For Justice of Supreme Court:
HARMAN YERKES.

For State Treasurer:
ANDREW J. PALM.

Prothonotary—M. I. GARDNER.

District Attorney—N. B. SPANGLER.

The following is from the Bellefonte Republican, and is reprinted here to show the audacity of the chief editor of the Republican:

"When enumerating the Quay machine newspapers of the county some weeks ago we inadvertently omitted to mention the 'Centre Reporter.' We tender our apology for the oversight and hasten to express the hope that our esteemed contemporary from over the mountains may receive a substantial recognition of its services for the cause of Quayism and kindred political evils."

Outside of politics, there is this difference between the Republican and the Reporter. The Republican is published solely in the interest of the vomit of the regular Republican party of Centre county; its expenses are paid by the head of that insurgent element; the Republican's policy is dictated by that element—in fact, the Republican is the absolute hireling of disloyal Republicans, all of which it will not deny. The Reporter is Democratic in principle, has always and will continue to support all candidates nominated and measures advocated by the county, state and national organizations; the Reporter's expenses are paid from the receipts of its business; it has no access to a previously lubricated pocket.

The Reporter would not for a minute support political bastards of its own party and consequently can not shelter those of others. The Reporter regards all political organizations which do not represent true Democracy as enemies. To this south side Democrats will say "Amen."

Unless the reporters are misrepresenting the conduct of Czolgosz, the assassin, that individual is both a moral and a physical coward. His encounter with the mob at Auburn appears to have unnerved him completely and, for the moment, at least, reduced him to a condition bordering on mental imbecility. We believe that any person who is willing to resort to assassination is a coward. He who deliberately offends the hand of pretended friendship to an unarmed and unsuspecting citizen while with the other he presents the weapon of death, is no brave man. On the contrary he possesses a character the infamy of which cannot well be described in the English language and might be expected to cringe and shriek as Czolgosz is said to have done at Auburn Friday morning of last week.

Little is thought and less is known by the average man concerning the lives and aims of the 400,000 men and boys who delve under the surface of the earth in places of darkness and danger, where hardly a day goes by without recording the death by falls of rock, coal or slate of one unfortunate miner. An article on this subject at once impartial and vitally interesting is contributed to The Cosmopolitan for October by John Mitchell, President of the United Mine Workers of America, whom every one recalls as the man who organized the miners and carried through to a successful termination the great anthracite strike of 1900.

Senator Heinle's Address of Welcome.
In welcoming the state commissioners' convention to Bellefonte, Senator Heinle said:

It was only yesterday in the annals of this great Commonwealth that Centre county was a trackless woods wherein the wild beasts felt secure from the inroads of civilization. Philadelphia was a cultured city, Pittsburgh had shown its power as a manufacturing mark long before the ax of the frontiersmen had resounded far into the depths of Centre county. And yet, today Centre county presents to civilization, as a partial result of the efforts of its energy and industry, 250,000 acres of cleared land and real estate valued at $12,535,555.

In the matter of taxation the value of real estate taxable for this year is $10,854,630; personal property and occupation $924,209, a total of $11,778,839, subject to a tax of three mills on the dollar. From June 1st, 1900 to June 1st, 1901 there were $257,691.25 of tax collected for all purposes and no better evidence is required of the honest distribution of this tax levy than the simple statement of the fact that Centre county is entirely free from debt.

See Grant Hoover before you insure.

M. I. GARDNER.

A portrait of M. I. Gardner, present prothonotary of Centre county and Democratic candidate for re-election, is presented to the readers of the Reporter. The voters of Centre county need not be told anything of Mr. Gardner's personal qualities. They have come in contact with him sufficiently during his term of office to know, if they did not know it before, that he is a perfect gentleman.

Prothonotary Gardner has proven himself entirely capable of properly conducting his office. The office of prothonotary being a public office, every voter, without regard to party, is interested in having the records of the court kept properly; they are interested in having all official papers carefully and conveniently filed; they are interested in having clean, legible documents, the entries upon which can not be disputed; they are interested in the manner in which the indexing of records, decisions and official papers are kept; in fact, they are much more interested than is usually presumed in putting into the prothonotary's office a competent and trustworthy person, for the reason that any mistakes, any neglect or incompetency, that might occur in that office would cost the county, as well as the litigants, unknown sums of money. Upon the manner in which this office is conducted,—the promptness and correctness with which its records are kept, and its work done,—largely depends the detail work of the court. Did you ever think of that? An incompetent and careless prothonotary, with improper records, mixed papers, or bungled up work, can delay the action of the court to an extent that will cost the taxpayers of the county hundreds of dollars at each term of court for lost time waiting until these matters can be properly arranged and presented.

Will taxpayers overlook these important matters and take any risk in the selection of a person to fill this position. Hardly. But they will give the present prothonotary their hearty support because they have confidence in his ability and integrity.

Much in the Name.

Once there were some very swagger people in an ultra fashionable village not far from the metropolis who decided that no society yet bunched together was exclusive enough for them. Even the Colonial Dames failed to meet the requirements. So they determined to start a new aggregation that should be the real thing.

After considerable thought they concluded that if they limited membership to direct descendants of Fernando de Soto it would be sufficiently exclusive for their fastidious tastes. A "Society of the Sons and Daughters of De Soto" was the outcome. All the best people in the village proved that they were eligible and were enrolled as charter members.

However, there was one man on the outer fringe whose proof of descent was not accepted; in short, he was blackballed. This made him angry, and he started to investigate the subject.

One day he published his findings in the local newspaper. The principal fact was this: "F. de Soto died a bachelor."

The Sons and Daughters of De Soto are now known as the Elite Eucher club.

Insect Pests in Brazil.

I should take a small gang of practical coffee planters from Ceylon with good digestions to be not afraid of giggers, ticks and Berne flies, to say nothing of the dear little mosquito. The writer had extracted during four years in Brazil no less than 200 giggers from underneath every toe nail of both feet. The Portuguese, Brazilians, Italians and Spaniards called it a recreation on Sunday to dig them out of each other's feet.

Of all the vile insects on earth, the Berne fly is the worst. She lays her eggs inside your flesh and hatches three very ugly insects an inch long with three rings of bristles round the body and sharp nippers. They take about six weeks to develop under your skin, then commence to turn somersaults just when you want to go to sleep after a hard day's work in the sun. The natives of Brazil adopt a novel way of extracting the brute when full grown. They tie on a piece of raw pork, and the Berne comes out of your skin and takes a header into the piece of pigskin.—Ceylon Observer.

An Afghan Trick.

During a shooting match in the presence of the governor of Kandahar the sirdar noticed to his astonishment that the heads of sparrows were the favorite butt of the marksmen, who but seldom missed their aim, whereupon he declared that it was far more difficult to hit an egg. Sir Peter laughed at the proposition, but the sirdar stood his ground, and the matter was put to the test. An egg was suspended on a wall, and the soldiers fired at it; but, strange to say, not one of them hit the egg.

The governor and his suit kept their

of the difficulty of the thing. At last a ball happened to hit the thread to which the egg was fastened, and it fell to the ground without breaking. Now the mystery was solved. The cunning Afghan had used a blown egg, and the featherweight shell had been puffed aside each time by the current of air in front of the ball and thus escaped being hit.

Limited Numerical System.

The natives of Murray Island, Torres Strait, have a numerical system which is based on two numbers, netat, one, and nels, two. Above two they compute by composition—nels-netat means three, nels 1 nels (two and two), four. When they get above this figure, they have recourse to different parts of the body, beginning with the little and other fingers of the left hand and going from there to the wrist, elbow, armpit, shoulder, etc., on the left side, and thence down the right side to twenty-one, the toes giving ten numbers more, to thirty-one. Beyond this they are satisfied with "many."

All His Fortunes.

One day before his marriage the Rev. Sydney Smith ran into the room where his fiancée was, fung into her lap six small tuppens which "from much wear had become the ghosts of their former selves" and said, "There, Kate, you lucky girl, I give you all my fortune." He gave her, however, what he did not mention, his fine character and great talent and in every way proved himself an excellent husband.

A Long Way Off.

An interesting calculation has been made by a French geologist to the effect that, taking into consideration the wear and tear on the solid land by ocean washing, rivers, wind and weather and leaving out of the calculation volcanic action, the world will in 4,500,000 years be completely under water and no dry land exist at all.

Knew Her Well.

"I did not know that you knew my wife."
"Oh, yes; very well."
"Where did you meet her?"
"Never before; but one of my servants lived at your home two months."
—Fliegende Blätter.

Hopefully Waiting.

"Some folks," said Uncle Eben, "prides deirse 'an bein' hopeful, when as a matter o' fact dey ain' doin' nuffin' but loatin' an' waitin' foh luck."
—Washington Star.

The bite of a mosquito is annoying, and the bite of a snake is dreadful, but it makes one feel sore all over to be bitten in the back by a friend.—Dallas News.
