

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail Home of Swamp-Root, N. Y., also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for this same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville, F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.

GARMAN'S

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville, F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.

The Willow property recently purchased at public sale by W. B. Mingle, Esq., has been remodeled, repainted and put into first class condition. The stable was also rebuilt, and the premises cleaned up generally. When the property came into Mr. Mingle's possession, it was anything but a desirable home; today, after the expenditure of considerable money, the reverse is quite true.

M. M. Condo, who conducts the meat market for the Madison Supply Company, at Darragh, a short time ago, had the misfortune to badly cut his thumb which curtailed his usefulness. Being pressed for help, he called for the aid of his little daughter Anna Boozer Condo, and she has been doing some remarkable work in the meat shop. She cuts all the sirloin steak and pork chops, and in doing this she lands the cleaver with entire precision. The amount of meat handled will be better appreciated when it is stated that the sales of a day amount to almost two hundred dollars.

DEATHS.

Philosophy of Fatigue.

"Some may be interested to know that there is now almost a new kind of philosophy of fatigue," says a writer in Ainslee's. "Some speculators think man became conscious because his intuitions were slowed up by exhaustion, so that the mind has to pick its way slowly and logically instead of diving instantly, as it used to do. It was the fall of man. Wilder dreamers have even described the origin of cosmic gas and nebulae, from which all the worlds come, as due to progressive fatigue of the ether, which is far more subtle and back of it. It is a little as if they were attempting to rewrite the first phrases of the Old Testament so that it should read, 'In the beginning was fatigue.'"

Cool.

It was in a western hotel. A belloy was sent to Colonel William Greene Sterett's room to ascertain what urgent need had impelled that gentleman to push the button. He entered and found the colonel deeply immersed in a friendly game with some chosen spirits. "Did you ring, sah?" he deferentially inquired.

"Yes," said Colonel Sterett, deftly hurling two unpromising pasteboards into the discard. "We want you to bring us some whisky. My friends here will take Scotch, and mine is rye."

"Yes, sah," said the boy, turning to go.

"And after you have brought us the whisky," continued Colonel Sterett, arresting his flight, "turn in a fire alarm. Some one in the next room has set the place afire."—New York Times.

Why Many Children Are One Sided. It is a well known physiological law that the use of a muscle causes an increase in its size, while neglect causes it to become smaller. The steady use of the same arm in carrying a set of books to and from school, the propping of one arm on a table, or the excessive use of one arm or leg and the disuse of the other—each such habit slowly but surely brings about its own result unless constant effort be made to counteract it.

SMALL POX.

Well Developed Cases of the Disease at Oak Hall and State College. There are well developed cases of small pox at Oak Hall and State College.

About the beginning of September, says the Reporter's correspondent, Mrs. Mayor and family of four children, of Pittsburg, came to the home of Anthony Knopff's, at Oak Hall, and a short time afterward one of the children—a boy—became quite ill, and was treated for chicken pox. Although the lad suffered considerably, he recovered and mingled with those of the community.

Sunday a week the Knopff family was visited by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Knopff, of State College. Mrs. Knopff while paying her Sunday visit nursed the little lad who had just recovered from his sickness, and eight days later became ill herself. Dr. Glenn, of State College, the family physician, was called to see the patient, and after a careful examination pronounced the case small pox. The lady was taken to the pest house about two miles distant from State College, where she is being cared for. No further spread of the disease is anticipated at that point.

At Oak Hall the conditions are more serious. Alfred Knopff, a son of Anthony Knopff, who makes his home with his father, has been very ill with small pox for the past few days. Alfred had no professional attendance from Saturday until Wednesday, when Dr. Glenn made a professional visit to his bedside.

The schools at Oak Hall, which are located near the Knopff home, are closed. Since Wednesday noon the Knopff's have been under official quarantine.

Good Words for Col. Chambers.

"Our State Army and Navy," a paper devoted to the interests of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, in an issue of recent date, gives a fine full-page portrait of Colonel Edward R. Chambers. In speaking of the distinguished young Centre countian, the "Army and Navy" says:

Prominent among the members of Governor Pennypacker's staff is Colonel Edward R. Chambers, of Bellefonte. He is a typical representative of the American self-made man, being resourceful, energetic and aggressive.

In 1888 Colonel Chambers was appointed Deputy Revenue Collector in his district under President Harrison, performing the functions of that office with great credit and ability, and in 1899 his long and faithful service was substantially recognized by Governor Stone, who appointed him to the responsible position as Attorney for the Auditor General of Pennsylvania.

After graduating from the State College, he entered the law office of Alexander & Bower as a student and was subsequently admitted to the bar, and today is one of the recognized leaders in the profession.

Colonel Chambers comes from a military family. His grandfather, Elijah Chambers, was a soldier under General George Washington at Valley Forge, and was in the battle of Monmouth. He was fifty years older than his son, who in turn was fifty years older than the subject of this sketch.

Colonel Chambers, although but recently appointed as an aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief, is a promising executive and departmental officer.

The Grange as an Educator.

The yearbook of the department of agriculture speaks of the grange as a factor in agricultural education as follows: The second half of the nineteenth century has witnessed a great awakening of the farmers of this country to their educational needs and opportunities. This has led to the broadening of the work and influence of the general agencies for their education. The state and local societies have been supplemented by great national organizations such as the Patrons of Husbandry, which, besides doing a great deal for the promotion of their general welfare, have done much to quicken the desire of multitudes of farmers for definite education in matters relating to their art.

The Opportunity Ours.

State Master Ladd of Massachusetts said in his annual address that "at no time in our history has there been greater need of farmers organizing. The day of successes by old methods has passed. New conditions and combinations confront us on every hand, better methods and counter organizations are our only hope. If we succeed, it must be by our own efforts, and the grange has given us the opportunity."

Vermont added 1,000 new members the past year, Oregon 1,500, New York 6,000, Michigan 6,000, Massachusetts 1,000 and Maine 5,000. These are the largest in increase.

The national grange will probably meet in St. Louis at the world's fair in 1904. In 1903 it will convene in New York state.

Michigan is said to have more grange halls owned by subordinate granges than any other state in the Union.

The class at the Massachusetts Agricultural college is the largest in twenty years.

The grange is a strong advocate of the parcels post.
