There was something of a fight over the bill abolishing fees for District Attorneys and in lieu of which a certain salary is fixed in all counties whose population does not exceed 150,000. The salaries are graded all the way from $500 in counties whose population does not exceed 10,000 up to $4000 in counties whose population is 150,-000. Centre County, with a population of 42,894, would pay its district attorneys a salary of $1000.
