A Snow Statue,

A snow statue of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, with President George W. Atherton doing honor to it, was a surprise to President Atherton on reaching the college shortly after his that he was so impressed with the magnificence of the statue that he unconsciously bared his head while standing before it. The snow statue was a fine piece of work, and one could easily recognize Dr. Atherton in the snow statue, and in speaking of the figures he paid a high compliment to sculptors. design.

The Literary Society.

The High School students who heard the lecture of Prof. Lybarger at the local institute recently were inspired by his appeal for the return of the days of the literary society and the spelling bee, and have decided to push the local literary society with greater earnestness. At their meeting Friday night, the society decided to meet bi-monthly. and hold the meetings in the evening instead of the afternoon. So long as the local society is conducted with as much formality and dignity as the last Friday night session, parents need not question the propriety of permitting their children to participate in the evening session.

Judge Love then made a few remarks and directed the prothonotary to file the reports and spread the same in full upon the minutes of his office, after which court adjourned.

The first business of Monday afternoon session was the selection of a foreman for the Grand Jury and the charge to them by the Court. J. The suit of the Bibles vs. the Borough of Centre Hall was settled by the defendants paying the sum of $750.00 Settlement of the case was the only alternate left for the borough, although it receives nothing now nor did it at any time in the past for the sum paid. The contract was entered into through a misunderstanding brought about largely by misplaced confidence on the part of the borough. The result is the first party to the contract selected to hold the borough to the terms of the instrument without being able to fulfill the spirit of it, simply because the contract was legal and binding. # THE STAR STORE.

ESTABLISHED 1889.

GEO. O. BENNER

PROPRIETOR.

In our last two ads, we told you about many articles offered for sale, and what we wanted for them, and you responded nobly. You found them as advertised. It is not our custom to pick out shelf worn, slow selling, out of date goods and offer them at cost and under, as a bait, to get you into the store, and then charge you two prices on staple goods. We don't keep that kind of goods. It is this way. When goods come in we put the price low and they go, so you see there is no chance for hangers on. Then again nearly everything has the price attached in plain figures, there is no chance to charge one customer one price and another another price. You ask, how can you sell cheaper than your competitors. We answer, it is the old story. No rents, no drayage, buying and selling for cash, consequently no books, no book-keeper, no duns, no time consumed in keeping books, no postage on duns, no money spent for ledgers, no bad friends because of duns. Again, we buy from cash houses who sell only for cash and who employ no salesmen. Is it not plain? Travelling salesmen have learned that it is useless to try to sell goods at the Star Store. Then there is another thing, we don't give premiums. These cost money, and if you buy of the people who give them you may be sure of paying well for them. Our goods are sold at our low price to everybody alike, without discount.

Then again, selling for cash, we have our money and are ready for any snaps as they come along, and you can depend when we buy bargains we mean to sell bargains. Long credits and large profits tempt both buyers and sellers, but they awaken the siren song which is ever chanting funeral dirges of disappointed victims, both buyer and seller being chief mourners and the sheriff

Will not quote any prices this time, but look out for next week. If there is anything you want keep your eye on it is this space.

Wanted, walnuts and Ewalt apples, at once.
