Latest News of Pennsylvania Told in Short Order.

At a public meeting in the Court-house at Bellefonte, Judge John G. Love, representing the citizens of Center county, publicly presented to State Fish Commissioner W. E. Mechan, representing the Commonwealth, the deeds for the lands donated as a site for a State fish hatchery. The event was one of great importance to Center county and the citizens showed their interest by crowding the Courtouse. The speech of presentation by Judge Love was responded to by Com-missioner Mechan. The secretary of the commission then read the follow-ing resolutions which had been adopted at a previous meeting: To the generous citizens of Center county, Par At a meeting of the Fisheries Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, held at Bellefonte, this 6th day of August, 1903, it was unanimously resolved that the sincerest thanks of the Department of Fisheries be ten-dered to the public-spirited citizens who so generously donated the ground to the Commonwealth for the use of the Fisheries Commission, for the erec tion of a fish hatchery. Conrad Schroeder, one of the best known and wealthiest contractors in Scranton, accidentally killed himself at his home in Green Ridge, while hand-ling a revolver. He had taken the revolver out of his trousers pocket and was about to place it in a bureau drawer, where he usually kept it, when the weapon was discharged. The bul-let entered his head and he died almost instantly. Mr. Schroeder built most of the important buildings in Scrantor and was a man of the highest integrity. He was president of the South Side bank and was interested in many of the city's industrial establishments.

Howard Flood and Lawrence Leberman were badly burned while working inside one of the large stoves at the Warwick furnace, Pottstown. Both men entered the lower bell for the purpose of making repairs while the fur-nace was in blast and while at work employees lowered the upper bell. The gas from the charge beneath rushed upon the men and they were probably latally burnd. They managed to crawl down a spiral stairway on the outside of the furnace and fell in ? faint at the bottom.

Jesse Beer, aged 9, and Roy Rohr, aged 8, of Bath, climbed a tree to get a hornet's nest. The hornets were in had humor and resented the intrusion. There were several big spikes in the tree, and the lads, in their eagerness to get away, fell and caught on these spikes. Rohr had a four-inch gash cut in his face and his companion has a gash extending from half way from hir mouth to one of his ears.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Stewart, of Oklahoma, are visiting relatives and old friends at Brockawayville. General Trade Conditions. Bradstreet's says: Weather, crop and trade conditions are seasonably favorable, though irregularity and weakness ment of consumption to enlarged proluction. Copious rains in the corn belt and in the western portion of the cotton region have removed some of the uneasiness existing as to the outturn of these two great crops, and despite this backwardness the outlook for general trade has been memurably helped. Iron and steel buyers are still back-ward. Prices of the cruce forms tend lower, pig iron and billets both declinng this week, though a formation of a pool to maintain prices in the latter product is noted. The industrial situation has improved, the railroads are aving all they can handle, with talk of congestion again being heard, and the country's returns of cereal and food products promise better than a year ago insolar as quality is concerned. Failures this week were 190 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 19 in Canada, compared with 18 a year ago.
