A day or two since while in the office of J. I. Condo, I discovered the old veteran carefully packing and rearranging some of his valuable relics of the civil war. Among quite a number of war like implements was a gun screw driver and hand vice-odd looking things, a pair of well battered revolvers and a gun lock evidently of foreign make, also a very handsome silver fife, which he found in the field at Appomattox; he is uncertain whether it is Confederate or Union property, besides many other articles unnecessary to mention. The ear-piercing fife he prizes very highly, and frequently plays upon it and says that the shrill music always recalls the bright days he had with his comrades and Moyer. often too, the sad scenes witnessed before grim visaged war had smoothed his wrinkled front.
