Mr. Castle, in his answers, says that Mr. Tulloch shares in a prevailing misapprehension that an auditor is charged with the responsibility of keeping other officials "correct and honest," and in determining the necessities of the service. The auditor says that such functions would be fatal to administrative freedom by the head of a department.

Regarding the settlement and subsequent revision of an account of the late Postmaster Willett, of Washington, which involved alleged irregularities in Porto Rico during the military operations there, the auditor replies that every item believed to be illegal was disallowed by the auditor's office.

Explosion of Locomotive Boiler.

Erie, Pa. (Special) .- While passing Mays Siding, on the hill about seven miles west of Kane, the boiler on one of the locomotives pushing a Philadelphia and Erie freight train exploded, killing one man and injuring four others, three, perhaps, fatally. The disaster was an unusual one, insomuch as the train was running at the time and also because the crown sheet of the exploded boiler was blown through the caboose, splitting it in two and completely wrecking it, so that it was set on fire and burned up as the quickest way to clear the tracks. The injured, except the engineer and fireman, were in the caboose.
