DEATH OF WILLIAM COLYER,

Prominent Citizen of Centre Hall Passes

The readers of the Reporter who had formed an acquaintance with William Colyer will greatly regret to know that he passed peacefully away Monday afternoon. Mr. Colyer had been ill since the beginning of September, owing to a general collapse of his former great physical powers. During his illness'he frequently spoke of the fact that life with him would be short; dictated where his body should be buried and made many other preliminary arrangements for his funeral and suggested how matters should be conducted after death had claimed him.

The funeral services took place this (Thursday) a. m., the meeting at the house being at nine o'clock, and services at ten o'clock in the Lutheran church at Tusseyville, where interment was made. The services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Rearick and Rev. J. F. Shultz.

The pall bearers were D. J. Meyer, B. D. Brisbin, John J. Dauberman, Alfred Durst, W. W. Spangler, George

M. Boal. William Colyer was the son of Daniel and Mary (Humel) Colyer, and was bern in Potter township, on the Allen Farm, now occupied by Henry Lingle. His grandfather was a native of New England and his grandmother of German extraction.

The subject of this sketch left the parental home at the age of nineteen years, at which time he rented a house at Colyer. He afterwards purchased a house at that place for $650 which were house at that place for $650 which was the first real estate he owned. The property was shortly afterward destroyed by fire. Later he purchased a saw mill at Colyer, and the first year cleared $1,000. He continued to prosper, and as he accumulated capital he purchased timber land and extensively engaged in the lumber business. He built up and improved the little town of Colyer, which was named in his honor, and its growth and prosperity were due to the industries which he there established.

In 1894 Mr. Colyer removed his Fortney & Walker, Augraeys, E. Beilefonte, Pa., Aug. 10, 1903. tf. operations to Centre Hall, where he erected several dwellings, the Foreman & Smith grain house and coal sheds, and the saw mill, heading and planing mill which is now operated by Messrs. Brisbin and Bradford. Two years later he became a resident of Centre Hall, and has since lived here, all the while accumulating wealth which.
