BRADFORD HUNTING PARTY.

For Thirty Years the Bradford Party Has Been Killing Big Game.

The Bradford hunting party has been killing big game in the Seven Mountains for the past thirty years. About 1870 the party was formed with William Bradford, deceased, as the head. His six sons were prominent among the members. After the senior Bradford's death, the party was re-organized, and it is seldom now, as in former days, that some big game is not captured by one or more members of the party.

For the fall of 1901 the Bradfords have six deer to their credit, which were killed during seven days' hunting. Last year four deer was their score.

The Bradfords are in camp now at Slate Ridge, their old field, and the Reporter hopes to tell its readers of their good success in next week's issue. The names of the individuals composing the party follow.

George Bradford, Frank Bradford, Philip Bradford, Clyde Bradford, Albert Bradford, Frank Smith, Charles W. Slack, Charles B. Neff, Dr. J. K. Hosterman, Jacob Sharer, Samuel Koch, John Bohn, John Coble, John Kuhn, George W. Glace, Wm. Homan. John Kuarr, is chief cook.

Flobert Rifle Kills J. Hasson.

A Flobert rifle, accidentally discharged, caused the death of John Hasson, of Phillipsburg, Saturday. Mr. Hasson, who is eighteen years of age, was roofing a building for Hon. P. E. Womelsdorf, when several boys climbed on the roof to shoot mark. While engaged in the sport, one of the boys fell, the rifle was discharged and the ball penetrated Hasson's stomach. Several hours afterward the young man died.

Mountains on Fire.

Nittany Mountain between Zion and Hecla has a line of fire on both the Greens Valley and Nittany sides which extends from top to bottom and is gradually working its way east, destroying immense tracts of valuable timber land. The leaves being dead and not yet all off the trees, the flames will leap to the branches and burn the leaves from the limbs, causing a very picturesque scene and yet carrying destruction in its wake. The line of fire is too extensive to be controlled by human effort and a rain is hoped for.

How to "Frost" a Window.

If you want to shut off the view from any window, you can do it very cheaply by dissolving in a little hot water as much epsom salts as the water will absorb. Paint this over the windows while hot, and when dry you will have a very fair imitation of ground glass.

The State Board of Health.

The officers of the State Board of Health have shown praiseworthy vigor in dealing with the tolerated epidemic of smallpox in Allegheny City. The inefficiency of local authorities in a case like this not only imperils the community immediately concerned, but is a menace to all who have communication with it. If Allegheny City cannot, or will not, take measures for the control of a contagious disease, it becomes necessary to isolate it from the rest of the State by a rigid quarantine. The wide prevalence of smallpox in Pennsylvania is a disgrace to the State that should no longer be tolerated.

THE ABUSE OF SOCIETY.

A Titled Lady Makes a Few Pertinent Remarks on the Subject.

The abuse of society is a favorite occupation with most people who cannot force an entrance into it. It is not even new. Cynics and satirists, preachers and writers have waged war on social amenities all down the ages. We know how Daniel denounced the Babylonian court and how Horace revealed the profligacy of Augustan Rome. Every leader of a regenerating movement, whether it be St. Bernard exhorting to crusades, St. Francis teaching Utopian poverty or John Knox preaching reformation, has denounced the easy morals and the easier standard of the toleration of current society. The reformers of every age denounce their own contemporaries in accents of varying degrees of violence. Rousseau and Voltaire poured out diatribes from different points of view against the frivolous society which was cut off so abruptly by the guillotine, but their denunciations fell on deaf ears. "Nobody," said Talleyrand, "could have any conception of how pleasant society could be who had not lived before the French revolution." To reform those who will not be reformed is difficult. The grandmother of Ambrosine, holding a scented pocket handkerchief to her nose to keep off the odor of the crowd as she tripped to the guillotine, and Mary, queen of Scots, fawning in the face of Knox, exactly typify the attitude of all ages toward the Jeremiahs hammering at the portals of society.—A Countess in London Outlook.

Musk.

Musk in the raw looks a good deal like axle grease and smells worse. The popular notion that the musk of commerce is obtained from the muskrat is a mistake. There is obtained a somewhat similar perfume from the muskrat, but most of the supply comes from the musk deer, a creature that is carefully reared in India for the sake of the secretion. The secretion is shipped in the crude state and is used not only in the manufacture of the liquid perfume sold as musk, but also in very small quantities to give strength and staying power to many perfumes made from the essential oils of flowers.

Curiously enough, the blossoms of two native plants have a noticeably musky odor. One is the small yellow blossom of a creeping vine known as the musk plant. Its odor is marked and is counterfeited in the commercial perfume called musk. The other is the bloodroot. The pure white blossom of that early spring plant has a distinct though delicate musky odor. A bean known as the musk bean is a cheap substitute for animal musk.

How It Really Happens.

"Johnny," cautiously inquired Mr. Six-awake of her little brother when he called the other evening—"she" was putting the finishing touches to her toilet upstairs—"have you—er—does you—er—do you—er—ever hear your sister speak of me?" "You can't pump me," promptly replied Johnny. "I don't butt into my sister's business." Then Johnny picked up a shinney stick out of the hall rack and went out. "This is the way it happens in 999 cases out of 1,000, but the funnyists could never be clubbed into believing it.—Washington Post.
