Should Excite Fish Stories. The Rev. J. W. Moody, pastor of the Baptist church, at Scottdale, is preparing a series of sermons, each of which will be a complete story in itself.

Endorse Pattison. The State Legislative Board of Railroad Employees Monday night announced that it had endorsed Robert E. Pattison for Governor.

Secured Position at Morganza. William Miller, who for some years had his home at Tusseyville and had years of experience in blacksmithing, has secured a position as instructor in the blacksmithing department of the Pennsylvania Reform School at Morganza.

Keith's. A show no less valuable than those that have for months attracted audiences that have tested the capacity of the theatre is announced for the current week at Keith's.

New Freight Cars. The Pennsylvania railroad company has placed orders for the construction of 1,500 new freight cars, the most of which will be of 100,000 pounds capacity, the remainder of 80,000 and 90,000 pounds.

Penrose Tells a Whopper. Senator Penrose in his address Tuesday said that five years ago when Cleveland closed his administration farm products were worth only half as much as they are now.

Prof. Brumbaugh Matched for $9,250. Miss Cora Keime, of Somerset county, who brought an action of breach of promise of marriage against Professor I. Harvey Brumbaugh, acting president of the Juniata college at Huntingdon, was awarded a verdict for $9,250.

The Pilgrim for September is a fine number in every respect. It matters appeals to the average reader in many respects.

DOCTOR'S PATIENTS.

People Who are Ill—Their Names and Diseases.

Mrs. Coldron, wife of John Coldron, of near Spring Mills, is quite feeble, from the effects of a paralytic stroke and old age.

John Wolf, one of the old citizens of near Spring Mills, is suffering from the effects of old age.

Daniel Zeigler, of Spring Mills, is one of the lingering typhoid patients.

Oldest Dentist.

Dr. Otis Avery, of Honesdale, is the oldest dentist doing service in this state. At the age of ninety-four years he practices his profession.

Opportunity to Secure Employment.

The Philadelphia North American maintains a Free Employment Bureau at 1309 Filbert street, Philadelphia, to assist all those who seek situations or employers who are looking for help.

At the present time there is a dearth of servant girls in Philadelphia, and many applicants for servants, through necessity, are disappointed.

If the young women in the communities throughout the State who are desirous of securing positions in Philadelphia will communicate with the North American Free Employment Bureau it will obtain places for them without charge.

The Bureau will be pleased to receive applications of all young men and women who contemplate positions in Philadelphia and vicinity.

Presbyterian Reunion.

The committee appointed by the Presbyterian church of Spring Mills to have general charge of the reunion and memorial services at the site of the old East Penn's Valley church near Penn Hall met at the Spring Mills church on Thursday afternoon September 11th.

Committee on transportation, from Rising Springs to Penn Hall: W. M. Allison, Wm. Goodhart, Joseph Bitner, Dr. H. S. Braught, T. M. Gramley, J. W. Evans, A. J. Shook, F. S. Musser.

Committee on transportation, from Rising Springs to Penn Hall: W. M. Allison, Wm. Goodhart, Joseph Bitner, Dr. H. S. Braught, T. M. Gramley, J. W. Evans, A. J. Shook, F. S. Musser.

Music J. F. Rearick, Luther Musser, Charles Fisher, Mrs. J. F. Rearick, Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. P. W. Leitzell, J. S. Meyer.

Entertainment: Miss Mabel Allison, Miss Verna Rearick.

The committee on transportation will furnish free transportation to members of Presbytery from the Spring Mills station to the grounds.

Mr. William Ruhl will be prepared to convey other parties than members of Presbytery, charging twenty-five cents for the round trip.

It is hoped that arrangements can be made to furnish others who may not wish to bring baskets dinner at a reasonable charge.

Remember the date October 8th, and that every body is cordially invited to unite with the Presbyterians on this occasion.

LOCALS.

Mrs. Evelyn Murray, of Reading, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Stuart, of New Bloomfield, are here on a short visit.

George Mowery, former liveryman of Spring Mills, is attending the picnic.

Miss Jennie Gill, of Milroy, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Shawver, at the Old Fort hotel.

Hiram Grove, of Morganza, is spending some time at the home of his father John Grove, near Spring Mills.

Joseph Hess, of Rock Springs, a son of C. C. Hess, underwent an operation for appendicitis in a Philadelphia hospital.

W. A. Krise who spent six weeks in Johnstown, overseeing the building of a house for his son George, who lives in Chicago, returned last Saturday.

The Reporter will be pleased to have the names of all persons entertained in and about Centre Hall sent to this office Friday of this week.

Garitee & Son, the popular clothier of Philadelphia, who have been coming here every year since the Encampment has been held on Grange Park, have a good assortment of clothing on hand, and are doing business.

Mrs. Jennie Van Valzah, who sold her home at Spring Mills last week, Friday will leave for Bloomington, Indiana, where she will spend the winter, her son, James, having entered school at that place.

Her eldest son, Robert, Monday returned to Princeton to complete a course at that institution.

THE ENCAMPMENT AND EXHIBITION.

Politics and Sturdy Farmers.

The Twenty-ninth Annual Gathering in Full Sway The Program Carried Out in Full.

The Encampment and Exhibition of the Patrons of Husbandry, Grange Park, Centre Hall, opened under the most auspicious conditions Saturday.

The weather Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday was ideal for a gathering of this kind.

Saturday was spent in putting the finishing touches on the park grounds by the committee. A number of minor changes were made in the buildings, and general plan of the camp.

SUNDAY SERVICE.

Nearly One Thousand People Listened to Rev. Kershner.

Almost one thousand people attentively listened to a Harvest Home sermon delivered in the auditorium Sunday afternoon by Rev. G. W. Kershner, of the Reformed church.

While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.

To the thoughtful mind, Rev. Kershner said, there is nothing more impressive than the march of the seasons. Everything is beautiful in its season—summer, autumn, winter, spring.

Each has a beauty of itself. This world is ordered by a wisdom more wise than ours—so long as the world remains, the seasons shall not fail.

The harvest seasons come without interruption. David says: "Thou openest thy hand, supplying the needs of everything."

There is no nobler work than the work of tilling the soil. Behind all the forces of nature you see the hand of God. Your calling is as sacred as his in the pulpit.

How indiscriminating are the laws of nature. The sun shines on the good and evil, the believer and scoffer. The crop of the sinner is just as good as the crop of the true child of God.

God gives and gives and then waits to see whether his goodness will not turn the wicked from his way. The wicked man sows wheat, oats and corn—that is what he reaps. The Christian sows something else, and will reap life everlasting. "Marvel not at the prosperity of the wicked."

D. C. Keller served a splendid turkey dinner to about one hundred and twenty-five persons who got to the grounds before the noon hour.

The best of order was had during the entire day. In the afternoon many carriages from Bellefonte and other points reached the ground.

REPUBLICAN DAY.

Penypacker, Penrose, Smith, Dresser and Patton Take Turns on the Platform.

Tuesday was Republican day at the Encampment and Exhibition. It was an ideal day, and every one was glad of it.

There was a particular bustle and stir about the camp early in the morning and every one was looking toward sunrise to catch the first glimpse of the train which would bring to them the central figures of attraction for the day.

The train was late, but finally it came, and with it came the speakers advertised by the Encampment management.

The forenoon was spent handshaking with the dignitaries, which was participated in by both Democrats and Republicans. There was no distinction in the hearty greetings.

A little after one o'clock the speech-making began. As was previously arranged by the Republican county committee, General Daniel H. Hastings presided, after a formal opening of the meeting by Master of the County Grange George Dale.

The auditorium was packed to the doors by men and women of every political complexion who gave the speakers an absolutely respectful hearing.

Not a single sotto voce expression was heard. The city press was represented by its regular correspondents, who accompanied the campaigning party to Erie.

They were: John P. Dwyer, The Phila Press; Albert B. Bailey, Phila Record; Charles E. Dorworth, Pittsburg Times; Hugh Sutherland, Phila North American; Thomas Blynn, Phila Inquirer; Chester D. Potter, Pittsburg Gazette; Robert W. Egan, Pittsburg Dispatch.

PROHIBITION DAY.

Wednesday Was a Great Day at the Encampment. The Speakers Entertaining.

Wednesday was Prohibition day at the encampment. There were fully twice as many people on the grounds as the day before, and every booth experienced what they anticipated the day before—business.

The forenoon exercises were well attended. The afternoon program was carried out to the letter as given out the evening before.

Dr. Swallow and Hon. Lee L. Grumbine were the speakers. Mr. Grumbine proved an interesting and entertaining speaker, and pleased his large audience with a clear cut address.

Dr. Swallow argued politics from a Prohibition stand point, and had little to find in both the leading parties as well as in Pennsylvania in general.

In referring to the remarks of Senator Penrose, the day previous, that the taxation of the farmers had been lightened, he asserted, and it is true, that farmers pay sixteen dollars on every thousand of valuation, and corporations but $4 75.

Pennypacker, he said, was a factor in the defeat of Judge Beaver for Governor. He supported the independent candidate, John Stuart, because he said he was tired of the boss rule of Cameron.

"In 1902," the speaker continued, "Pennypacker accepted a nomination dictated by boss Quay, beside whom Cameron was an angel of light."

DEATHS.

MRS. ANNIE SHUEY. The death of Mrs. Annie, wife of J. H. Shuey, occurred Friday afternoon of last week at her home in Lemont, her age being thirty-two years.

Mrs. Shuey had been ill about a week, and her death was unexpected. The deceased was an earnest Christian woman, a member of the Reformed church, a devoted wife and mother and a kind neighbor.

Her maiden name was Annie Grenoble, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Grenoble. She is survived by her husband and five children, the youngest being but one week old.

She also leaves three brothers and one sister to mourn her loss. The funeral took place Monday forenoon. Interment at Pine Hall.

HIRAM KANE.

Hiram Kane died at his home near Spring Mills, Sunday morning after a lingering illness from paralysis, at the age of forty-seven years.

He is survived by a wife and one daughter. The funeral took place Tuesday morning, interment being made at Georges Valley.

LOCALS.

Salesmen wanted to look after our interests in Centre and adjacent counties. Salary or commission. Address Lincoln Oil Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

John B. Royer and wife attended the picnic Tuesday. Mr. Royer never fails to have his Reporter label advanced one year during the week of Encampment.

Mrs. J. W. Brown and children, of Milroy, and Mrs. W. S. Slick and children, of Johnstown, are spending picnic week at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Krise.

Roy Kelley, of Reedsville, stopped in Centre Hall a few hours, on Monday, on his way to State College, where he will enter as a student in the electrical engineering department.

Gable & Co.'s store at the Encampment is one of the chief places of interest. They have a fine line of goods, and they are selling them.

Nicholas Fish, the millionaire banker of New York City, died in a hospital Tuesday night from a blow on the head by Thomas J. Sharkey. Fish was drinking in a saloon with several women, when he got into an altercation with Sharkey.

J. W. Kepler, of Pine Grove Mills, is attending the Encampment, and is shaking hands with his friends. Mr. Kepler is the Democratic nominee for the Legislature on this side the county, and should receive the support of every south side Democrat.

Andrew Crozier, wife and children, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith. This is their first visit since moving to Belleville, Mifflin county, eighteen months ago, where Mr. Crozier is now engaged as clerk in the general store of G. C. Slear.

Ex-District Attorney J. W. Singer, secretary of the Democratic county committee, is a constant watch over Democratic headquarters at Grange Park. He is one of the ex-county officials who did not lose interest in the Democratic party after being served by that organization.

W. H. Smith, of near Madisonburg, brought some fine specimens of oats heads to this office. It is an oats that he has grown for a long time.

Some of the heads have as many as three hundred grains. This big oats will partly make up for Mr. Smith's ill luck the last year, during which time he lost a horse, a two year old colt, two head of cattle and a fattening hog.

The chirograph on the Reporter's desk Tuesday indicates that not all in town and at the Encampment on that day were Republicans, because the name of Captain W. H. Fry, the veteran soldier and good, sound Democrat, of Ferguson township, appeared at the head of a list of a half dozen Democrats who inscribed their names in this office during the writer's absence.

Mrs. Priscilla Jack, wife of George Jack, of Rushville, Neb., and daughter Mrs. Armstrong, nee Lizzie Jack, and the latter's two children are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Thompson, and other friends.

The Jacks for many years lived in Boalsburg, and find great pleasure in meeting their old friends and looking over familiar scenes in Harris and adjoining townships.
