this place, but at present located at Tionesta, Pa., is circulating among friends here, this week. He is making sales for the company representing the International Encyclopedia.

Next Sunday evening, June 24th, Rev. McIlnay will deliver the annual address before the I. O. O. F., of this place.

Miss Mabel Allison is spending this week with friends in Bellefonte. S. H. Condo and family spent Sunday with relatives near Coburn. Mrs. P. H. Meyer and son Robert, of Bellefonte, spent a few days last week at the home of C. A. Krape. Wm. Musser, who is employed in the Altoona car shops, spent last week a Russian Theater with forty actors at the home of his father, R. D. Musser.

Mrs. S. A. Krape, after spending two weeks with friends and relatives in Centre county, left for Altoona, her home, last Saturday. She was accompanied by her two little nieces, Sarah and Edna Neff, of Millheim, who will visit her for a few weeks.

Dr. H. S. Braucht bought a very fine new horse last week ; he now has three splendid travelers.

as ordinary fabrics are astonishing sights done before the eyes of the spec-tators by the Wizards of the Glass Weaving Palace. It is amusement and education combined.

There was an Old St. Louis. It is revived by historic dwellings, town halls and block houses of the time of Laciede and Chouteau, founders of the Exposition City. The whipping post, the trading station with a motley crowd of Indians, trappers and thrifty housewives of the frontiers furnish the living interest.

Paris is a lively reflection of the gay center of fashion and amusement. Iu a theatre of gold and mirrors, opera is sung, the fun of the Cafe Chantants waxes fast and furious. Bohemians read their poems in the Cabaret Bruant, knights in armor tilt in tournaments and a street of old provincial architecture shows the France of long

Ancient Rome is represented by a street of the Augustine period of architecture filled with life typical of that age. In an ampitheatre, seating twelve thousand persons, gladitorial combats and sports of the hippodrome, make a strong contrast to the burning mountain of Kilouea, in the Hawaiian Islands with its Spirit of Fire.

Creation carries the spectator back to the beginning of time. In a gro-tesque craft, on a canal of water one thousand feet long the visitor glides backward through twenty centuries around a dome of one hundred and fifty feet in diameter, ending in the immense shell where a Voice repeats the Divine commands of Genesis. Out of a void of steam clouds the world is ancient place. peopled with growing nature and living things.

A history of fashion from a period of the early Roman colonies to a reign of the Paris gown is shown in the Palais du Costume by a series of living ta- rinth of mirrors, the Great Observa-Rev. Illingworth, a former pastor of bleaus in settings of the respective ages. The gowns used in the display were imported from Paris and cost $100,000. The display would not be complete without the history of the coiffure.

Babies are the joy of the earth so that the Infant Incubator becomesjan intensely human display of the actual incubation of tiny living fledgings. The infants are seen through the glass doors of their strange nests where they remain for forty days. They are fed in public every two hours by trained nurses.

A real locomotive and train of Puliman coaches steam out of a Siberian Railway station and dashes for hundreds of miles through beautiful Siberian scenery, stopping at cities and way places. The illusion is perfect. A Russian Village with living natives, Khedive. Every detail is produced with great fidelity, both architecturally and in its native population.

China brings to the Pike its joss houses and temples of bamboo, a theater in which native play-rs give genuine drama of Cathay. Silk weavers ply ancient looms, ivory carvers are making small elephants, fogs and cats. In a cafe Chinese waiters and cooks provide the celestial banquets. Dwarf trees no larger than a wee baby the village in twenty minutes, a feat beyond the explorers. The feature of this show is an Atlantic liner, 500 feet long by 80 feet wide, with every appointment of the modern ocean going vessel. She is manned by a captain and crew. The illusion is carried out in a theater connected with the ship by gang planks.

The Boer war is fought over again in a mammoth arena of rugged hills. The ground is the natural forest land of the Exposition site. Here are produced the Battles of Colenso where the British under General Buller were held in check and the Battle of Baardsburg, resulting in the capture of General Cronje, the lion of South Africa. General Cronje in person and General Viljoen lead the Boers and Canadian soldiers under the command of Major Ross of the British Army.

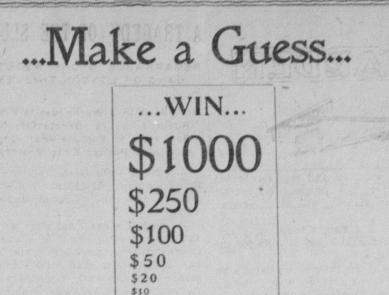

The Indian Congress includes 750 warriors representing 61 American tribes, led by famous chieftains whose names are familiar in school histories. It is the greatest assembly of Red men that has ever been made. Every Indian dance given by the various natives will be seen in this show which includes the Rough Riders of the world and many border pastimes now fast passing into obscurity.

Jerusalem is a remarkable open air reproduction of the Holy City. It covers, 11 acres, contains 300 houses and 22 streets and has a native population of 1100, including Moslems, Jews and Christians, Replicas of the Mosque of Omar, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre the Jews Walling Place, the Via Dolorosso, with the Nine stations of the Cross are shown exactly as they exist to-day in Palestine with all of the daily life of the supposed to have taken their wedding trip last week, to the state of New York. They returned Saturday evening.

A wireless telegraph tower 200 feet high is the Exposition sending station of the American De Forest Company. It will also be used as an observatory. The Temple of Mirth, a labytion Wheel, lifting the sightseers 260 feet above the Exposition ; the Statisticum which establishes astonishing comparisons by startling contrasts; the latest inventions in moving pictures and a new sort of Water Chute are other features of the Pike; the Golden Chariot, Bohemia and the longest Scanic Railway in the world, an anthracite Coal Breaker, the South Dakota Crystal Cave an operating Pottery, Grant's Log Cabiu, and Linoin's Log Cabin, aithough not on the Pike come under the general head of amusements.

B. Breon, D. Breon and B. Shaffer started for the woods to peel bark.

Eleven sections of the famous Bazaars of Stamboul are faithfully reproduced from sketches by an aid-de-camp Taylor, visited his family here for a few days last week; Mr. Condo looks Dike is that of the Mosque of Nouri Osmaneh. Narrow tortuous streets are crowded with Turkish merchants crying their wares, donkeys and the fighting dogs of Constantinople dodge between the spectators. The Esquimau is seen in his envi-ronment of icebergs and polar landscape, living in huts of reindeer skin. The celebrated Alaskan sledge dogs Quite a heavy shower passed over draw the visitor through an ice colonbat between Esquimaux and Polar bears is the exciting climax.

Fifty thousand gallons of water are hurled into the air every minute in by boat around a circular waterfall, a plunge into a seething maelstrom and a glide within waterfalls 40 feet high, around a solid column of water thrown 60 feet above the heads of the passengers.

Echoes of a lost race are beheld in the Cliff Dwellers. A frowning sec-tion of the caves in the stone age in Mancos Canyon, Colorado, rises 60 feet above the Pike. Burrors ascend the trails with visitors, pueblo village of Zuni and Moki Indians perform the dramatic snake dance, the dance of masks and the poetic flute dance.

Battle Abbey is the largest cyclorama ever constructed. It contains plastic reproductions of the Battles of Gettysburg and Manasas, the Custer Massacre, the Battles of Yorktown and New Orleans, Buena Vista and Manila, prejudice or misrepresentation.

Blockade runners are destroyed, the enemy's ships are sunk by torpedoes and shells. There is a general engagement between the war vessels and the Ante-bellum days of the Southland are revived in the Old Plantation. Darkies in the cotton fields, mammies making corn pones and hoe cakes, pickaninnies scant of clothing, all re-vel in the true African idleness in the sunshine of the planters' fields

The great disaster which overwhelmed Galveston in September 1900 is viv-idly reproduced with startling effects. A bay of real water, an extraordinary sunset and moonlight, a storm that shakes the stoutest nerves, the inundation of Galveston by the tidal wave, with the sbriek of wind, crash of thunder and lightning is succeeded by the restoration of the stricken city. Fire fighting achieves its greatest spectacular heights in the burning of a six story block, the thrilling race of Irvin Kern and Elmira Auman are an expert crew holding the world's record for quick work and the rescue of living persons from the flames. An exhibition of fire apparatus hundreds of years old is an interesting feature of the exhibit.
