Democratic Ticket. For Justice of Supreme Court: HARMAN YERKES.

For State Treasurer: ANDREW J. PALM.

Prothonotary—M. I. GARDNER. District Attorney—N. B. SPANGLER.

The Republican candidate for State treasurer, Mr. Harris, of Clearfield county, represented that county in the last Legislature of odious memory, and he figured conspicuously among the political degenerates. The Clearfield "Republican," his home paper, pays this tribute to Harris' worth as a candidate:

Harris represents everything crooked with which the last Legislature was in any way connected, either directly or indirectly. He voted for every obnoxious, indecent, illegal and outrageous measure offered by the machine or enacted into law. He was from first to last the servile tool of the bosses, and lost no opportunity to show his willingness to obey their slightest wish. He voted for all the "crappers," for all the franchise grabs, for all the big appropriations, for every prohibition repealer, for the Jim Russ New York drunk card, the Badge bill, the river-bend coal-steals, the new courts and everything bad offered. Harris, more than any other man in the House represented all that was bad and nothing that was good. He voted against all ballot reform measures.

Both the army and navy are losing familiar names by the operation of the retirement laws. Death is doing its share, too. General Ludlow's is the third death among prominent generals of the Spanish war, General Lawton and Henry having passed away before him. Generals Shafter, Wheeler, Fitzhugh Lee, J. Ford Kent, Marcus P. Miller and Thomas M. Anderson have been already retired, and will be followed this year by Generals H. C. Merriam and Robert H. Hall, and next year by Major General Otis of Philippine fame, Brooke, the first governor of Cuba, and Wheaton, whose part in the Aguinaldo capture made him a major general. Prominent among approaching navy retirements are those of Rear Admirals Sampson and Schley, in February, 1902, and October, 1901, next to Admiral Dewey, the most important naval figures. Admiral Dewey with his rank received the privilege of remaining on the active list as long as he desires—both distinctions only rarely extended in the history of the American fleet.

The announcement that Denmark has agreed to accept the offer of $16,000,000 kroner, or about $4,000,000, for the Danish West Indies, finally authenticated, means the withdrawal of another foreign power from the western hemisphere and the acquisition by this Government of the finest harbor and site for a naval station in the West Indies. Commercially the islands are not likely to be of much importance, but there is no question of their great strategic advantage. We do not need the islands, but if we did not purchase them the question of their sale to some European power would arise. The Danish West Indies, comprising only 144 square miles, consist of the islands of St. Thomas, St. Croix, St. John and St. Eustatius, lying east and southeast of Porto Rico. With a naval base at St. Thomas we would command the Virgin Passage, which lies between that island and Porto Rico, while naval stations on the coast of Cuba and Porto Rico will give us the mastery of the highway from Europe to Central and South America and the absolute control of the eastern terminus of the Nicaragua canal. It is expansion along lines made important by the results of the Spanish war. The United States could have acquired the Danish West Indies more than thirty years ago, a treaty of purchase having been negotiated with the government of Denmark. The treaty failed, however, as in those days our statesmen were not as strong on expansion as they are now. No doubt Congress will vote $4,000,000 without hesitation if President McKinley recommends the purchase of the islands.

George Mull, who does the blacksmithing at Meizel's lumber camp, east of Carroll, met with a singular accident. As he was walking along over a rough trail his right foot caught at a snag and he fell. The sharp blade of the axe he carried plunged into his neck behind the right ear, cutting a deep gash and partly severing the jugular vein. Much difficulty was experienced in checking the flow of blood.

S. B. McClenathen, of Milroy fell from a ladder a few days ago and sprained one of his ankles quite severely.

Tuesday night of last week burglars gained an entrance to the residence of L. R. Campbell, of South west Greensburg, and, after chloroforming the family, ransacked the house, securing about $47 in cash and some other valuables. The thieves overlooked a child's bank in which was $51, and also 25 cents which were in Mr. Campbell's pants pocket.

The Hummel hotel at Alfarrata Millin county, caught fire last week, and before aid got there the house was too far gone and all attention was turned toward saving the goods. Everything on the first story and basement were saved. The building was fully covered by insurance. J. Irvin Howell occupied the hotel but was absent with his family at the time of the fire.

The creamery plant of the Pleasant Valley Creamery Company, of Milton, located at Kelly X Roads, Union county, and managed by H. J. Yocum, was totally destroyed by fire, on Friday evening. In connection with the creamery a chop mill and cider press were operated. The loss on the creamery will be about $1500, on which there is an insurance of $600.

Frank L. Wolf, superintendent of the Susquehanna and Juniata Telephone company, was taken before Justice Rhoads in Lewistown and paid a fine of $10 for putting off a charge of dynamite inside the borough. The telephone company struck solid rock in digging a hole for a pole in the rear of the Masonic temple and were told not to use dynamite but went ahead with the above result.

Wm. Miller, of Southwest Saville twp., Perry county, while suffering from "thrashing fever" unknowingly walked from the front door of his house, there being no porch there, and fell about six feet to the solid ground, bruising the side of his face and one of his hips was badly contused: He was unconscious when found and remained so for some time. Besides being a trifle lame, he is himself again in health.

While carrying a piece of tin pipe under a low trolley wire of the Shamokin Mount Carmel electric railway Saturday evening, Lizzie, the nine-year-old daughter of Edward Coyle, of Mt. Carmel, narrowly escaped being electrocuted. The pipe came in contact with the wire and instantly there was a flash the girl's body carrying the current to the ground. She was buried about ten feet, striking a fence. It was several minutes before she regained consciousness.

It is his intention to rent his dwelling until spring for a very low rental, and also offer his farm for sale.

The charge against landlord Edwin Rohl for selling liquor to minors—before "Squire Grove on Monday last, resulted as every body expected it would, in a ridiculous failure to sustain the accusation.
