Potters Mills. Mrs. Clayton McKinney, of Altoona, is visiting her husband's parents. Mrs. McKinney is a jolly lady and is always welcome here.

There are people in this town who do not feed their chickens and when they visit their neighbors and go home with a red string tied to their tails they say this is cruelty to animals. Now, the trouble is to find out whether a chicken is an animal or not.

Rev. Pierce, of Conneaut, Ohio, who is seventy-eight years old, visited his sister, Jane Pierce, who is in her eighty-sixth year. The two old people enjoyed themselves for two days then the Rev. went to Newton Hamilton camp meeting.

Richley Bros. have discovered a stone in the Seven Mountains which is supposed to be the best known for making fire brick. It is found to be all right no doubt Potters Mills will have one of the greatest fire brick plants in the world.

Patrick Garity employed J. R. Strong to build a bake oven. The oven was all right, but it played Patrick a trick; the draft was so strong that when Patrick looked in to see how it was it took his hat off and up the flue, and pulled at his hair to get his wig but it was fast and Patrick got away with no other trouble.

M. M. Miller and family were the guests of J. R. Strong and family on Sunday. Mrs. Cal. Ruhl has gone on an extended trip to New York where she is visiting her mother.

Some one poisoned Ed. Sweetwood's dog and it will die. This will be good news for Teddy B. as he will not need his cane to club his dog at night. Denkey Doots and family attended bush meeting in Georges Valley on Sunday. Keep this up, and you will come out all right.

One day last week Stewart Long lost a sack of chop near the Old Fort; an honest man came along and set the sack of chop on the fence. The next man came along and stole the sack of chop. Now, an effort is being made to find who the thief is and it will be found out, then there will be trouble.

In regard to the clover stalk found in the Kerlin stone wall, it may be said truthfully that Mason Strong put it there himself, for the express purpose of testing the "mud clerk," who was accused of the deed, as to truth and veracity. He proved truthful, and denied having planted the clover.

Our town in the near future may have the distinction of having a Lutheran church.

M. T. Duck has purchased all the machinery and stock of the roofing and spouting establishment located here, and operated by John Snavely, and will continue the business on a more extended scale in the same buildings. Mr. Snavely is engaged in other enterprises and could not give the business proper attention, and consequently disposed of it, and fortunately to an expert mechanic and a polished gentleman.

The Odd Fellows organized a lodge here about two months ago, with twenty-three members, and at present they have a membership of thirty-five and the applications now under consideration will keep them busy with initiations for some time. The lodge is rapidly growing in favor. The huckleberry business here has become quite an institution. Black berries seem to be a drug, there is no particular sale for them, but huckleberries are in great demand. Merchant O. T. Corman has agents in the mountains every day, purchasing from the pickers all they can obtain and of course ships immense quantities daily, but notwithstanding his large collections of berries, he is still short in filling his orders.

Some parties here say that when their potatoes were taken from the ground, apparently they were sound as a gold dollar, but after being in the bins a short time decayed rapidly. In a few cases—low localities especially, when the potatoes were plowed up, many of them were found to be worthless.
