Lightning Tore Her Shoe Off.

Lightning played a singular prank at the residence of John Bonnell, at Jersey Shore Saturday. A bolt struck the chimney of the house, and, coming down the kitchen flue, tore Mrs. Bonnell's shoe from her right foot and hurled it across the room. Aside riom a slight shock, she was uninjured.

Will Not Accept.

Prof. E. M. Brungart, of Rebersburg, who was recently elected superintendent and Mrs. Brungart matron of the Orphans' Home at Sunbury have declined to accept the positions. Prof. Brungart holds a very good position as principal of the Crossfork High School, and concludes that the chances or advancement are better in Potter bunty than they would be from the odd Fellows institution.

Compliments C. P. Long.

The Reporter's Spring Mills correspondent compliments C. P. Long by saying that he is erecting another private residence on the avenue, and will soon have two or three more dwelling houses on the way, and thinks if they had a dozen more men with the enterprise and business energy of Mr. Long, Spring Mills would be a different place. As it is he stands almost alone, and employes more men in his several operations than any twenty men in the village.

Harvest Services.

One of the most interesting harvest services in the history of the congregation was held in St. John's Reformed church, Boalsburg, last Sunday. The attendance was unusually large, so large that extra pews had to be carried in. The decorations were elaborate and exquisite, consisting of flowers, fruits, grains and potted plants most artistically arranged. The music was of the very best, and was under the direction of Prof. P. H. Meyer. Prof. Samuel Bierly, of Milesburg, renderel both morning and evening a number of flute solos which were highly appreciated by every one.

Mrs. Zerbe, living two miles east of Spring Mills, quite an old lady, is seriously ill, and her recovery is doubted. Mrs. D. Hess, of Linden Hall, reed from a visit to Osceola,

REV. MARTIN'S GRAVE.

Judge Beaver, Dr. Schuyler and C. P. Long View the Site

At a recent meeting of the Huntingdon Presbytery Judge Beaver, of Bellefonte; Dr. W. H. Schuyler, of Centre Creasy today (Thursday) at noon. Hall, and C. P. Long, of Spring Mills, were appointed a committee to have on the Musser farm, near Penn Hall, and erected in 1785, put into proper condition so that the old historic spot might be properly preserved. The committee Thursday of last week met and viewed the site. The only grave distinctly marked is that of Rev. Mr. that in convention all will be har-Martin, which is covered with a marble slab with an apppropriate inscription. The cheerful consent of Mr. Musser has been secured to permit needed improvements, which will consist of a neat iron fence to surround the plot, repair the walls of the tomb and put up a marker indicating the point of interest. The expense is estimated at $100.00, and the committee will be glad to receive contributions from any one interested. So far as can be ascertained the first church building in Penn's Valley, perhaps in Centre county, was a log structure, erected in 1785, near Penn Hall, on what is now the Musser farm. It was built by the Presbyterians who held religious services in the Valley as early as 1775, Rev. William Linn preaching "the first sermon ever delivered within the present limits of Centre county, at Captain (afterwards 0000000000000000000000 Geveral) Potter's," July 23, 1775. The name of the church was East Penn's Valley. The Rev. James Martin, the first settled pastor, was called April 15, 1789, and ministered to several congregations extending up the valley as far as Warrior's Mark. In the East Penn's Valley church the Presbytery of Huntingdon was organized April 14, 1795. Mr. Martin died June 20, 1795. In 1793 a log church was built at Centre Hill, and after Mr. Martin's death this became the chief center of Preshyterian worship and the Sinking Creek church takes the place of the East Penn's Valley church. Thus the Sink. ing Creek Presbyterian charge whose house of worship is now in Centre Hall is probably the oldest organized religious body in this county.

The old church on the Musser farm passed into the possession of the Reformed and Lutheran congregations and was used by them.
