the Boer forces, numbering over 16,000, will likely force General White to evacuate and retreat, and it is feared that even overwhelming defeat and ruin may befall the entire British army in Natal. Censored despatches from Ladysmith report that the Boers are closing in, and that the situation is one of grave anxiety. One despatch says:

"Beyond doubt the Boer retirement was a ruse to draw General White into the hilly country and away from the British camp." This last sentence is significant, and con-firms the opinion of military experts here that General White is allowing himself to be outgeneraled by Commandant General Joubert,

From the scanty advices received it appears that the two regiments were allowed to march into a trap set for them by the Boers. It is simply a case of the Boerspider and the guileless British fly. In fact, the whole engagement of Monday seems to have been brought on by Commandant General Joubert, who skilfully conceived a gigantic trap, out of which, as the official despatch shows, Sir George White only escaped with difficulty.

General White advanced with the idea of driving the Boers from the hill seven miles out, which General Joubert made an ostenTHREE DEAD.

Collapse of a Big Building in Chicago-The Cause is a Mystery.

Chicago, (Special.)-Three men are known to have perished and three others are miss ing, as the result of the collapse of a sixstory building at 139 and 141 West Lake street. Considerable damage was done to adjoining property, and during the excitement it was reported that as many as forty lives had been lost. About $200,000 damage was done. The dead:

Man Who Undersold Government Charged With Robbing Postoffice-Masked Rob. bers Hold Up Mrs. Stutzman in Her Home at Lebanon -- Farmers' Wagon Struck by a Train at a Grade Crossing.

While returning from a Sunday wedding in Old Forge at 7 o'clock in the evening, Angelo Pelozi, of Moosic, shot and killed his boarder, Antonio Spinello. The affair occurred in the road between the two towns. and the only witness of the shooting, Genero Passero, had started on a chase for the fugitive murderer before the police arrived Those who talked with Passero say he told them that Pelozi turned and shot the boarder without any provocation, sending four builets into his body. Passero said he did not know what caused the deed. The supposition is that he bore him some grudge or other and that his rage was suddenly aroused by a chance word in their conversation. The alleged murderer is still at large.

Stamp Bargains Led to Arrest.

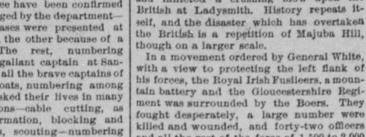

C. J. Connelly was arrested in Wilkes-Barre by United States Marshal Lowry, on suspicion of having robbed a postoffice. It is alleged that Connelly in several towns sold large numbers of stamps at ninety cents for a dollar's worth. The fact that he was discounting the price of Uncle Sam proved to be his downfall, although while the sale went on he did a regular land office business. The selling of the stamps in large quantities aroused suspicion and Marshal Lowry was notified. He traced Connelly to Wilkes-Darre and in an hour's time, Connelly was under arrest. When searched about $40 worth of stamps was found on the man's person. They ranged in value from one cent to 15 cents, the smaller denominations predominating. To Lowry, Connelly said he had purchased the stamps in New York. When given a hearing before Commissioner Habn, he was remanded for further investigation.

Masked Robbers Got $100.

Two masked men ransacked the home of Milton Stutzman, at Second and Guliford streets, Lebanon, and secured almost $100. The burglars waited until Stutzman left the house, before daylight, to go to work, and then forced an entrance. At pistol's point they held up Mrs. Stutzman, and prevented her from giving an alarm. They then searched the house for the money which they declared they knew to be there, and finally found it, successfully making their escape.

CRIME CONFESSED.

After Professing Conversion, a Man Says He Burned His Property.

York, Pa., (Special.)-Adam H. Keener, aged thirty-one years, residing on West College avenue, during a revival service at the Beaber Street Methodist Episcopal Church, after having professed conversion, made a remarkable confession. He stated that he had made two attempts to burn his double Allison streets. The first attempt was made July 3 he again fired the buildings and destroyed them, in order to secure the insurance, which was $1,100, of which $550 was in the Ben Franklin Company and $550 in the Erie of Buffalo. He secured the money. He now says, after being blessed, that he was ready to give himself up to the authorities, and, if possible, return the money. He says that he did not want to burn the buildings, but something came over him that forced him to do so. He says he tried to hang himself on two or three occasions in the garret of his house previous to the burning of the buildings, but something prevented him each time. The church was crowded to the doors, and his confessior created a sensation.

The Boer commander left a force sufficient to draw General White on, while the mass of the Boers he moved stealthily round the British right, to deliver a flank attack and to endeavor to cut off General White from Ladysmith. The British commander sucseeded in beating off the attack, but only with great difficulty, and during the turning movement his troops suffered from a flanking fire.

Harsh things are said in military circles of the British tactics, which have made possible the ambush of the Eighteenth Hussars at Glencoe, and now the loss of two fine regiments. It is feared that Sir George White is no match for the Boers in that cunning by which Boer tactics are conceived, and it is pointed out that if the British commanders continue to lead their men in obvious traps, further disasters must be looked for.
