

EVERY WALK IN LIFE.

A. A. Boyce, a farmer, living three and a half miles from Trenton, Mo., says: "A severe cold settled in my kidneys and developed so quickly that I was obliged to lay off work on account of the aching in my back and sides. For a time I was unable to walk at all, and every make-shift I tried and all the medicine I took had not the slightest effect. My back continued to grow weaker until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and I must say I was more than surprised and gratified to notice the back ache disappearing gradually until it finally stopped."

Two-Handed Stone Sledge.

Thirteen hundred stone sledge-hammers have been taken out of tunnels made by prehistoric men in the iron mines at Leslie, Ariz. They are made of black hematite and have no other finish than a groove about the middle of each, showing where formerly they were bound by the wibes to wooden handles. Greenstone and Jasper used by the aborigines for war axes were not hard enough to chip away the hematite and expose the pockets of red oxide of iron which the savage used as a paint. The form of some of these hammers shows that they were fitted with two handles, so that the operator could hold one in each hand.

Vaseline.

Everybody knows the great value of this remedy in the household, but everybody does not know that the imitations of it, which some second-class druggists dishonestly palm off on their customers, have little or no value. What should be understood by the public is, that it is not a mere question of comparative value between "Vaseline" and the imitations, but that the imitations do not effect the wonderful healing results of the world-renowned "Vaseline," and that they are not the same thing nor made in the same way. Besides this, many of the imitations are harmful irritant and not safe to use, while Vaseline is perfectly harmless.

Perfect safety, therefore, lies in buying only original bottles and other packages put up by the Chesbrough Manufacturing Co. Attention is called to their Capsicum Vaseline advertised in another column.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is not a permanent condition of the mucous surface.

THE KEYSTONE STATE

Latest News of Pennsylvania Told in Short Order.

Two tramps were taken into custody by coal and iron policemen at Delano on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of the stations of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway at Gilberton and Frackville. At the hearing before Magistrate Lewis, strong evidence was produced against them. The prisoners gave their names as James McFadden, of Tartown, Adams county, Pa., and Peter Davis, Terre Haute, Ind. As McFadden stood in court attention was drawn to a light blue overcoat which he wore. "Why, that's my garment," promptly declared Station Agent Burkheiser, of Frackville. "And it was stolen from the station a few nights ago." The prisoners were identified by Operator Matthews, of Gilberton, as the men who had been around the depot a few hours prior to the burglary here. Several witnesses swore that the prisoners endeavored to dispose of a large quantity of cigars and a roll of fresh goods at Park Place on the morning following the Gilberton robbery. The prisoners admitted this, but pleaded that they purchased the goods from another man early in the day. Magistrate Lewis committed the pair to the county jail in default of $2000 bail each. McFadden was identified by several officers as James Gallagher, formerly of Coaldale, who was several times convicted and imprisoned in Bloomsburg and Pottsville jails for similar offenses.

Four masked robbers battered down the doors of Henry Davis' farmhouse the other morning and through a ruse captured and bound the entire family. Davis was tortured, his feet being burned to extract a confession as to where he hid his money, of which he was reputed to have plenty. After breaking down the doors the robbers ran through the house carrying lighted newspapers and crying "Fire!" The members of the family rushed downstairs, the farmer coming first. He was caught and gagged and bound. Mrs. Davis and her two daughters were bundled in the same manner, all four being laid out in a row. The torturing followed. All the robbers got was a and some jewelry. After they left one of the daughters freed herself from the bonds and released the others.

Assistant Postmaster E. R. Dobbin, of Hollidaysburg, was attacked on the town's main street by a big black bear at 5 o'clock a. m. and severely injured. The animal suddenly approached Dobbin on his hind legs, placing his paws in his breast and pushing him to the ground. He managed to free himself from the bear's embrace and regain his feet. He then drew a revolver and fired several shots, which missed the mark, and the bear retreated. Dobbin's clothing was almost torn off his back and his body and limbs were lacerated. Jacob Buzzard, 35 years old, son of Abner Buzzard, now in jail at Reading awaiting trial on charges of stealing chickens, was arrested by Detective Martz. He is charged with having accompanied his father on his famous chicken thieving expedition on the night of November 6 last, which resulted in the capture of the elder Buzzard the following morning. Jacob is a cigar maker and lives in Mohansville, five miles from Reading. He says he is innocent.

Lancaster county will have a tobacco exhibit at the St. Louis Export Exposition, the like of which has never been made by any tobacco growing county in the United States. This was decided upon at a meeting of the joint committee of the County Growers' and Dealers' Associations. The committee met in consultation with Colonel J. H. Lambler, the executive officer of the Pennsylvania Commission and head of the State agricultural exhibit. Colonel Lambert said the commission would pay the lion's share of attention to Lancaster county in the way of tobacco, as the county raised from 45,000 to 20,000 cases, half or more of the State's entire crop.

Two burglars entered the chapter house of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity and went to the room occupied by Benjamin F. White, of Bradford, and William A. W. Grier, of Salem, N. J., two Bucknell University athletes. The intruders took $76 from the pockets of the students' clothes. Then they found and lighted cigarettes, which awoke the students, who started in pursuit of the fleeing burglars, chasing them a square in the snow robed only in their pajamas. The burglars got away.

Attorneys Rowland S. Morris, of Philadelphia, and John S. Billing, of Erie, in court at Erie, attacked the validity of four indictments made under State pure food law of 1885. Erie meat dealers were charged with using sulphite of sodium to preserve meat. One attorney moved that the prisoners be discharged, inasmuch as the law of 1885, which he claimed, repealed the law of 1885, did not include sulphite of sodium as poisonous.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW

General Trade Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Company's "Weekly Review of Trade" says: Seasonable temperature and holiday purchases stimulated retail trade, making results more satisfactory during the past week than at any recent date. Improvement was most conspicuous in heavy wearing apparel and kindred lines that have remained dull because of the mild weather. Another encouraging feature was the resumption of work at many mills, although there is still much idle machinery, especially in the textile and iron industries.

In view of the numerous wage reductions there is noteworthy harmony between employers and workers, indicating that labor leaders appreciate the necessity of sharing in the readjustment. Railway earnings for three weeks of November averaged 52 per cent. larger than last year. Failures this week numbered 258 in the United States, against 213 last year, and 14 in Canada, compared with 16 a year ago.

Bradstreet's says: Wheat, including flour, exports for the week aggregated 3,851,767 bushels, against 2,974,277 last week, 4,179,685 this week last year, 5,117,478 in 1901 and 2,497,880 in 1900.

HOUSEHOLD.

DAILY HINTS FOR THE TABLE.

Parsons are among the best of the tubers now in market. They are excellent cooked in several ways. Boiled and dressed with a cream sauce they are an excellent dish to serve with roast beef or roast mutton. To prepare them wash them thoroughly clean in cold water; then scrape the outer film off each one carefully and split it lengthwise in quarters; then cut each quarter in pieces about two inches in length. Put them in a saucepan with enough cold water, slightly salted, just to cover, and stand them over the fire, where they must cook gently till so soft they may be easily pierced with a sharp fork. When done drain the water from the parsnips, put them in a deep vegetable dish, pour a rich thick cream sauce over them, and serve.

AN ARTISTIC COUCH COVER.

A pretty couch has an exquisite coverlet of Swiss applique and Grecian net. This is quite an elaborate piece of work, but the house mistress who has skill and patience can develop almost the exact counterpart in some other lace. Let the foundation be of a nice quality of plain scrim. Nothing can be more appropriate for this purpose than scrim, with which Batt-berg makes an ideal combination. The dainty valance, with its lace points and the a work eye encircling the pillow helps to make up an engaging coverlet for the guest chamber. To go with a spread of Swiss applique window curtains of the same lace can be purchased in trillivawr and medallion designs—Detroit Free Press.

OPEN CHINA SETS.

China in open stock sets is one of the conveniences of the present day. The increasing prevalence of using several varieties of china for its service is largely responsible for the change. A woman who some years ago purchased a handsome dinner set now feels that if she used it alone she would make a poor showing before her guests.

Different plates are used for every course. The service plates are of particularly fine china. The plates for the meat course are of a simpler and more substantial design than those for the desert, and the after-dinner coffee is served in cups as delicate as can be found. In the larger establishments dinner is served from the butler's pantry. Many of the dishes used in a simpler menage where the roast and its accompaniments are placed on the table are not required in the former case. The needs of the different housekeepers are as varied as the houses in which they live.

It is no more expensive to have several different kinds of china than to have all the pieces alike. Open sets have made this possible. Within the last five years these have increased in size and number. Now there is practically no style of china that cannot be bought in open stock—Indianapolis News.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Unslaked lime or plaster of paris mixed with white of egg to the consistency of cream is said to produce an excellent home-made cement for mending broken china.

Ammonia diluted by the same amount of water will take ink stains out of white goods.

Where it is desired to hide a wash stand in a bedroom furnished as a living room a closet inclosure, with some bookshelves above is more effective besides more unusual than a screen.

Mourning wash goods are a little difficult to starch nicely. Boil one quart of clean wheat bran in three gallons of water for one hour. While still warm, strain through a cheese cloth, and wash the black muslin or linen in it. Use neither soap nor starch. Press while damp.

A little sweet oil applied to the bronzes after they are dusted, followed by a brisk rubbing with a chamois skin, will bring out their rich tones.

Hot salted vinegar will restore copper and zinc to their first lustre.

Vary the breakfast omelet by spreading on it before it is turned, minced ham or olives, cooked asparagus that has been run through a sieve, tart jelly or other relishes as they suggest themselves.

A fern dish stocked with native ferns and mosses is a delight through the winter because of its vacation-day reminders.

WHEN KIPING WAS HUNGRY.

His Unique Method of Calling Attention to the Facts.

Rudyard Kipling once visited the late Cecil Rhodes at Lekkerwijn, one of his fruit farms at Paarl, South Africa. One morning Rhodes went round his farm before breakfast, leaving his guest, who was not so energetic, behind. Time went on and Rhodes did not appear. Hunger soon urged Kipling to action and in a short while he was very busy on his own account. As Rhodes returned he found his trees bearing a new kind of fruit in the shape of placards inscribed with huge black letters with "Famine!" "We are starving!" "Feed us!" etc. On reaching the front door he was confronted with the following, in still larger type: "For the human race—Breakfast tones the mind, invigorates the body. It has sustained thousands; it will sustain you. See that you get it." Then, in the house, on every available wall, he came across other mysterious placards in more and more pathetic appeal: "Why die when a little breakfast prolongs life?" Larger and larger grew the type: "It is late; it is still later," leading at last into the little breakfast room, where he found Kipling reading his paper in peaceful innocence but very hungry. It did not need much ingenuity to guess the author of these broadsides.
