Much praise is due to the committee for the beautiful decorations. Not only members of the committee but other friends of the cause contributed liberally of their floral treasures which were massed about the pulpit and choir gallery with magnificent effect. A beautiful C. E. banner done in colored crayons, was the gift to the convention of Mrs. G. E. Thomas and was highly appreciated.

After a few remarks by the president, the convention closed with a consecration service conducted by Mr. Stanley Bergen.

McManigle Found.

James B. McManigle, the Millroy business man who wandered away on Sunday afternoon, August 28th, while laboring under the hallucination that he was State Forestry Commissioner, has been found. For eight days he wandered about on the Seven Mountains in Millin and Centre counties, subsisting entirely on apples. The spot where he was found is many miles from any habitation or traveled road.

LOCALS.

Thus far September weather has been very fine.

If you have printing to do, send it to the Reporter office.

The family of J. H. Krumbine will leave today (Thursday) for their new home in Vintondale.

Miss Verna Durst, a substitute operator in the Bell telephone exchange, is filling that position at present.

Maggie Elmer, a pert little Miss, of Spring Mills, last week visited her uncle, J. W. Whiteman in this place.

Lumberman E. M. Hayett contemplates building a new porch. It will be large and handsome. The work will be done by the Hagen Brothers.

Merchant H. F. Rosman, of Spring Mills, in his advertisement announces that he has returned from the city and that their fall goods are now on hand.

Photographer W. W. Smith has returned from his southern trip, and as announced elsewhere in this issue, will be at his Centre Hall studio Friday of this week.

J. F. Stover, of Centre Hill, in another column announces sale of his personal property, Saturday, 17th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Stover will move to Treveskyn, near Pittsburg.

A girl who doesn't want to marry had better stay away from a telephone exchange. Rumor has it that one of the Bell operators has decided to quit the business. No more to be said at this time.

Out of town pupils are admitted to the borough High School at the rate of $2.00 and to the lower grades at $1.50 per month. Young people who want to take the higher branches are offered an opportunity to do so at this very low rate of tuition.

An exchange, in noting the accidental wounding of a man, said: "He was shot in the east end." If the paper had stated which direction the man was going when he received the shot it would be an easy matter to locate the wound.

J. Lloyd Brown, of near Linden Hall, was in town Monday. He is one of the active farmers in his community, but always finds time to call at the Reporter office when a change of date on his label would indicate that he's "up."

Dr. R. G. Van Valzah, of Spring Mills, was a caller last week. In another column he advertises for sale the farm west of Centre Hall, generally known as the Heckman farm. It is a very desirable place, and will be sold at a bargain. See the adv.

Mason John R. Strong, of Potters Mills, was employed by the borough authorities to do a bit of wall building at Laurel Spring. To look at his work, one might come to the conclusion that it was a filter he had built, but not so—the cement was faulty.

Miss Edna Murray, one of the operators in the Bell telephone exchange, Saturday will go to Sunbury where she will visit her cousin, Roy Harter, who is engaged in the grocery business. Mr. Harter is a son of Aaron Harter, of Harrisburg, formerly of this place.

Many improvements to homes in Centre Hall have been delayed this summer owing to the fact that it was impossible to secure carpenters to perform the work. A desperate effort is being made to get some of this work done before the opening of the encampment.

The Harrisburg Patriot says, 50,000 people attended the Farmer's Picnic at Williams Grove in Cumberland county on Thursday. If the farmers would bestir themselves politically this fall as they do when on pleasure bent they might make wonderful changes for the better in the Keystone State, and in helping others help themselves more than others.

The total eclipse of the sun advertised by exchanges for August 30, has been postponed until September 9, as it was found very expensive and inconvenient to get up a total, or even partial eclipse, without the aid of the moon. The moon will be between the earth and the sun September 9, and can be of service in getting up an eclipse. August 30, the moon had an engagement in another part of the heavens, and could not take part in such an affair. Therefore the eclipse will not come off as advertised but will occur September 9, 1904, and then not visible in this longitude.
