S. M. SWARTZ RETIRES

Succeeded by His Son Charles W. Swartz as General Merchant at Tusseyville. Samuel M. Swartz retires from business on October 1st next, and the general store will be conducted by his son, Charles W. Swartz, who will succeed him as proprietor.

Mr. Swartz was first connected with the Tusseyville store in 1864, when he was associated in business with Jacob Strohm. He remained in the store for only about a year, but later, in 1871, he again formed a partnership with Mr. Strohm, and in 1878 he became the successor of the firm, and has been since and, nothing unforseen happening, will do business there until October next.

The Tusseyville store was first established in 1855 by Henry Hahn, who, in 1859, sold out to Peter Kerlin, who in turn sold to George W. Spangler, in 1861. It was Swartz & Strohm who bought out Mr. Spangler, and when Mr. Swartz retired Henry Smith became the partner of Mr. Strohm, and when Mr. Smith retired, in 1867, Mr. Strohm became sole owner until 1871, when the last partnership with Mr. Swartz was formed. The rest of the story has been told.

Charles W. Swartz, who will succeed the Senior Swartz within a brief period, has imbibed many of the good business qualifications of his father, and the Tusseyville store will continue to be one of the most prominent places of business in Penns Valley.

Beckwith on Trial for Murder-Grand Jury Recommends Improvements.

The regular August term of court convened on Monday at 9:45 a. m. This promising to be a busy week the usual routine of presenting petitions, constable's returns, was rapidly dispensed with. Jared Harper was appointed foreman of the grand jury and they immediately retired to their sit-

The court first took up the case of Samuel T. Dixon vs. Overseers of the Poor of Snow Shoe township. This was an appeal from an action of assumpsit brought before a justice of the peace for funeral furnishings. There were two actions between these parties involving the same questions. As they had the same questions involved they were tried together. At the close of the plaintiff's testimony the defense moved for non-suit. It was granted

In the afternoon court resumed work at 1:45. The first true bill found by the grand jury was Commonwealth vs. Bruce Yarnell. In this case the defendant was charged with the forgery of a note given to Robert Campbell in part payment for a horse and buggy. It seems from the testimony that the note was signed by the defendant and some one placed the name of F. W. Shamp as bail. The defendant could not write and there was no evidence that the defendant secured the name of F. W. Shamp upon the note. After hearing the testimony the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Court convened Tuesday morning at 8:30. The first case called was Commonwealth vs. George Walker, alias Elijah Record. Charge larceny. This case comes from Roland. The defendant was charged with stealing a horse, buggy and harness from Miss Carrie Holt. The horse was found in Brookville, where the defendant admitted to having traded it to a livery man. The barness was found on the horse the defendant was driving and was identified by Miss Holt and others. At the close of the testimony for the Commonwealth the defense changed the ration of all property taken, costs of prosecution and six years' imprisonment of solitary confinement in the Western penitentiary.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. Joseph Resides, the defendant was charged with crueity to animals. It was shown that the defendant wantonly beat a horse with a large club and it died shortly. The jury brought in

The first case in the afternoon was Commonwealth vs. Enoch Hugg. charged with adultery. This case is not reportable in detail. Verdict, onefourth cost on county, three-fourth on defendant.

Wednesday morping the first case taken up was Commonwealth vs. Marietta McKinley. In this case the degations to J. Victor Royer, Esq., for fendant was charged with open lewdthe very correct court report in this ness and fornication. This woman is McKinley. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty and the court imposed a fine of $1.00 and costs of prosecution.

In the afternoon the case of Commonwealth vs. Emanuel Bechdol and Martha Albright. This involved several cases of adultery and fornication. The outcome of the case was a verdict of not guilly, one third the costs on defendant, two-third on prosecutor. On Richard Fink, who plead guilty to prosecution a fine of $10 00 and costs of prosecution were imposed.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Frankenbarger, prosecutor, C. P. Long was settled. In Commonwealth vs. Myrtle Meyers the defendant plead guilty to taking $75.00. Sentence was temporarily suspended. The following bills were ignored: Commonwealth vs. Frank Uzzle, assault and battery, prosecutor for costs. tificate, all of which speaks well for Commonwealth vs. Brack Powell, indecent assault, county for costs. Com. vs. J. C. Nason, assault and battery; county for costs. Among these was the one against J. C. Hosterman, editor of the Millheim Journal, charged with libel. This was brought about by the article calling 'Squire Reifsnyder "Doctor." The costs were imposed on the prosecutor.

The following reports on road views were filed : To change a portion of road in Gregg township; confirmed nisi. To change a portion of road in Liberty township; confirmed absolutely. Report of reviewers in Marion township; confirmed absolutely. Laying out a road in Snow Shoe township; confirmed absolutely; to vacate road in Union township; confirmed | ser, at Houserville.

absolutely. The Miller murder trial was continued until November term of court on account of the illness of E. R. Chambers, one of the counsel for defense. The grand jury found a true bill.

The grand jury recommended that the present grand jury room be used for a law library, and that the present arbitration room and the room adjoining be fixed up for the use of the grand jury; the enlargement of the water closets; that a private stairway be built in the rear of the judge's bench. Harry Lingle, Philipsburg; John D. Miller, Walker; John Y. Stover, H. H. Miller, Miles; N Luse, Haines; R. C. Mallory, Rush, were six jurors empaneled for the Beckwith trial, as the Reporter went to press at 11 a. m.
