

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

300-POUND BEAR KILLED.

Edward Horner Dispatches Brain Just When the Brute Aims a Blow.

Edward Horner had the good fortune to kill a fine, fat 300-pound black bear Tuesday morning, near his home at Linden Hall.

Edward is a young man, nineteen years of age, but full of pluck as the story of his first bear-killing will reveal.

Some time Tuesday morning, George Swabb happened to notice a bear shambling across the fields near his house, and knowing that it would be a pleasure for young Horner to kill a bear this October, he gave his information to this young friend and neighbor. Horner first thought Mr. Swabb a joker, but on being assured that the black beast had really been seen, he loaded his gun with a buck shot shell and took lighter ammunition with him.

The youth hunted a long time without finding the bear or any evidences of one having been in the neighborhood, but he had confidence in Mr. Swabb as a man of truth, and continued his search, and that not without profit.

Finally bear tracks were visible, and Horner's heart began beating faster. He grew anxious to meet bruin, and in a short time did so. When the bear saw the young man he immediately began a retreat, and this was warning to a hunter of experience that bruin's skin must be punctured or lose his game. The charge of buckshot was sent into the bear's side, with no fatal result, but served the purpose of changing the direction of travel of the brute. Instead of retreating, bruin now charged the enemy and it was with no slow pace, either.

The youthful hunter realizing his position, hurriedly began to reload, but his gun refused to discharge the empty shell. After repeated efforts the gun was reloaded with bird shot, that being the only ammunition at hand.

While this was being done bruin had approached dangerously near, and, maddened with pain, he stood erect, and with a rush came at his antagonist to strike him down and devour him. These were precious moments to the young hunter, and he made the best use of them, for as the three hundred pounds of muscle wrapped in bear skin and directed by a savage brute advanced to within two guns' length, the charge of bird shot was sent into bruin's throat.

The bear was slain. Shortly there was a gathering of neighbors, who hastily performed an operation that converted the vicious brute into bear meat and a bear skin, and from the kettles of the whole neighborhood there now escapes the sweet odor of seething wild game.
