Report of Grand Jury.

To the Hon. John G. Love, P. J., of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre county:

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring in and for the county of Centre in all matters relating to the same do respectfully report:

That they have acted upon thirty-two bills of indictment, of which twenty-four were found true bills and eight ignored. We beg leave further to report that we have visited and inspected the county buildings and find the jail kept in a clean and orderly condition. We found the cells in the jail very well kept, but we recommend that the hinges on the steel cells Nos. 7 and 8 be placed on the outside of the cells, we mean that they should fasten to the doors and walls outside instead of inside.

We further report that the floors in the jail are showing considerable wear and weakening in places, and would respectfully call the attention of the County Commissioners, or proper officers to look into this matter. We would further recommend that the small openings and crevices about the windows and gratings in the steel cells No. 7 and 8, be closed so that occupants of these cells will be unable to secrete matter that may be secretly given them. We further recommend the replastering of the jail walls around the yard inside. We find the landing at the rear entrance to Court room in bad condition.

We thank the Honorable Court and District Attorney for courtesies shown us during our sitting.

Court News Continued From Local Page.

Tuesday morning the grand jury ignored the following bills of indictment and placed the costs on the prosecutors:

Commonwealth vs. Daniel Sones; assault and battery; prosecutor, Max Sulzberg.

Commonwealth vs. Harrison Stine; assault and battery; prosecutor, Oscar Viard.

Commonwealth vs. Daniel Stine; assault and battery; prosecutor, Charles Viard.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Charles Viard, Hilory Viard and Oscar Viard, charged, 1st count, resisting an officer; 2nd, assault and battery; prosecutor, Daniel Stine.

From the evidence on the case it appears that on May 18th last Chief of Police Stine, of South Phillipsburg borough, attempted to arrest the above defendants for an offense committed by them in violation of an ordinance. The defendants resisted arrest and overpowered the police and a "scrap" followed.

At 11:10 a. m. the case of Commonwealth vs. George Henderson, who was indicted for larceny and also for jail breaking, was called. The defendant entered plea of guilty of larceny and jail breaking and escape.

The Viards were found guilty of assault and battery, and sentenced by the court as follows: Hilory Viard to pay a fine of $15.00, committed to jail for sixty days and costs of prosecution. The other two defendants were sentenced to pay a fine of $20 each and costs of prosecution.

Dominic Constance, charged with felonious arson, was then taken up for trial. The prosecutor was David Rothrock, of Benner township. District Attorney Spangler was assisted in this case by Col. W. F. Reeder and Col. E. R. Chambers. The defendant was represented by H. C. Quigley and W. Harrison Walker. The challenging of the jury took up the balance of the Tuesday morning session and court adjourned until the afternoon.

Miss Prudence Swartz returned from New York City after an absence of eight months.

THE PENNSYLVANIA EXHIBIT.

From the Pittsburg Post.

The Philadelphia "North American" makes a charge that "Pennsylvania's agricultural exhibit at the St. Louis world's exposition has been a fraud, a hypocritical shame, an insult to the farming interests and a disgrace to the whole State." In support of this charge it presents a number of specifications. The first of these is that Pennsylvania's share in the agricultural exhibit at the exposition was made up largely of $17.60 worth of seeds and grain purchased from the St. Louis Seed Company, which were arranged in the shape of a keystone and labeled "Pennsylvania Products." In support of this charge a copy of the itemized bill for the seeds is printed. Another specification is that Pennsylvania farmers were given no adequate opportunity to make a complete display of the agricultural products and resources of the State. It is also alleged that whiskeys, brandies and other liquors, distilled for the most part in Illinois, occupied a prominent part in the exhibit, and that much space in the latter was given up to displays of patent breakfast foods manufactured outside of Pennsylvania.

The State, it is charged, appropriated $15,000 for the agricultural exhibit, and the money has nearly all been spent extravagantly and uselessly, and without securing a proper exhibit. Five thousand dollars were appropriated for a horticultural exhibit, which was also a failure. Governor Pennypacker is said to have been informed of the facts some time ago, but nothing has been done to make the Pennsylvania agricultural and horticultural exhibits a credit to the State.

It is not surprising that such a scandal should have developed. Indeed it would have been a surprise if a large amount of the money appropriated by the State for the St. Louis exposition had failed to be squandered or to find its way into the pockets of some of the adherents of the State machine without any adequate return. That machine is so corrupt that whatever it touches it defiles. It has already made the name of Pennsylvania a byword and a reproach throughout the Nation. That it should have taken occasion to advertise its shame at the great international exposition at St. Louis shows how utterly devoid of all sense of decency and patriotism its members are.

The power of human personality is strongly impressed on the reader of the September number of The Book-Lovers Magazine. Lightning was much in evidence about the home of Ex-Commissioner George L. Goodhart, of near Centre Hall, during a storm that raged in that vicinity Thursday of last week, when a bolt struck a large tree near his house. Ex-Sheriff Brungart is much elated over the fine returns of an acre or more devoted to trucking. An inspection of his lots to the rear of his dwelling will convince any one that they have had the best possible attention, and that the product of an acre planted to onions, potatoes, beans, corn, etc., is much more than is supposed even by people who have devoted a whole life to tilling the soil, unless they have at some time kept a strict account.
