Luse Reunion.
The Luse family is holding a reunion today (Thursday) in Grange Park. The family is a prominent one in the county, and the gathering is large.

The Sick.
Mrs. Samuel Shoop is gradually growing weaker from consumption, and her recovery is very unlikely. W. L. Kurtz's condition has not improved since last week.

Burglars at Philipsburg.
Saturday night burglars with dynamite blew open the safe of the Atlantic Refining Company, in their office at Philipsburg, and secured money running into the hundreds. The burglars escaped.

Millin County Needed Rain.
Owing to the scarcity of water several large works depending on this kind of motive power were run on half time at Reedsville and vicinity. Farmers had to haul water several miles for household use, and in some instances stock is driven four miles to procure water.

Centre Hall Horse Market.
G. W. Farree, of Kentucky, shipped a car of horse and mule colts to this place Tuesday and is offering them at private sale. The stock is at present at the hotel stables, where they can be examined. W. H. Runkle, Jr., of the Centre Hall hotel, is making a desperate effort to establish a permanent horse market at his stables, and it looks much as though he would succeed.

Lumber Operations.
A correspondent from East end writes to the Lewistown Gazette that the Reichly Bros., the extensive prop dealers in that section for several years past are finishing up their big timber job on Beatty's knob and have purchased an immense tract in Centre county to be operated by about twenty miles of tram road. Their shipping point will be Poe Mills. It is said they have refused a fabulous margin on their purchase.

Fire at Snow Shoe.
The Snow Shoe Coal company suffered a heavy loss from fire, at Snow Shoe, last week. The fire ate up two double houses, three single dwellings and the tippie of the Snow Shoe Mining company. All the houses were occupied by Hungarian families, whose furniture was entirely destroyed, as was also the clothing of most of them. It is estimated that the loss to the company will aggregate about $7,000. It was partially covered by insurance.

New Advertisements.
Among the new advertisements in this issue of the Reporter will be found executor's sale of real estate of George P. Bearick, in Georges valley, September 1, by the executors W. O. and D. H. Bearick. Application for a charter by representative citizens of Coburn to supply Coburn with water. Application of A. L. Armstrong for the tavern license of Isaac Shawver, at Old Fort Hotel. Montgomery & Co's advertisement is always fresh; ditto Gable & Co's, advertisement of Altoona, together with a number of home advertisements that bring business to the firms they represent.

POST OFFICE ROBBED.

Looters Get $250 in Stamps. $50 Cash.

SAFE DOOR BLOWN OFF.

Escape with Their Booty Without Being Detected.

The Centre Hall postoffice safe was looted Thursday morning and about $300.00 in cash and stamps stolen. Entrance was gained the office by first breaking the glass in the front door and prying off the lock. Once inside the work seemed comparatively easy for the looter. A three-eighths inch hole was bored into the safe door to the left of the knob, some explosive inserted and fired. The work was complete, the door being blown entirely loose from the safe. The papers in the safe were then taken into Postmaster Capt. George M. Boal's private office in the rear of the postoffice proper for examination. Nothing, however, was disturbed beyond being strewn over the floor. Captain Boal had one package of papers containing notes, bonds, mortgages, etc., amounting to over $22,000 for the Sparr estate, but these were all safe.

Including the cash and stamps taken, Miss Flora Love, a compositor in this office, had given Postmaster Boal an envelope containing $20.00 for safe keeping. Although the examination of the safe's contents seemed to be a hurried one, this envelope was not missed. The envelope had Miss Love's name and the amount written on it, which at once indicated that the package was valuable.

Twenty-five dollars belonging to the Presbyterian church had also been placed in the safe for safe keeping and is missing.

A large sledge, brace, chisels, and monkey wrench were stolen from the foundry for use in case of emergency. F. M. Crawford, who lives next door to the postoffice, was first to discover that a robbery had been committed. A log had been set against the postoffice building under a window opening into his lot, which led him to investigate, and after finding the condition of affairs informed the Captain while at his home four blocks away.

Several tramps were noticed about town during Wednesday and it is supposed the safe looters paraded under the garb of this fraternity to make observations.

W. H. Kreamer's heard the explosion, but paid no further attention to it.

Consul Shaw Not Dead.
Word has been received that Consul Shaw is not dead as all the papers stated last week. Every body is glad, however, and so will not say, pshaw!

Died from the Effects of an Operation.
Mrs. Margery Potter, of Fleming, died in the hospital at Lock Haven on Wednesday of last week. She underwent an operation for the removal of a large fibroid tumor of many years' growth. Uremic poison set in and this caused her death.

Spring Mills Party Visits the Cave.
A party of ladies and gentlemen of Spring Mills, organized a picnic Friday last, in honor of several guests who were there visiting relatives and friends. The carriage with their occupants left for Penns Cave about nine o'clock, everything having been arranged for the comfort and convenience of the party. The morning hours were consumed in amusements, and at noon a dinner was served "fit for the gods," to which all did more than ample justice. In the afternoon the cave was entered and its beautiful formations much admired by the visitors. Drives, games, etc., completed the days' outing. At a seasonable hour all returned to their homes regretting the picnic was at an end.

PERMANENT MUSIC SCHOOL.

Prof. C. E. Zeigler Casting About for a Location for Such an Institution.
Prof. C. E. Zeigler, of Penn Hall, who has been conducting a Musical Normal in Centre Hall for the past few weeks and which is in progress at present, is casting about to secure a suitable location to open a permanent music school. Several towns in the county have offered Prof. Zeigler inducements of a substantial nature, and if this school is to remain here as a permanent thing, the citizens should throw out all possible encouragement.

The Normal music school which is now in progress here under the direction of Prof. Zeigler is proving to be a grand success, from the fact that our young people are under the best of training every day, which is quite different from the accustomed one week convention.

His services in this place prove his ability as a musical instructor. Unquestionably he is up to date in his work and has served the people here as a private teacher for the last seven years with the best of results, hence every exertion should be made by the citizens of the town to capture the location of this permanent music school. Such a service is only half the expense of private lessons, and the return in increased knowledge of music among the children and young people throughout the community is incalculable.

Public and private musical entertainments are of constant occurrence. In these children, young ladies and gentlemen take part, but are always more or less a source of annoyance when numerous and oft recurring rehearsals are necessary in order to acquire the necessary knowledge. Now stop and think of the immense amount of time saved to the participants, worry and disgust to the parent, and expense, patience and valuable time to leaders, were these young people competent to learn their music themselves as they do their recitations and other exercises. No worse drawback confronts the vocalist than the fact that a knowledge of notation is first to be acquired. All this could be avoided by attending an institution of the character that will be conducted by Prof. Zeigler, and every effort should be made to secure it.
