LOCALS.

Mrs. Alice Bloom, of near Lemont, had a serious attack of appendicitis recently. A district Sunday School convention will be held in Rebersburg, Tuesday, 25th. The best matrimonial combination is a bride with a warm, soft heart and a groom with a cool, hard head. McCalmont & Co. advertise farm machinery in this issue. See their adv. in reference to binder twine.

Mrs. Emmanuel Kerstetter, of Coburn, has suffered two paralytic strokes, both, however, of a mild form, from which she has almost recovered. The college township school directors organized by electing John H. Shuey, president; G. W. Ralston, secretary, and Samuel Glenn, treasurer.

Among the sick at Penn Hall during the past month was Charles Burrell, son of Spear Burrell, of Penn Hall. He was a sufferer from appendicitis, but is recovering. Farmers are beginning to see that the grass in many fields is rather short. There is a good set, but it appears to fall to lengthen. The crop, however, undoubtedly will be good.

Mrs. W. H. Swartz, of near Centre Hall, was the delegate from the Centre Hall society to the Woman's Missionary Convention of the United Evangelical church which met at Lewisburg.

Rev. Frank E. Lauffer, pastor of the Aaronburg Reformed charge, has earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, having taken a post graduate course at Calvin College, Grandview, Ohio.

Lincoln Steffens, of McClure's staff, in spite of his years of newspaper work, declares that he is a "journalist." "I am a reporter," he says, "yet not a newspaper reporter, so I think that I must be a journalist."

Perry O. Stiver, editor of the Freeport (Illinois) Bulletin, is one of the Democratic delegates to the St. Louis convention. Mr. Stiver is one of the young men who retained his early political training received in South Potter township.

Weber, a special apprentice in the Altoona shops, is also at the Weber home, having come here to attend the commencement exercises at State, of which institution he is a graduate, and on account of the illness of his father prolonged his stay.

S. P. Hoekman, of Mingo, was a caller Monday, and had his name placed on the Reporter's subscription list. Mr. Hoekman came to Centre Hall for Al. Osman, who will do the brick work on a dwelling house being erected in Hublersburg for Miss Sophia Rockey, which is being superintended by Mr. Hoekman. This will be the first brick building in Hublersburg. The wood work is being done by the Hagen Brothers, Farmers Mills.

The Mifflinburg Telegraph has this to say of a lady who some years ago lived west of Centre Hall: The many friends of Mrs. Nathaniel Boob, who resides near town, will regret to learn that on last Saturday morning she was stricken with apoplexy of the right side. A messenger was dispatched on horse back, as fast as the steed could travel, to the office of Dr. J. C. Steans, who immediately responded to the call and did all that medical skill could suggest for her. At this writing she is getting along as well as can be expected.

They May Come.

Voting machines may come into use in the State of Pennsylvania. An effort will be made at the next session of the legislature to have a bill enacted which will permit the use of the machine at the future elections. Governor Stone, it will be remembered, vetoed a similar bill. The argument against the machine was the expense of purchasing, which will cost something like $500 each. There are many arguments, however, in favor of the voting machine, one of which is that with the machines fraud is almost impossible, and the result of an election in each voting district can be ascertained immediately after the polls close, as the machine is self-registering.

A Constitution Muzzler.

As the Federal Constitution provides that the Governor of a State may fill a Senatorial vacancy by an appointment, which only holds good "until the next meeting of the Legislature," there will be an interregnum from January 3, 1905, until January 19—sixteen days—in which Pennsylvania will only have one Senator during the sitting of Congress.

Thus it will be seen that Governor Pennypacker will have managed to defeat the intent of both the Federal and State Constitutions by creating a temporary vacancy—a contingency which the makers of the Constitutions had sedulously sought to avoid.

But no statesmanlike forethought or prevision could have anticipated the antics of Samuel W. Pennypacker. Has he not written that neither in thought nor in language did the Pennsylvania Constitution-makers show the careful deliberation that ought to have been exercised in order to hold him in the traces?

LOCALS.

John Sanders is home nursing a sore hand, caused by a lath striking it and penetrating the flesh.
