COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Co. says:

"Reports of increased trade are received from a few favored points, but the nation as a whole has not improved its commercial position during the past week, insofar as current distribution of merchandise or manufacturing activities are concerned. Prospects for the future have improved somewhat, however, on account of the progress made in agriculture. Unless the crops suffer an unusual setback hereafter it should be a good year for the farms, and all other industries will feel the stimulus. Lake traffic is seriously interrupted by the strike, but otherwise the labor situation is not alarming Leading branches of manufacture are extremely quiet, the recent slight gain in iron and steel having disappeared, and transporting interests are not equaling last year's results, railway earnings thus far available for May showing a decrease of 6.6 per cent.

"The only evidence of improvement in the primary market for cotton goods has been furnished by exporters, and the new business was only accomplished by further concessions in prices. Buyers of woolen and worsted men's wear have shown more interest, fairly numerous supplementary orders being placed.
