Snake Entreats Babe in Hammock.

Mrs. Peter Bellick, of Williamsburg, Blair county, went to Marklesboro mountain to pick berries, taking with her an infant which she placed in a hammock between two trees. Hearing the infant scream she hurried to it and found a large black snake coiled about the body of the child. Frantic, she tore the snake from the little one and killed it. It measured five feet.

Off for Camp.

Company B, 5th Regiment, N. G. P., left Friday morning in a special car attached to the 9.53 train enroute to Gettysburg where they will attend the division encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard. The company was in charge of Capt. Hugh S. Taylor and Lieut. S. D. Gettig, and they presented a fine appearance. 1st Lieut. Philip Garbrick accompanied the detail to Gettysburg on Thursday.

Capt. Taylor's company is one of the best drilled companies in the state having an average above 98 per cent.

Geo. Durst Farm Sold.

George Durst recently sold his farm to H. E. Homan, of Oak Hall. The Durst farm is located about three miles east of Centre Hall, and contains one hundred and twenty-five acres, has good buildings on it, and is in a high state of cultivation, being one of the most desirable farms in Penna Valley. The price paid was $65.00 per acre, which is called a good bargain for the purchaser.

Mr. Homan, it is understood, will move from the Murray farm, near Oak Hall, which he also owns, to his new possessions, next spring. Mr. Durst is quoted as saying that he desires to purchase a small farm for his son, Howard Durst, who at present occupies the Durst homestead.

WILL USE SLAG FOR BRICKS.

Lewistown Firm Will Utilize Waste Piles of Abandoned Furnaces.

The slag piles of the Glamorgan furnaces, near Lewistown, abandoned at the same time as the Pennsylvania Canal, are to be utilized in the manufacture of bricks.

There are thousands of tons of the waste, and a local company has been chartered, with a capital stock of $40,000, to manufacture bricks from crushed slag by what is known as the sand-lime process.

Slag bricks have stood the test of builders and architects at a temperature of 2500 degrees Fahrenheit, and did not crumble when dipped in cold water. Twenty-four hours after the slag is crushed the bricks are completed. A crusher has been placed on the ground and the plant will have a daily capacity of 20,000 bricks.

LOCALS.

D. J. Meyer and son Prof. J. D. Meyer, last week drove to Logantown to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, of Bellefonte, parents of J. Will Smith, in this place, were his guests over Sunday.

Newton Yarnell, tenant on the farm of D. J. Meyer near Linden Hall, has stored nearly one hundred four-horse loads of hay.

N. B. Spangler, Esq., and wife, of Bellefonte, Sunday were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. E. W. Crawford, in this place.

William Groh Runkle, Esq., of Bellefonte, Sunday drove through Centre Hall on the way to his former home, on the South Side of the valley.

The Lohr family asks the Reporter to return thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so kindly rendered assistance during the illness of Father Lohr.

Henry G. Davis, Democratic candidate for Vice-Presidency, never fails to write a letter on each day to his bachelor brother, Tom. He also receives a daily letter, and for forty years they have kept up this practice.

Rev. H. S. and Mrs. Deitzel, of Maytown, Lancaster county, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Durst, the latter's parents, for their usual summer vacation. Rev. Deitzel's vacations are enjoyed here alike by himself and his many friends.

Mrs. L. Ray Morgan and son Louis, of Philipsburg, for a week are guests of the former's sister, Mrs. S. W. Smith. Before returning home Mrs. Morgan will visit Boalsburg and State College, and witness the marriage of Miss Musser, at the latter place.

Curtis Meyer, of near Lemont, received a severe cut on the nose by coming in contact with a harpoon fork. The fork, after being relieved of its burden, swung around and struck Mr. Meyer, who was working in the mow.

The report that Charles A. Krape, of Spring Mills, had sold his farm, east of Centre Hall, to Louis Rosman is incorrect. The gentlemen had been dickering, but no sale was made. Mr. Krape thinks he has too good an investment to part with at the price offered.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Baumgardner and family, of State College, are camped on Nittany Mountain, having located there Monday and will remain for a week. Mr. Baumgardner is the laundryman at State College, and is well known to many of the citizens of Centre Hall.

That Everybody's Magazine really has the biggest "scoop" of the era in Thos. W. Lawson's "Story of Amalgamated" is abundantly shown by the first installment of the series proper which is in the August number. The foreword was portentous with promise of startling disclosures.

McClure's midsummer fiction number for August is simply a marvel of modern magazine making. In past years McClure's has made a great record with its fiction numbers, but the issue of this year surpasses all others. In both text and illustration it fixes the standard of excellence.

While tent caterpillars, in vast numbers, are denuding ornamental and fruit trees of their beautiful foliage in many sections of this state, the plague has not put in an appearance in Penna Valley. The apple orchard is receiving more attention each year by local land owners, and in view of the fact that this particular insect promises to be one of the chief enemies in the future, the apple grower should study the bulletin issued by Prof. Davis, which will be sent free by applying to the State Agricultural Department.

One of the most pleasurable social events was enjoyed Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Meyer, the occasion being the sixty-first anniversary of the former's birth, and the participants being twelve or fifteen close personal male friends. The affair was planned during the absence of Mr. Meyer, and the unceremonious introduction to his guests he received, was ample proof that the scheme had worked to perfection. After enjoying, to its fullest extent, the daintily prepared dinner, the guests expressed their good feeling toward, and qualities of, their host by the use of numerous adjectives. The pipe of peace was passed and an hour spent in social chat before the little party disbanded.

DEATHS.

WILLIAM LOHR.

Friday, at noon, William Lohr, the oldest male resident of Centre Hall, passed to the beyond. Mr. Lohr had lived near Centre Hall for many years, and during the past twenty-three years lived in the borough. ODD FELLOWS' ORPHANAGE.

New Plan is to Build Dormitories, Administration Building, Etc., Separately.

The semi-annual meeting of the directors of the Central Pennsylvania Odd Fellows' Orphan Home at Sunbury was held at the Orphanage recently.

Great interest centered in the meeting as the directors will abandon the plans for a large new building which have been under discussion for a year. The plans provided for an immense $30,000 structure with heating and lighting apparatus underneath. Careful thought has convinced the directors that this will be dangerous, and that fire, against which there would not be sufficient protection, might occasion the total destruction of the building, and, besides that, loss of life.

A new plan, which was adopted, is to build separate buildings for boys' dormitories, girls' dormitories, administration building and heating, lighting and laundry department. These plans would demand $40,000 to carry them through. While that amount is not available at once, it is pointed out that the administration building could be erected later, and the other work pushed to completion at once.

The Orphanage is overcrowded, there are many applicants for admission who cannot be cared for, and enlarged quarters are necessary to carry on the good work, which is one of the noblest charities in the State.

The Grand Lodge has given permission to use the old building as a home for indigent Odd Fellows and their wives. This home will be established when the new buildings are completed.
