

THE KEYSTONE STATE

Latest News of Pennsylvania Told in Short Order.

There is to be no general suspension of the independent iron and steel mills controlled by the Amalgamated Association on July 1, as had been feared for some time, because of the failure to arrange a wage scale. By mutual agreement the representative of the association and the Republic Iron & Steel Company will hold another conference before the expiration of the present scale. If the latter meeting is barren of results another plan has been formulated to avert a strike. A conciliation board will be appointed to settle the matter. Each side will appoint one representative. The two will select a third. At a meeting to be called by the three members of the board representatives of each party directly interested will be permitted to offer testimony to show why their proposition should be accepted. After hearing the evidence the board will arrange a scale to be submitted to the contending parties. By this means it is hoped that a serious breach will be prevented. This will be the first time in many years that the failure to effect an agreement does not result in the closing of the mills.

Twelve merchants in the business part of Chester were surprised upon going to open their stores to find bundles in the doorways. Each package was neatly tied, but no address was on the outside wrapper. In each instance the package was found to contain old clothing. The merchants notified the police and after an investigation the owner of the property was found. A young man who is prominent in society and who started to clean house found several years' accumulation of old shoes, clothes and other wearing apparel. He did not wish to throw them away and so decided to place the articles in the doors of the stores of merchants with the hope that they would give them to persons who were in need.

The Supreme Court's decision affirming that of the Superior Court in the case of Hoover against the Pennsylvania Telephone Company settles the fact that telephone and telegraph companies do not have the right of eminent domain. Hoover owns a farm near Harrisburg and sought to restrain the telephone company from putting poles on it. The Dauphin County Court declared against him and the case was appealed to the Superior Court, which reversed the Dauphin County decision, and Hoover promptly cut down the poles.

Robbers visited the little village of Slaymakerstown, Salisbury Township, at an early hour the other morning, and entered the house of Mrs. Annie Brackbill, the widow of George O. Brackbill. Mrs. Brackbill and her daughter, Miss Edith, awoke to find three men at their bedside. Each man was heavily masked, and each drew a revolver and pressed it to the women's heads, threatening them with instant death if they made an outcry. The next demand was for the money in the house, and Mrs. Brackbill acceded by handing over about $7.

Each of the 900 or more public school teachers of Pittsburgh are circulating for signatures papers issued by the Teachers' Association appealing for the support of taxpayers in the movement to secure salaries that will compare favorably with those in other cities in the country of the same size as Pittsburgh. The teachers desire an increase averaging nearly 80 per cent. The highest salary paid teachers in the public schools in Pittsburgh, it is declared, is $13.46 a week while the lowest is $7.50 a week. These figures take into account the fifty-two weeks in the year. The petitions are being generally signed.

An engine whistle at Pottsville scared a horse attached to a buckboard containing W. R. McAdams, a railroad contractor, and Miss Carrie W. Perkin, niece of George W. Jones, a coal operator. The buckboard was overturned and the occupants were thrown to the street. Miss Perkin escaped with a few bruises and cuts. Mr. McAdams sustained bruises, cuts, a broken collar bone and two fractured ribs.

James G. Downward, the Chester County delegate to the Democratic National Convention, died at his home in Coatesville. Mr. Downward was in his 67th year. For more than a quarter of a century he was engaged in the manufacturing business. In court the borough of Conshohocken won a $5000 law suit, brought by Mrs. Mary Flynn for personal injuries, because Judge Swartz charged the jury that the borough is not responsible for every loose brick in the pavement. Mrs. Flynn alleged that she was injured by tripping over a depression in a pavement two years ago on a dark night. The borough showed that the alleged depression consisted of several "soft" bricks which had become thin and broken from age and wear.

The parents of Howard Esher, who was kicked to death by a mule in the Cameron colliery, Shamokin, sued the Mineral Railroad & Mining Company for $5,000 damages. A jury awarded them $717.

Judge Scott, in his charge to the Grand Jury, at Easton called attention to the difficulties resulting from the use of automobiles in that county and instructed the jurors in the respecting the use of automobiles. He also called the attention of the constables to the automobile law.

While cleaning a revolver, Anthony Reisher, aged 29 years, of Mt. Carmel, was accidentally shot in the abdomen and killed.

The Directors' and Teachers' Association, of the lower end of Montgomery County, held a banquet. The Committee of Arrangements included H. B. Harmer, Charles A. Wagner, G. W. Wiegley, S. J. Garner, W. R. Rahn, W. S. Campbell, Miss May A. Cloud and Miss Jennie Wickersham.

John A. Hornberger, of Leola while playing ball in Mechanicsburg, was hit by a pitched ball. He was rendered unconscious and taken home. He is suffering from severe concussion of the brain.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Company's "Weekly Review of Trade" says:

Current trade conditions are without change and collections continue slow as a rule, but there is growing confidence in the future, dealers exhibiting an inclination to prepare for Fall and Winter on a larger scale. There is still much complaint that the weather is unseasonable for retail distribution and payments are not prompt. Reports regarding the building trade are almost uniformly favorable, structural work increasing as the season advances, and transporting prospects are brighter on the lakes. Railway earnings, now practically complete for April, show a loss of 29 per cent. compared with last year, and surpasses the corresponding months of any preceding year. The decline in the cost of living has continued without interruption since March 1.

List prices for iron and steel products are maintained in most cases mainly because of agreements rather than the support of consumption. Demand is extremely limited. The only new business of importance was furnished by several large orders for cars, which provided a demand for plates, and a desultory movement of structural steel for railway bridge and buildings at Baltimore. Other lines of finished steel are quiet.

"Bradstreet" says: Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending June 9 aggregate 1,482,032 bushels; against 1,637,208 last week, 4,101,317; this week last year, 3,400,314 in 1902 and 4,791,107 in 1901. From July 1, 1903, to date they aggregate 129,411, 751 bushels, against 213,064,724 last season, 236,000,123 in 1902, and 201,274,014 in 1901. Corn exports for the week aggregate 54,510 bushels, against 327,166 last week, 824,815 a year ago, 94,081 in 1902, and 2,569,254 in 1901. From July 1, 1903, to date they aggregate 50,332,915 bushels, against 63,210,537 last season, 24,587,884 in 1902 and 166,580,169 in 1901.

WORLD OF LABOR.

Germany has 22 shipyards, employing 60,000 men.

PROBABLY NOTHING.

A man tried to get a pink fuchsia to grow in St. Petersburg, Russia. But always in vain.

"I'll be cried, in much pain: 'Will nothing, O fuchsia, induce me?'—Puck.

HIS FAVORITE SUBJECT.

"Doesn't your father ever talk to you about his Maker?" asked the Sunday school teacher.

"I guess he does," replied little Albert. "Pa claims he's a self-made man."—Chicago Record-Herald.

MIGHT HAVE RETORTED.

Mrs. Barker—Sarah Miller had the assurance to look me right in the face and tell me I was looking horrid!

Mrs. Snyder—You ought to have told her you didn't mind such reflections as that.—Boston Transcript.

UNCOMPLAINING SUFFERER.

Little Tidy—Don't you get awful tired don't nothin', Mister?

Languid Lannigan—Turbid, Sissy, but I never complain. Everybody has dere troubles.—Puck.

A ROMANCER.

"I see Jones is going to write a novel."

"I never thought he had imagination enough for that."

"The deuce he hasn't! He's been making out expense accounts for nearly eleven years."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

OUT OF HER LINE.

"So you were at Mrs. Marbrable's dinner yesterday, Flossie. What was the menu like?"

"I really can't tell you, for I didn't take any. It's a thing I very seldom touch."

THE POLITE BUTCHER.

Boy (in butcher's shop)—My mother sent me back to let you see what a big bone there was in the pound of beef she bought last night, and she wants another pound without bones.

Butcher—Tell your mother the next time I kill a cow without bones I'll send her a leg for nothing.

NOT AT HOME.

Mr. Borem—Could I see Miss Archer?

Maid—Faith, that's what she wuz wonderin' as ye come across the street.

Mr. Borem—Ah! Then she's in? Maid—Oh, no, she's out.—Philadelphia Press.

BRIGHTENING THE PAPER.

BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

Customer—But that umbrella looks so awfully cheap and common the price you ask for it is preposterous.

Dealer—My dear sir, that's the beauty of that umbrella. It's really the very best quality, but it's made to appear cheap and common so that no one would think it worth stealing.—Philadelphia Press.

AMONG THE LADIES.

"His wife must be the worst house-keeper in the world."

"Why so?"

"Why, her husband stated publicly that there wasn't a day in the year when he wasn't perfectly comfortable at home!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

EXPLAINED.

Water—You know the old saying "Care will kill a cat." Now, do you know what that means?

Naylor—It probably means if you don't take care when you're doing that sort of thing you'll get yourself in trouble with your neighbors."—Philadelphia Press.

WHAT HE WANTED TO SAY.

Roxley—I want to put a "personal" in the paper to recover a horse and buggy I lost.

Clerk—Ah! you mean an ad for the "Lost and Found" column?

Roxley—No. I want to say, "If the man who stole my horse and buggy to elope with my daughter will return said horse and buggy suitable reward will be paid."—Philadelphia Press.

TWO MINDS, ONE THOUGHT.

All the Circumstances Seemed to Point to a Single Conclusion. They sat together on the sofa, watching the dying embers. They had been silent for some time. He moved uneasily. It was apparent that something was on his mind. He looked at her furtively. She was a beautiful girl. He determined at last to make the plunge and turned his face resolutely toward hers.

"Dear," he said, "I am going to ask you a question that I have never asked before. I hope it will not shock you. You will notice by a glance at the clock that it is nearly midnight. There is not a sound in the house, and it is evident that your father and mother have both gone to bed. There is no one else to disturb us. All is serene. The gas overhead is turned down to the right point, and these embers shed just the correct glow. A soft, sentimental feeling that I have not been able to overcome has begun to steal over me. I hope it has over you. Now what I want to ask you is this: Considering all the circumstances I have mentioned, do you think it would be quite proper for me to kiss you?"

The beautiful creature at his side turned impulsively and laid a delicate hand on his arm.

"Do you want to know what I really think?" she said, earnestly.

"Yes."

"Then, considering everything, I don't think it would be proper for you not to kiss me."—Town Topics.

A Pointer for Candidates.

Two candidates for office in Missouri were stumping the northern part of the state, and in one town their appearance was almost simultaneous. The candidate last arriving happened to stop at a house for the purpose of getting a drink of water.

To the little girl who answered his knock at the door he said, when she had given him the desired draught and he had offered her in recompense some candy: "Did the man ahead of me give you anything?"

"Oh, yes, sir," replied the bright girl, "he gave me candy."

"Ah!" exclaimed the candidate, "there's 5 cents for you. I don't suppose that he gave you any money?"

The youngster laughed merrily. "Yes, he did, too. He gave me 10 cents!"

Not to be outdone, the candidate gave the little one another nickel, and, picking her up in his arms, kissed her.

"Did he kiss you, too?" he asked, genially.

"Indeed, he did, sir!" responded the little girl, "and he kissed ma too!"—Collier's Weekly.

The Development of Nevada.

No state in the Union has so long and so badly needed an increase of population as has Nevada, says the National Geographic Magazine. Her population of 42,000 to-day is less than it was in 1870, six years after her admission as a state. It is gratifying to know, therefore, that she will more than double her present numbers when the vast government irrigation works begun on the Truckee and Carson rivers are completed.

It is estimated that the works will make productive about 375,000 acres of sage brush desert in the western part of the state. These lands will furnish fertile homesteads of about eighty acres each for 4,500 families. Towns and villages will naturally spring up, so that Nevada may expect from the reclamation an increase of 60,000 at the least.

Immense Circular Saw.

The largest circular saw in the world has just been made in Philadelphia. It is seven feet four inches in diameter, and will be used to cut pine stumps into shingle bolts.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are cured by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CENKES & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

FALL OF A GRIZZLY BEAR.

Without an Instant's Warning Tractable Beast Kills His Trainer. Another distinct type of a zoo rogue is the beast that goes wrong owing to accidental temptation—like Shaggy, an exceedingly intelligent, tractable Rocky Mountain grizzly who reverted to savagery and turned man-killer in a twinkling, owing to the unfortunate misstep and fall of his trainer.

Shaggy was a big, handsome, gray old fellow, with a jungle-thick coat and a lumbering, awkward gait, and a funny twinkle that made him particularly adaptable for his part of clown in a remarkably trained group of fourteen bears. He had come under the hands of his teacher when but a helpless cub, had never lost his liking for caresses, and, although the mightiest oast in the collection, was least suspected of being dangerous. Once, when a striped hyena hung to the ankle of his friend, he had run to the rescue, and cut loose right and left with his ponderous fore paws, and had bitten and torn and mangled the ugly beast to death before he could be beaten off. Among his accomplishments were that of turning admirably grotesque somersaults and the more difficult feat of balancing himself on his hind leg on a three-foot wooden sphere.

Not a scratch or a scar had his trainer to show for the years of work he had put in with the bear. And yet, without an instant's warning, this same beast attacked and injured his master so that, when rescued, he was semi-demented, and so dreadfully cut and lacerated that the surgeons decided it useless to try to save his life.

GERONIMO IN OLD AGE.

He is No Longer Looked Upon as a Chief by the Apaches. Geronimo was at Lawton last week. The health of the old chief is still good, although he is very aged. His home is ten miles from Lawton, yet he usually walks to and from the place to do his trading.

He is quite often asked to give an exhibition of his skill as a marksman with the bow. This he readily consents to do provided a nickel is made the target and it becomes his own in case he hits it.

Geronimo denies the statement of Gen. Miles that the general captured him. The old warrior says that some where up on the mountains, when he was on the warpath, two white men came to him and told him that Gen. Miles wanted to see him.

The men accompanied him to the camp of the general and he was made a prisoner. Geronimo says he thinks it was in Arizona, the territory of his birth. Anyway, he says it was up in the mountains.

The tribal relations of the Apaches have been dissolved, and they no longer look upon Geronimo as their chief. They consider him a childish old man, who is too senile to advise them.—Wton Democrat.

Not Ready for His Coffin.

Engineer Minamisawa was wounded in a sea battle, where he distinguished himself on board the Kasumi. On his arrival at Sasebo, "I was astonished to find," remarked the officer with a great deal of amusement, "three coffins brought and to hear some one calling out: 'Where is the corpse of Engineer Minamisawa?' I am that corpse," he howled in reply.
