OF RARE VOLUMES. Man—would you make an astounding book—Which with downright charm were sure to draw? Oh, let the world on this title look—"Love Letters to My Mother-in-Law."—Chicago Record-Herald.

BEYOND A WHISPER. "It is a great drawback to be getting deaf." "Yes, it is; people quit telling you secrets."

BUSINESSLIKE. Daughter—Must love letters be answered, papa? Father (busy with his books)—Only when return stamps are inclosed.

A CRUSHING OUTCOME. "Joe, have you ever experienced a heartfelt disappointment?" "Yes; I once tried to dye this old red mustach brown, and it turned green."—Detroit Free Press.

THE LAW. Prisoner—It's difficult to see how I can be a forger, your lordship. Why, I can't sign my own name! Judge—You are not charged with signing your own name.—Tit-Bits.

WORSE. Cholly—They're saying that the vallet whom you discharged yesterday used some plain language to you. Fwedy—Plain? Bow Jove, it was positively ugly!—Chicago Tribune.

SUCCESS. "Why do they speak of the secret of success?" "Just a form of speech." "Because, as a matter of fact, there's no secret about it. Success always tells."—Philadelphia Times.

SAFELY AMATEURISH. Barbara—Blanche, what is a dilettante? Blanche—Oh, a dilettante is a person who doesn't know enough about any one art to be a bore.—Chicago Record-Herald.

INGRATITUDE. "No, I won't give you a piece of my apple," snapped his sister. "And who was it," the boy inquired reproachfully, "that spoiled the piano so you didn't have to practice for a week?"—Philadelphia Times.

NATIONAL ANTI-PATHIES. Young Dr. Smith—A patient got very angry the other day because I advised him to take a Turkish bath. Mrs. Dr. Smith—I don't see why anybody should get mad about that. Young Dr. Smith—Well, this fellow was a Greek.—Judge.

PATHETIC CASE. "Dabney stayed away from Miss Jipp's wedding from grief, didn't he? You know she jilted him." "He let the impression get out that it was grief, but he told me it was because he couldn't borrow a dress suit."—Chicago Record.

NOT A LAWYER'S WITNESS. Client—Well, did I make a good witness? Lawyer—Yes; between you and that stupid jury you took some pounds out of my pocket. Client—Why, I won the case, didn't I? Lawyer—That's just the point; I wanted a chance to appeal.—Tit-Bits.

EXPLAINED. "There is a remarkable child," said the visitor at the school. "Wonderful determination. He is the only child I ever saw who kept his eyes on his books when the fire engines were passing." "Yes," answered the teacher. "The poor little fellow is quite hard of hearing."—Washington Star.

THE BEST PRESERVER. Customer—I want to get something that will preserve wood. New Clerk—Yes, sir, here's just the thing you want. Customer—Nonsense! That's a padlock. New Clerk—Yes, sir. Put that on your woodshed door and no thief will ever get in.—Philadelphia Press.

LONG SUFFERING. McJigger—What do you think of Jigley marrying that girl who stutters so? Thingumbob—He's in luck. She certainly won't be able to outtalk him. McJigger—Nonsense! They say she's very determined. Just imagine how frightfully long it will take her to give him a piece of her mind.—Philadelphia Press.

SOME ONE BLUNDERED. Jack's father and mother were having a very heated discussion at the table one day. They entirely forgot him, and, as the argument waxed hotter, he looked from one to the other with real concern on his chubby face. Presently, during a lull, he cleared the air by asking, pointedly: "Papa, did you marry Inanna, or did mamma marry you?"—Brooklyn Life.

In 129 workhouses of England and Wales are 2,784 inmates who have lived under George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria and the present King. Indigency seems a fairly healthful condition in Britain.

The Latest Happenings Gleaned From All Over the State.

GOVERNOR STONE SIGNS MANY BILLS. Report of Banking Commissioner Reeder—Cumberland County Farmer Dies of Wounds Inflicted by Himself—Help Was Scarce and He Shot Himself—Miner Crushed to Death at Keyley Run Colliery—Other Live News.

Governor Stone has signed the following bills: Establishing a separate Orphan's Court for Montgomery County. Repealing the act to change the time for holding the borough and township elections in Clearfield county, and to fix the compensation of election officers therein. Validating official acts done and performed by burgesses holding offices under irregular elections or appointments.

The report of Banking Commissioner Reeder, just made public, shows a most encouraging condition of the banks of the State. The total number of banks, trust companies and savings institutions under the supervision of the department is 228, an increase of twenty-six since the last annual report. The aggregate capital of these institutions is $50,567,195, an increase of $5,450,577.50, as compared with last year. The other totals are as follows: Surplus, $36,209,727.79; profits, $7,613,869.54; undivided profits, $17,004,901.63; decrease, $958,357.29; deposits, $355,477,432.49; increase of $30,596,796.65; cash on hand and due from banks and bankers, $57,395,801.33; increase of $4,974,916.98; loans, $103,491,558.41; increase of $5,218,985.79; investment securities, $213,929,735.15; increase of $22,664,256.12; trust funds invested, $13,150,661.60; loans to directors of banks have decreased from $3,555,791.52 in 1902 to $1,775,646.11 last year. The average deposits of each depositor in all institutions was $490.79.

John A. Weaver, of Kutztown, has instituted a suit in trespass against the Philadelphia and Reading Railway and Welsh Bros., circus proprietors, to recover damages for injuries received through the alleged joint negligence of the defendants. On September 21 Mr. Weaver, while a passenger on a Reading train, was sitting at the window with his arm on the sill, when the engineer suddenly applied the air brakes, the jar throwing Weaver forward. At the same time the door of a circus car on the next track swung outward, its wooden clamp striking Weaver's elbow, and crushing his arm so badly that it had to be amputated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stomel, of Swarthmore, had a narrow escape from burning to death. About 2 o'clock flames were observed issuing from the kitchen of their residence. The building being frame the flames quickly spread, and in a short time the whole lower floor was ablaze. After great difficulty the occupants of the house were aroused, but the flames had progressed so far that they had to make their escape out the second-story window. The fire company of Swarthmore, Morton and Rutledge responded to the alarm. The loss on the building and contents, both of which were destroyed, is said to be about $5000.

Raymond Palmer, of Wilkesbarre, who bought George Rosengrant's wife for $10 a short time ago, has loaned the lady to her former spouse just for a few days that he may transact some legal business. Palmer and his purchased wife live at South Mountain and Rosengrant at Forkston, where he has a little property. He is selling this and requires his wife's signatures to the deeds. At the time Mrs. Rosengrant assumed another name Rosengrant presented the happy couple with a pig for which he paid nearly all the $10 he had made by the transaction.

Dr. M. C. Welsh, of the Philadelphia Municipal Hospital, and an authority on contagious diseases, was called to Lebanon and pronounced a large number of supposed cases of chicken pox as genuine small pox. Five people in the home of A. Shively have the disease. Infected children have intermingled without attempt at quarantine regulations, and as a result the disease has spread to unknown limits.

Hiram Snyder, a farmer, of Big Bend, who had been missing young lambs for some time, set a trap over a dead sheep. Next morning he found a large gray eagle caught fast by one foot. The bird put up a fierce fight, scratching and biting Snyder in the face, hands and legs before he finally subdued it. It measured seven feet and six inches from tip to tip.

Mrs. Daniel Shovin, while feeding chickens at Edgewood Park, was attacked by a hawk measuring almost four feet from wing to wing. She was in danger of having her eyes picked out when her husband, armed with a club came to the rescue. The bird attacked him, but was killed by a blow on the head.

A fire which promised great loss to life and property broke out in the Spackman block, Coatesville, but fortunately all the occupants of the building were rescued. The loss by fire was about $5000.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

General Trade Conditions. New York (Special).—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "The greatest activity ever seen in Wall street divers attention in a measure from progress in distributing and manufacturing operations. But while on every hand stock market interests are concentrating caution and attempting to prove that prices are really more than conditions of some of our railroads warrant, the fact remains that, without a brilliant crop outlook and a great activity of general trade, Wall street could hold no such position."

"Labor difficulties for several years less threatening than for a few years before in the first week of May, and prices of merchandise hold well. "Stability of prices and vigorous prosecutions of work at mills indicate the wholesome condition of the iron and steel markets. Throughout the entire range of products of this industry the current demand for immediate delivery exceeds all previous records, yet makers maintain a conservative position and prices are not pushed up to the danger point. "Further advances were secured in the cereal market. Chicago speculators being forced to cover May corn contracts at 55 cents. Attractive prices brought more liberal receipts at interior cities and also stimulated operations on the farm. Wheat also attained a high point, advancing in sympathy with corn. "The marvelously healthy condition of business is best appreciated when it is discovered that the defaults in last month were the smallest in ninety-one months, with the exception of May to August 1899, inclusive. In manufacturing lines there were but 163 failures, with a total indebtedness of $1,997,694, against 178 last year for $4,514,923. As 1899 reported the smallest liabilities of any full year for two decades, last month's good showing is made manifest by default in manufacturing concerns, $777,965 smaller than two years ago. Trading failures were 555 for $3,168,823 and banking defaults were $520,000."
