List Corrections.

The Reporter subscription list was correct this week, and if you have paid subscription between September 13 and October 24, you should examine your label and report if proper credit has not been given. Don't wait to do this, but act immediately.

Florida and the Sunny South.

Beginning October 15, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell Winter excursion tickets to the resorts of Florida, the Carolinas and other states in the South and Southwest, at greatly reduced rates. For specific rates, limits, and other conditions of tickets, consult any ticket agent. (42)

The New York World.

Reporter readers who wish to keep posted on current events should add to their list of newspapers the Thrice-a-Week New York World, which can be had at the rate of sixty-five cents a year, if subscription is paid in advance, through this office. This is the exact cost of the World, and the offer is good only to Reporter readers whose subscription is pre-paid.

Oil Well Diggers Strike Gas.

Natural gas from the working itself has been used since Saturday morning as fuel for the boiler used in the drilling of an oil well being sunk on the Dan Long farm, about three miles south of Stoyestown, Somerset county. The gas was struck Friday at 2900 feet and showed a pressure of 100 pounds, leading the drillers to believe that it is sufficient in quantity and pressure to warrant its use commercially in case no oil is found.

Sunday Afternoon Accident.

Sunday afternoon, while the scholars were gathering for Sunday school at the Forge church, near the Nittany Furnace, Russel Miller, a lad seventeen years old, was fooling with an old revolver, and Lewis Miller, aged seventeen, and a half dozen other boys were watching him when the firearm exploded, the ball entering the left arm of Lewis Miller, below the elbow. The accident happened in the vestibule of the church and caused a great deal of excitement among the scholars.

"Taps" at Broad Street Theatre.

"Taps" the German military drama, which during its recent engagement at the Lyric Theatre, New York, was adjudged a dramatic sensation, will for two weeks beginning Monday, October 24, be the attraction at the Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia. This production will give us another opportunity of witnessing the very artistic work of Herbert Kealey and Effie Shannon, who this season are starring jointly under the direction of Sam. S. Shubert. For the first time in many years Mr. Kealey will be seen in a character part, his role, that of a sturdy, honest, uncompromising old soldier, whose heart and soul are bound up in his loyalty to his regiment and his love for his daughter, is one admirably suited to his splendid abilities. Miss Shannon is also most happily placed and has an emotional role which affords her the best opportunity of her notable career. There will be the usual Wednesday and Thursday matinees during this engagement.

LOCALS.

Clover seed wanted. Price according to quality—J. H. & S. E. Weber, Centre Hall and Oak Hall.

Hon. W. M. Allison and Merchant C. P. Long were in town Friday evening of last week. Both are prominent citizens of Spring Mills.

A preliminary operation was performed on Mrs. Rhone, in the German Hospital, Philadelphia, a few days ago. The result was satisfactory.

B. D. Brisbin & Co. advertise public sale of a saw mill and engine, shingle mill, pony mill, chop mill, shingles, lumber, etc., at Colyer, Saturday, October 29, one o'clock. See posters.

Barber Frank Geary is the big gun among Centre Hall hunters, because on Monday he killed a wild turkey gobbler weighing twelve pounds, the largest of the three birds brought to town this season.

These fine October days find the farmers unusually busy. Election talk is being postponed until November comes in. With all this, there is every indication that the fall vote of the rural districts will be cast.

ASSAULTED BY A NEGRO.

Miss Emma Love Knocked Down and Robbed.

A most dastardly and cowardly assault was made on Miss Emma Love, a sister of Judge Love, of Bellefonte, by a burly negro, one evening last week. Miss Love resides with two sisters near Nealmont, a short distance east of Tyrone. She had been shopping in Tyrone during the afternoon and left for her home about 7 o'clock. She rode to Nealmont on a trolley car and from there started to walk to her home. When within a short distance of the house a negro stepped out from behind a tree and dealt her a murderous blow on the head with a club, which rendered her unconscious. In falling her head struck a sharp stone cutting a deep gash in her forehead above the left eye. The negro, probably thinking he had killed his victim, hurried away with her purse which contained about five dollars in cash. A few minutes later Miss Love recovered and made her way to her home.

Ed. Mills a negro, was arrested on suspicion, and later confessed that he committed the crime.

A bloodhound was put on the trail of the negro and easily followed him for a distance. The dog finally led connections, but later regained it and led his master to the cell in which Mills was confined.

Upon being called into court Monday morning the negro confessed, and was immediately sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary.

No New Trial.

The court refused to grant a new trial in the case of William Dillon and Ira Green, found guilty of first degree murder, Turnkey Jerry Condo being the victim.

The death sentence will be imposed Monday of next week.

From Orangeville, Ill.

A few items taken from the Orangeville Courier, published in Orangeville, Ill., will be of interest to the Reporter readers:

David A. Rokey died at the age of eighty years, four months and fifteen days. He was born in Centre county, and was first married to Elizabeth Kleckner, and after her death to Mary Paul, now deceased.

Mrs. John Frybarger celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday. She is enjoying good health at present. She was born October 17, 1815, in Centre county, Pa., and came west sixty-three years ago.

LOCALS.

Miss Ollie Snook, of Millheim, is the guest of the family of Henry Stoner, of near Tusseyville.

Wilbur Burkholder, assistant ticket agent in the Pennsylvania railroad office in Bellefonte, is at the World's Fair, St. Louis, he having accompanied Thomas Swartz on the trip.

J. W. Neese, who a short time ago came here from West Superior, Wisconsin, is now at Beaver Springs, Union county, where he is assisting J. S. Auman, formerly of this place, to operate a flour and feed mill.

George Myers, of Bald Eagle, while out hunting near Beecher's camp was accidentally shot in the thigh by a companion. The charge entered the flesh to a depth of several inches and made a bad wound. No serious results are anticipated.

Mary E. Stover died at Mill Hall, aged almost ninety years. Previous to her marriage to Hines Stover, now deceased, she was Mary E. Black. She and her husband lived at Flemington, Lamar, Nittany Hall and Salona, where Mr. Stover's death occurred.

Daniel Igen bought five head of thoroughbred Aberdeen-Angus cattle at Ricker's stock sale. According to the Sugar Valley Journal the investment he made is a good one, as the above breed of cattle is the most profitable stock the farmers of Sugar Valley can raise.

Samuel Stump is tickled to his boots because he eluded the calthumpians who gathered at the home of his bride to do them honor. The boys thought both bride and groom were getting the benefit of their lung power mixed with the rasping noise of the horse fiddle and saw, but the latter was elsewhere at that hour and had only the pleasure of hearing the incident related.

Mrs. W. Frank Bradford and son William, of Centre Hall, have planned a trip to Joliet, Illinois, where they will visit Miss Effie Dillman, a niece of D. L. Kerr, of near Centre Hill. They will leave Wednesday of next week. Miss Dillman, who is known to many of the readers, is a business woman, having taken up the real estate business of her brother at his death, and is meeting with marked success.

Hon. Leonard Rhone was one of the prominent members of the order of Patrons of Husbandry who was present at and took an active part in the meeting held in Philadelphia by the farmers, merchants and state officials to lay plans to prevent the repeal of the Grout bill, which taxes oleomargarine.

The Grout law is in the interest of the producers of pure butter, and it is only natural that a man of Mr. Rhone's convictions should lead his energies in the effort to prevent the mighty oleo trust throwing off the tax imposed by law.

FELL HISTORIC TREE.

Patriarch of Forestry Will be Preserved as Ruble Family Heirloom.

To preserve one of Millin county's oldest landmarks, a tree a century and a half old, and bearing an inscription carved on it in 1773, woodmen have sawed down the patriarch of the forests and removed it to the front yard of Samuel L. Swartzell's home, near Lock Mills.

The tree, which is a beech, stood in the southeastern part of Armagh township, on what is known as the George Swartzell farm.

The following information was taken from the notes of John Swartzell, of Milroy, an old civil engineer, who was probably better posted on the history of that section of Millin county than any other man living:

"An old beech tree, which measures five feet eleven inches in circumference and fifty feet high, being hollow at the butt, stands on the George Swartzell farm. In the bark of this tree Matthias Ruble cut his initials in the year of 1773 (M. 1773 R). This was about two years before the Indians made their last raid in that neighborhood. The other names are as follows: J. S., 1831; John Swartzell, from whose notes the history was taken; G. S. R., 1876; George S. Ruble, a grandson of Matthias Ruble, and many others, but all of more recent date.

The tree will be preserved, and known as the Ruble family tree.

$50,000 for Dickinson College.

Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, announced that, having succeeded in raising $50,000 for rebuilding Denny Hall, destroyed by fire March 3, 1904, he had received from Andrew Carnegie a check for $50,000, to be used in payment of obligations incurred in the erection of the new collegiate preparatory building, and for the full completion and equipment of the same.

In accord with the wish of Mr. Carnegie, the new collegiate preparatory building will be named Conway Hall, in honor of Dr. Moncure D. Conway, an alumnus of Dickinson, of the class of '52, and an old friend of Mr. Carnegie.

By this gift Mr. Carnegie has saved Dickinson from serious financial disaster threatened by reason of the fire. Conway Hall will be completed at once and be made ready for dedication. The new Denny Hall will also be completed in the near future.

Plum Grove.

Mrs. W. H. Swartz and daughter Prudence visited with friends at Millheim a few days last week.

Miss Rose Krizer spent Sunday with her mother, near Egg Hill.

A rousing serenading took place at the home of Eliza Stump, last Friday evening.

The young people of this place were well represented at the festival at Centre Hall, Saturday evening, which proved to be a success.

Jerome Auman, of Linden Hall, spent some time with his father, helping to thresh.

Burnham.

Work at the Standard Steel works seems to be getting some better.

A. A. Stevenson, superintendent of the Standard Steel works, and his wife have returned from a visit to St. Louis and other parts of the west.

W. P. Mann, foreman of the soft iron foundry, who was taken to the hospital for treatment, is getting along nicely.

Homer Treaster, of near Centre Hall, made a business trip to these parts last week.

Miss Sara Barger, of Lewistown, spent two weeks at her home in Centre county quite recently.

W. H. Madara made a business trip to Centre county last Saturday.

Linden Hall.

Mrs. J. H. Ross visited at the home of Elmer Ross, at Lemont, several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Homan returned Friday from a five week's visit among friends in northern Illinois, Wisconsin, and St. Louis. During the trip they spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crawford, in Freepport, and Mrs. Homan's brother, Adam Fye, in Lena, both families being well known in Centre county.

E. C. Ross and sister, Mrs. Alice Weaver, transacted business at the county seat on Friday.

Miss Irvin, of Lock Haven, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Ross.

Mrs. John Schreiner spent a few days with Mrs. Weibly last week.

Mrs. Roy Swabb and little daughter, of Erie, arrived here Saturday for a short visit at Grandpa Swabb's, and to help at the squirrels Roy has been capturing during his stay here.

Mrs. Sallie Corman came home Friday, having been summoned by the serious illness of her father, the venerable Samuel McClintic.

Farmers in this section are busy baling hay, hulling clover seed and husking corn.

Mrs. Nora Smith, of Altoona, visited at the home of James M. Ross, last week.

Ellis Orvis, the people's choice for Judge, canvassed this section last week. He was well received and made many friends during his travels.

The west bound passenger train on Monday afternoon killed a cow for Henry Gingerich.

J. W. Sunday, of Pennsylvania Furnace, is a guest at the home of G. W. Miller.

Mrs. Alex. Everhart, of Altoona, is spending a few weeks with her sisters and old acquaintances in Centre county.

Miss Janet McFarlane returned from a two week's stay with friends in Bellefonte.

Clover seed wanted. Price according to quality—J. H. & S. E. Weber, Centre Hall and Oak Hall.
