One of the papers published at the home of Mark Hanna says the talk about that gentleman for the Presidency in 1904 is nothing less than a formal announcement that he will be a candidate for the nomination. Among the banners which greeted Colonel Roosevelt on his return to his duties as Governor of New York, after having bouquets and other things thrown at him out West, were some which bore the inscription, "Roosevelt for President in 1904." If it really comes to a fight for the honor between these two men we may expect to see the fur fly in earnest.
