ASSEMBLY.

We are authorized to announce that J. W. Kepler, of Ferguson township, will be a candidate for Assembly, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

We are authorized to announce that J. H. Wetzel, of Bellefonte, will be a candidate for Assembly, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

We are authorized to announce that Robert M. Foster, of State College, will be a candidate for Assembly, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

We are authorized to announce that John W. Conley, of Potter township, will be a candidate for Assembly, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

Harry K. Wilson, of Clarion, is the Republican presidential elector for this the 18th district.

Stone is preparing a white-wash for the oleo officials under him. But the "I cent a pound" stuff won't hold on to it.

Pure butter is a good thing, but the margin of 1 cent a pound taken on oleo by the fellows in Hamilton's department is found better yet.

Two-thirds of the Republican journals, we mention it to their credit, approve of the rejection of Quay on the Stone certificate.

General Roberts had stretched a net to capture the Boer army, but when he drew it in it turned out a water-haul—the Boer army wasn't there any more.

A can of trout fry sent from a hatchery contained a trout that had two perfectly formed heads. The interpretation hereof is a pointer to the two faction heads of the Republican party, both going for the bait.

When the machine delegates at Harrisburg heard that Mr. Quay had been admitted to the United States Senate says the Record, there were no bounds to their exultation, but when they heard the correct news their grief was uncontrollable. The discouraging thing about the affair is that in neither their joy nor their sorrow was the slightest account taken of the merits of the question.

The defeat of Quay for a seat in the Senate, is generally approved throughout the country, the exception being the crowd that roost where boodie is in sight. The Republican party feels that a weight has been removed from its shoulders and honest men are breathing a sigh of relief. Quayism has been a disgrace to the state, and the sooner its pernicious disciples are stamped out the better it will be for good government.

The discussion of Mr. Quay's right to a seat in the Senate with the ugly developments of bribery in the Clark case from Montana have given greater strength to the proposition to elect senators by the people in accordance with the constitutional amendment that recently passed the House by an immense majority and is now pending in the Senate with little prospect of its being seriously considered.

Under an act of Assembly, parties to a suit in law may waive the right to a jury and agree to try the controversy before a judge of the court. A case of the kind was heard last week by Judge Weand, of Montgomery county.

The fellows that prate loudest for improvements in their neighborhood become quiet as soon as you present a subscription paper for their name to aid something for the public benefit.

We have here a plain proof of tricking the farmer by boss rule. The department of agriculture, ostensibly created to benefit and protect the farmer, has been just the opposite and the pure food branch of it has been detected working in the interest of the fraudulent oleo dealers instead of protecting the pure butter interest which was the special duty of these machine henchmen and servants of the oleo trust.

Here you have them: Stone's appointees, a half a score of them, are drawing fat salaries to protect the pure butter interest of the farmer; then they step across to the oleo dealer and accept a cent a pound for protecting him as against the farmer!

The vote on the Quay contest affords matter for speculation. While it would be unfair to say that all who voted for him did so on personal grounds, yet it is a fact that 12 of the 32 votes in his favor came from senators who two years ago voted against seating Corbett on precisely the same state of facts.

Three senators, including Hanna, who voted to seat Corbett, voted against Quay. The Quayites are especially indignant at Hanna, and credit it to Hanna's desire to punish Quay for putting himself up as a presidential candidate four years ago.

It showed his independence of personal considerations, and is highly to his credit. He and Quay are close friends, but as Mr. Vest voted to exclude Corbett, he could not conscientiously vote to seat Quay, on the same state of facts.

Parson Swallow, of Harrisburg, sent Quay a brotherly letter on his defeat, as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Quay and Brother:—I still have your letter of five years ago declining my advice given you, in view of your religious antecedents, elements of captaincy and our need of such men, to get converted and join the Prohibitionists. Better have done it."

"You got into bad company. Hanna, McKinley, the army canteen, Beer Brewer Cox, Distiller Greenbut and shooting the heathen! You looked worse than some of the others because you are no hypocrite. However, you were bad enough to Stone, but not bad enough to kill, nor good enough to die."

Now, while on your marrow-bones under the sackcloth get converted in the good old Methodist way. Your Calvinistic perseverance, joined with Armenian energy, would make a good combination for service, as I well know by experience. Then come over to the Prohibitionists, body, soul and substance, and we will canonize you. We will in very deed make a saint of you. Your kindly,

In Washington the other day an office boy in a factory swallowed a $5 good piece, his pay for a week. A doctor gave him an emetic and succeeded in raising the boy's salary.

Our town, says the Texas Ledger, elects noodles and no-accounts to office too often for the good and credit of the town, and that accounts for things going wrong and money being spent uselessly.

This week, Friday, May 4th, we expect to have our new back-grounds. Our sky-light has been carefully curtained, gallery newly papered and painted, and we are in shape to make you as fine work as can be made.
