to J. W. Runkle. After much dickering the Centre Hall hotel was sold to James W.

Runkle, of Middleburg, Pa., who will take charge of the business on February 1. The deal includes only the real estate, the furniture will be offered at WE'VE made our mark in the public sale by the present landlord, W.

H. Runkle, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Runkle Tuesday morning started for York, where, if his intentions expressed some time ago to the writer are carried out, they will buy a hotel, with which are conneeted stock yards, and take charge of the same as soon as their time expires here.

James W. Runkle, the new landord, is well known to Centre county people. For some years he lived on the Foster farm east of Centre Hall, and devoted considerable time to buying cattle, covering every foot within the county. Mr. Runkle will no doubt make a success of hotel keeping. The stand is an excellent one, and has always heretofore proven a mint to its wner.

CALITHUMPIANS AT SPRING MILLS.

Nearly Break Through the Floor of the Bride and Groom's House.

Thursday evening of last week the alithumpians serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Jacob D. Breon, of Spring Mills, in the pest of style, and though the music vas none too pleasing to the ear, the groom and his bride, nee Louise A. Ream, invited the good natured band into the house. They entered with a rush, and almost instantly completely filled the lower story of the dwelling. The weight and commotion of the guests proved too much for the joists, and two of the timbers gave way. The erenaders took in the situation at once and the exit was fully as speedy as the ogress, which no doubt saved a catastrophy.

Refurnishing Hall.

The Odd Fellows in Boalsburg are refurnishing their hall. The furniture selected is beautiful and when arranged the Boalsburg hall will be one of the prettiest and cosiest meeting places to oe wished for.

Penn Roller Mills for Sale.

the writer omitted to mention the Mills, will or offered at public sale on and of the church of Spring Mills.

In 1888 the Presbyterians began the erection of a house of worship in Centre Hall. When completed the building cost, including the lot, about $5300. It is a neat, convenient house, well adapted to the needs of the congregation. The congregation not being large in numbers found their energy and resources heavily taxed in this effort; but they had scarcely gotten through this struggle till the need of a Mause became imperative. The Manse was begun in 1898. It is a commodious, well arranged, substantial house, frame encased with brick, and was erected at a cost of about $1700. This is exclusive of lot and inclusive of stable, neither is donated labor counted. When the present pastor, Rev. W. H. Schuyler was installed last May there was a debt on church and Manse of about $1000.

The proceeds of the sale of the congregation's former house of worship at Centre Hill paid the debt on the church and left a small sum to be applied to their large increase of business during worth the reduction of the Manse debt. Last Sunday, January 6th, there was needed about $700 to pay off all indebtedness. The pastor, elders, and trustees had matured a plan which was presented to the congregation on the first Sunday of the new century of the new year. The congregation endorsed the plan by subscribing $611. Since $64.00 have been added, and it is confidently expected that the whole amount will be subscribed during the month if not before the end of this week.

The Presbyterians in the U.S., as do some of the other denominations. propose to raise a Twentieth Century Fand in recognition of the Lord's favor to the church and to extend the kingdom. One of the objects to which the proceeds will be devoted is the payment of church debts. This contribution of the Sinking Creek Presbyterian church will form a part of this special fund.
