

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Parry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; C. J. Finkle, Spring Mills.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; C. J. Finkle, Spring Mills.

POST OFFICES CLOSED.

Centre Hill and Colyer to be Served by Rural Mail Service.

The postmasters at Centre Hill and Colyer Saturday received official notice that the post offices at those points should be closed to-day (Thursday) and all government property be forwarded to Spring Mills. The rural free delivery service will be inaugurated Friday, May 1, and will cover the greater part of the territory of the Southern and Western Precincts of Potter township.

The Centre Hill post office was established in 1847, when that point was an important one along the star route from Bellefonte to Lewistown.

James Boozer, the first postmaster at Centre Hill, was a member of the mercantile firm of Boozer & Gilliland, doing business in the Strohm store room.

The persons who acted as postmasters at Centre Hill, and in the order in which they served, are appended:

- James Boozer.
- John Gilliland.
- Robert Gilliland.
- Mary Boozer.
- Reuben Keller.
- James Batten.
- James Lashell.
- Robert Lee.
- Michael Strohm.
- J. B. Strohm.
- A. R. Lee.
- J. B. Bible.

The services of Mr. Bible, the present postmaster, are dispensed with with regret. He was obliging, systematic and correct.

The post office at Colyer was established in 1894 to accommodate a large number of residents in that locality, who were not conveniently served by the offices at Potters Mills or Tusseyville. The office, during its short period of existence, had three postmasters, as follows:

- Jacob Smith.
- Edward W. Crawford.
- Peter B. Jordan.

During the administration of Mr. Jordan, the post office was conducted by George Meles, who gave his patrons no cause whatever for complaint.

The post offices at Potters Mills and Tusseyville will remain to serve the population in their respective districts. S. M. Swartz was recently appointed postmaster at Tusseyville to succeed Mrs. Maggie Love, resigned.

Early in the Field.

The machine leaders in Pennsylvania, and that means Senator Quay, are early in the field to map out politics and legislation for the year before the great presidential contest of 1904. They have determined on a short and incomplete session of the Legislature, which will hang up in an unfinished state such important home questions as ballot reform, personal registration of voters, and a legislative reapportionment. They have held a caucus and determined the two judicial nominations, and who are to be candidates for state treasurer and auditor general at the election this fall. The two superior court judges are to be taken from Western Pennsylvania, from Crawford and McKean counties, and the finance officers from Delaware and Chester counties at the East. The names are announced and there will be no "kick."

This plain sailing is marked out for the bosses and the machine for the government of Pennsylvania, and the arrangement of the offices, in a way to strengthen the central machine. The people have nothing to say and, well drilled as they are, will accept the edicts of their masters.

Marriage Law Amended.

An amendment to the marriage license law of 1885 has been passed by the present legislature. The amendment makes no change in the condition under which a marriage license shall be granted, but it requires the clerk or official issuing the license to ask certain questions and to incorporate the information received in the license issued.

Under the original law the clerk was required to ask the necessary questions in order to ascertain if there was any legal objection to the contemplated marriage. In the amended act these questions are specified. The clerk must ask the age of the parties and if under age if the consent of the parent or guardian has been obtained; if there was any prior marriage and if so, how it was dissolved. It is next provided that this information, that the parties are of full age, or if minors that consent has been given, and if married before and how a prior marriage was dissolved, and if a divorce was granted and for what cause, must all be set forth in the license issued. Under the original act none of this was shown in the license issued although it was on record in the marriage license office.

A DIRE CALAMITY AVERTED.

Fish Dam a Stream and Cause Back-Water to do Damage.

A verified fish story comes from the banks of Laurel Run, a stream of water flowing from the Seven Mountains into Huntingdon county, in which Frank Kaup and his associates on the tram road leading from the Linden Hall saw mill are interested. For some distance the tram road runs parallel with Laurel Run, and on its banks are several homes that have been long occupied by mountaineers who for a living gather berries and roots, and devote considerable time to the rearing of broilers for the early market.

It was since the opening of the trout season that these men on their way to the saw mill with several trucks of fine timber, were obliged to leave their train of logs and go to the assistance of a young girl who had been left in charge of one of these mountain improvements. In fact, they were flagged by the maiden who was standing on the tram road, furiously poking in the stream with a long pole, endeavoring to dislodge thousands upon thousands of trout that had "backed up," in the parlance of Laurel Run inhabitants, and were causing the stream to overflow.

The whole force of men on the log train engaged in a vigorous manner to break the "back up," and finally succeeded, but not until the overflow of Laurel Run had obliterated the minor buildings of the mountain improvement, drowned one hundred and fifty chickens, and washed away a quarter of a mile of railroad track.

There is constant danger of a recurrence of a "back up" during the trout season in this stream, and the damage done in times past on account of the capers of the speckled beauties, has caused the inhabitants along the stream to have a perfect hatred for this particular fish, and under no consideration would they use them for food during one of these stampedes.

The Worthless Dog.

Thomas McMurtie, of Millin township, Columbia county, has been compelled to kill two cows that have gone mad after having been bitten by a dog, and he has two more chained in the barn, which he fears he will have to kill. These were bitten a week ago. Isaac Spaide of the same township had three bitten and has already killed one, and George B. Steely had four bitten and has been compelled to kill two of them. Many other farmers have suffered likewise and all are wondering when it will end.

Governor Pennypacker vetoed the anti-spitting bill, claiming that the "spitter" should be taught refinement in other ways than by fines. You may now spit with impunity.

Wm. G. Hoffer, editor of the Willshire Herald, Willshire, Ohio, has the audacity to say to his readers that the pocket book lost by him contained one, two, five and ten dollar bills! If a Pennsylvania editor were to make such a break, a commission would at once be appointed to enquire into the sanity of the newspaper man.

Mrs. Russell King Miller is one of the contract singers in Philadelphia who is popularly known among church goers. Mrs. Miller belongs to the quartet choir of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, Broad and Diamond street, which is attended by the "team" of the aristocracy of Presbyterians in faith. This accomplished vocalist is no other than Miss Emma Meyer, daughter of Solomon Meyer, deceased, who in his day was the acknowledged leader in musical circles in Centre county, and for years lived with his family in and near Centre Hall. Mrs. Miller was but a little girl when she left this place, but not too young to delightfully entertain her school companions every Friday afternoon with one or two songs.

C. M. BOWER.

Marshall College, a member of the class of 1898.

"Socially, Mr. Bower is of a retiring disposition, absorbed in his books and his profession; yet he has acquired a large circle of acquaintances, and formed strong friendships. He is a representative of one of the oldest families in Centre county, and his ancestors on both sides were some of the earliest settlers in the eastern end of Penn's Valley. Many of the Bowers and Motzes still reside in that section of the county, and some of them own and occupy the lands where their ancestors settled about the time of the Revolutionary War, the title thereto not having passed out of the family name in which it was originally acquired.

"Jacob Bower, the great-grandfather of Calvin M., and the son of John and Catharine Bower, came into what is now Haines township from Hanover township, York county, in 1776. He married Christina Nease, daughter of Philip Nease. John Motz, the great-grandfather of Mr. Bower on his mother's side, came to the site of Woodward from Penn township, in what is now Snyder county, in 1786. He bought land under date of April 29, 1785, and is credited with being the first settler on the town site named. Shortly after locating, he built a mill, and in a small scale manufactured soda. He was highly educated, a sculptor by profession, and had to leave the Fatherland in consequence of his devotion to the cause of liberty. At his death he left quite a valuable collection of books on church history, astronomy, etc. His wife's maiden name was Mary Whittier.

More Gasoline Lights.

Three seven hundred candle power gasoline lights were ordered last week for the better lighting of the streets. One will be placed opposite the Presbyterian church, one at the station and the other on east Church street, near the borough line. These lights were purchased through Jeweler Bushman by private subscription, but it is expected that the borough will bear the expense of lighting and furnish the gasoline for the same after the lights have been thoroughly tested. Light No. 2, to be placed at the Presbyterian church was purchased by the following:

- Samuel Shoop, Chas. W. Slack, J. H. Puff, George Neerhood, John Martz, G. W. Hosterman, L. L. Smith, Arthur E. Keelin, J. H. Krumbine, each one dollar; John Knarr, Rev. J. F. Shultz, Al. Krape, Capt. George M. Boal, each fifty cents; W. H. Runkle, W. A. Krise, each twenty-five cents; Olie Mader, one dollar.

The contributors to light No. 3, to be erected at the station, are W. H. Bartholomew, W. W. Spangler, Wm. Stiver, E. W. Crawford, Clyde Bradford, W. Frank Bradford, John S. Auman, J. Frank Smith, W. A. Odenkirk, Wm. Colyer, Sr., Wm. Colyer, Jr., James Smetzier.

The purchase of light No. 4, to be located near the borough line on East Church street, is largely due to the liberality of Benjamin H. Army, who contributed $5.00 towards its payment. The solicitor of the fund failed to respond to a request for the names of the other contributors.

Almost sufficient money has been subscribed for a similar light for West Church street.

Church Conference.

The official members of the Evangelical Christian church met at the home of Wm. Reiber, Colyer, March 28, 1903, to organize a Conference. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer. Rev. A. J. Horner was elected chairman and S. Brown secretary. This being the first session there were no minutes to be read nor unfinished business to be disposed of.

A constitution having been previously drafted, was read for approval. The constitution included rules of faith and discipline; after discussion by the brethren present the constitution was adopted as a whole by unanimous vote. The conference then adjourned to meet March 1904.

There has been quite a good deal of speculation regarding this new society, but we want to say that according to the constitution we have a right to worship as seemeth to us best. We want to say further that we have not gone into this work as the unthinking horse, but we have consulted the proper authorities. We do not wish to be selfish or unkind but we do want to correct some mistakes. We wish the public to know that brother A. J. Horner is a legally ordained minister and as such has a right to baptize, administer communion, solemnize marriages, and perform such other duties pertaining to his office as may be required. In the near future we expect to build a church, when we will ask your help financially as well as your prayers and good wishes.

Later we hope to give you a more detailed account of this body of believers and its origin. S. BROWN.
