The Berwick Malleable Iron Plant has closed. Three hundred men are out of employment.

Sale Postponed.

Albert Bradford, of Farmers Mills, who had announced sale on October 27, has postponed the same indefinitely. He had been in Ohio and New Jersey, but found the positions offered him unsatisfactory, and consequently will remain at his former post until spring.

Yeagertown Church Dedicated.

A Methodist Episcopal church, at Yeagertown, erected at a cost of $3500, was dedicated Sunday, first of debt, by Rev. A. S. Baldwin, Presiding Elder of the Altoona district, assisted by Rev. E. J. Gray, of Williamsport, and Rev. J. M. Yeager, of Lewisport. The lot on which the edifice stands was a gift from James H. Mann.

Married at 77.

G. Armstrong Jacobs, of near Boalsburg, and Mrs. Katharine McElwain, of Howard, were married Thursday evening of last week at the home of the bride. Mr. Jacobs is seventy-seven years of age, and is well known in Centre Hall. The bride is ten years his junior. About twenty-five guests witnessed the ceremony. The Reporter extends its congratulations.

Fatally Injured on Saw Mill.

Edward Noll, while at work for the Surveyor's Run Lumber company, at Surveyor's Run, Clearfield county, last week, was so seriously injured by being struck by a board thrown from an edging machine that he died. He was a son of W. C. Noll, of Madisonburg, and was twenty-six years of age. His father and brother Thomas went to Clearfield and brought his remains to Madisonburg. A sorrowing widow is left to survive.

BITNER REUNION.

Children of Catharine Bitner Congregated Saturday Last Under Parental Roof.

The home of Mrs. Catharine Bitner, at Spring Mills, was enlivened last Saturday by the return of all her children and many of her grand children. The occasion was the seventy-sixth birthday of Grandma Bitner.

It was a great day for her. Her six boys were there. Two came from Nebraska and one from Millersville, Lancaster county, Pa. Both of her daughters were there to greet her and wish her many happy returns, one coming from Steubenville, Ohio. It was a great surprise for Mrs. Bitner.

The daughters and daughters-in-law prepared a sumptuous feast for the occasion, and everything possible was done to make the dinner resemble the time when all were boys and girls together at home.

After dinner the photographer was summoned, and took a picture of the happy group.

Four generations were present.

The children are: William B. and Robert U., Spring Mills; Joseph K. and Mrs. Susan C. Meyer, Penn Hall; Henry F., Millersville; James C. and Daniel N., Hastings, Nebraska, and Mrs. Blanche Long, Steubenville, O. The great grandchild present was Miss Helen, daughter of Harry and Blanche MacManaway, and grand-daughter of Jacob S. and Susan C. Meyer.

There was no lack of good cheer, hearty good will and pleasant reminiscence. The reunion will long be remembered as one of the brightest of days in the lives of each and all.

New Advertising Department.

The Reporter has opened a new advertising department for those wishing to sell stock, implements or any products of the farm, at private sale. Want advertisements of all descriptions will also be accepted.

The advantage of advertising is not fully appreciated by those who wish to sell at private sale. The investment of a small sum of money will bring your wares before a large number of people within a week's time, while otherwise you will be obliged to accept the price of a limited few who accidentally discover that you have a certain thing for sale.

The rate in this department will be uniform—twenty-five cents—and must be paid in advance to avoid book-keeping. The space covered will be five nonpareil lines, inserted two successive weeks. Position, always the eighth page.

LOCALS.

J. Frank Rearick, of Spring Mills, instead of stopping in Lewisburg as was stated in last week's Reporter, went on to Philadelphia, where for the present he will be found.

George P. Garver, of Philadelphia, a commission merchant, came to Centre Hall Friday afternoon to do a little gunning. While here he was the guest of H. W. Dinges, a cousin.

The brisk attack on snobbery that was a leading feature of the October Everybody's has been followed up in the November issue by a significant article on "Successful men who are not Rich."

What reform is there in the new ballot? The party column is there. X does the business. There is no reform whatever, except to reduce the size of the ballot. Independent voting is not made easier.

H. G. Strohmeier erected a tombstone at Farmers Mills to mark the burial place of Mrs. Mary A. Krape, who was the mother of Austin Krape, of this place, and Mrs. George C. King, of Spring Mills.

Do you want to sell a horse, cow, young cattle, buggy, wagon, potatoes, hay, corn, etc., or are you in need of anything? Advertise in the new advertising department of the Reporter. Price to all—twenty-five cents.

The Tyrone Times has this to say: Mrs. Will Wagner and daughter Helen, of Juniata, were guests at the home of V. C. Fortney, on Cameron avenue, on Friday. They were accompanied to Tyrone by Mrs. Wagner's sister, Miss Myra Kimport, who was on her way to her home in Boalsburg.

Hiram Lee, of near Bellefonte, was a caller Tuesday. Mr. Lee is tenant on the Milliken farm, but it is his intention to quit the farm and engage in other business. His chief complaint is the difficulty in securing help. This complaint is common with the farmers, and is one that is serious.

J. O. Stover moved his family from Potters Mills to Reedsville, Tuesday of last week. He is engaged in the Burnham works. The moving was an affair of considerable importance, and was attended by a large number of neighbors and friends. Fotters Mills lost a good citizen.

John H. Maize, while doing some carpenter work for Henry Keen, Monday of last week, fell off a porch roof, a distance of twelve feet, to the ground. He landed squarely on his heels and fell over on his back, jarring his body so severely that it was impossible for him to move. Dr. Frank, says the Millheim Journal, was immediately sent for and after examining him pronounced no bones broken, and at last reports Mr. Maize was getting along all right.

THE STAR STORE

ESTABLISHED 1889.

"It's all here and it's all true."

G. O. BENNER, Proprietor.

The buyer for the store, on the "Flat Iron Corner" at the station, has returned from New York, and you will now find on its shelves and counters such a load of bargains in new and up-to-date attractions as have never been brought to this valley. They consist of what will be found in any first-class general store. Many things were bought at less than the cost of manufacture and will be sold with our always small profit added. We shall call your attention to some of them, but for want of space it is impossible to quote nearly all. Many articles will be sold at half what you pay elsewhere. Bring this ad. with you and see everything. You work for the dollar. Save dollars by purchases made at the Star Store.

DEATHS.

MRS. SAMUEL D. MUSSER.

Mrs. Sarah Jane, wife of Samuel D. Musser, of Scranton, died Friday night from Bright's disease, aged fifty-eight years. Her remains were brought to Millheim Monday afternoon, and interment took place Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Musser's illness extended over a period of a year and three months. Immediately prior to her death she was in her usual health, having partaken of a hearty breakfast on the day she died. The deceased was a daughter of John Cantner, deceased, of Millroy, and is survived by her husband and three children, namely, Miss Mabel M., and Wallace, at home, and Marion, wife of Paul Shaffer, of Bellefonte. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. Mary Shoop, Centre Hall; Mrs. Margaret Kreis, Miss Marion Cantner, Scranton; Mrs. Ida McDonald, Lewistown; John Cantner, Washington, D. C.; James Cantner, Lewistown.

Mrs. Musser, wife of John Musser, died at Orangeville, Illinois, from the effects of paralysis. She was an aunt of Robert Musser and Druggist George F. Swartz, of Freeport, Illinois, and is known to the older people of this valley.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisers will please take notice that copy for change of advertisement must be in this office not later than Monday A. M. Tuesdays and Wednesdays are devoted entirely to gathering and putting in type local news matter, which forbids the setting of advertisements on those days. It will be to the best interests of the advertiser and the Reporter if this rule is strictly adhered to.

Corman's Store News.

A splendid line of Fall and Winter goods just received. Dress goods in great profusion. Serges and Zibelines in all the beautiful fall shades. English hosiery for all. Ladies' underwear in great variety at about half value.

My stock in jewelry is complete, and comprises everything in that line. Rag and Ingrain carpets, oil cloth and linoleum at astonishingly low prices.

Hats and caps, an endless variety of notions; insertions, embroideries, ribbons.

My expenses being light I can sell more goods for the same cash than other stores in town.

All kinds of produce wanted.

O. T. CORMAN, Spring Mills, Pa.
