DILLEN AND GREEN SENTENCED.

Attorneys Furst and Dale Appeal to the Supreme Court.
 The death sentence was pronounced Monday by Judge Love on William Dillen and Ira Green. The prisoners seemed rather nervous, but betrayed no special signs of lack of nerve except a slight twitching of the hands of Green.

The court commanded Ira Green to stand up, and after making a few preliminary remarks, the usual sentence was pronounced, the people in the court house standing while the words were being spoken. The sentence was thus: "The sentence of the law, therefore, which we suppose is that you, Ira Green, prisoner at the bar, be taken from hence to the jail of Centre county, from whence you came, and from thence to the place of execution within the walls of the said jail, the time thereof to be fixed as provided by law, and that you there be hanged by the neck until dead. May you be able to make peace with your God and may he have mercy on your soul."

The sentence was repeated to William Dillen.
 Ex-Judge Furst and Clement Dale, Esq., attorneys for the defendants, at once appealed the case to the Supreme Court.
 The date of execution of the death sentence will be fixed by Governor Pennypacker.

Prospering Mr. Hennigh.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Foreman were highly pleased with their trip to the World's Fair and their visit to Brice, Nemaha county, Kansas, where they spent several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. David Hennigh, formerly of near Pottery Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Hennigh went west about thirty-four years ago, first locating in Illinois. After a year's residence there they proceeded to Kansas, and for ten years lived in Atchison county, when they took up their quarters near Brice. At present Mr. Hennigh owns a farm of three hundred and twenty acres, on which he lives. The buildings are first class, the barn being Pennsylvania in style. To give an idea of the value of this farm, Mr. Foreman related that a farm of one hundred and sixty acres adjoining Mr. Hennigh's was sold for $16,000, and another farm near by at about the same price per acre. Corn and alfalfa are the chief crops grown, which product is largely turned into cattle. His corn field covered one hundred and forty acres. During the first week in October the third cutting of alfalfa was being housed, which shows the possibilities of that particular grass as a hay producer. Besides this fine farm, Mr. Hennigh owns a ranch, two thousand five hundred acres, in Edwards county, two hundred and fifty miles southeast of Brice. On this ranch Reuben Hennigh, a son, is located, and cares for about three hundred head of cattle. This tract was offered for sale at five dollars per acre, but later the owner decided not to sell. All this goes to show what kind of material Mr. Hennigh is made of, and that soldiering in the sixties was not his only qualification.

Transfer of Real Estate.

Catharine Flora to Samuel Geringer, et ux., dated Jan. 4, 1901, land in Potter Twp.; $150.00.
 Mary M. Allison to Cyrus Brungart, July 20, 1904, lot in Centre Hall; 125.
 J. W. Stam to Mary E. Sholl, April 1, 1890, lot in Millheim; $155.00.
 Lydia Snyder to Rachael Gentzel, March 10, 1904, two tracts in Gregg Twp.; $50.00.
 Henry H. Houser, et ux., to William E. Tate, July 23, 1904, 104 acres, 65 perches in Potter Twp.; $4,400.

A Million a Day for War.

The game of war is costly and continuous, lapping over into the peaceful years. Take, for example, the expenditure of the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1904:
 Army $ 92,489,355
 Navy 102,956,101
 Pensions 142,569,296
 $338,014,752
 Incidental expenditures growing out of past wars, not included in the above figures, would easily increase the sum to $865,000,000, or a million dollars a day!

FIRE NEAR SPRING MILLS.

The Zabler Barn Burned—Crops, Implements, Etc., Destroyed.

The farm barn of I. J. Zabler, near the toll gate west of Spring Mills, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon of last week. Mr. Zabler was hulling clover seed and it is supposed a spark from the engine ignited a haystack standing near by. The fire spread so rapidly that it was with difficulty that the clover huller, stock and a few implements were removed, although the entire force of men and Mr. Zabler's daughter did heroic work with the flames leaping on their heels. In performing the work of rescue Mr. Zabler and Mr. Houser received severe bruises on their hands.

Mr. Houser, the engineer, saw smoke arising from the hay stack, and a hurried investigation revealed the flames. He quickly closed down the engine, and gave the alarm. A bucket of water was dashed on the flames, but it served no good purpose, and in less time than it takes to tell the story the whole barn was enveloped in flames. It was with the greatest difficulty that six of Mr. Zabler's horses were taken from their stalls, and three calves were released and chased to the baryard where the little animals received a severe scorching.

The loss, aside from the barn, is about as follows: wheat, 250 bushels; cloverseed, 50 bushels; oats, 200 bushels; corn, 300 bushels; hay, 30 tons; two plows, sled, sulkey plow, harness, buggy, etc.

There was an insurance of about $1000, divided as follows: barn, $500; hay, $100; corn, $150; wheat, $250.

The report is erroneous that wood was used to fire the engine. Mr. Houser, the owner of the engine is a careful engineer, and on reaching the barn in the morning all the wood unused to furnish power in transit was discarded. There was an abundance of coal on hand, leaving no reason why wood should be used.

Mr. Zabler is making preparations to rebuild at once. The new barn will be larger and more conveniently arranged than the old one that did service for many years.

BELLEFONTE TRUST COMPANY.

Will be Ready for Business December 1st—The Officers.

It has been known for some time that a trust company was to be organized in Bellefonte to succeed to the banking business of Jackson, Hastings & Company, but not until last week was a permanent organization effected. Previous to this a charter for the "Bellefonte Trust Company" had been granted by the state through attorney Seth T. McCormick, of Williamsport.

At a meeting held in Bellefonte the plans for the new firm were definitely settled and the officers and board of directors elected. The officers selected are as follows: President, Col. J. L. Spangler; Vice President, C. T. Gerberich; Treasurer, John P. Harris; Assistant Treasurer and Secretary, Isaac Mitchell. Directors—Col. J. L. Spangler, J. Henry Cochran, A. C. Mingle, Claude Cook, Ross A. Hickok and John P. Harris.

The "Bellefonte Trust Company" will begin business on December 1st, 1904, and the banking firm of Jackson, Hastings & Company will have passed into history. The new firm will do a general trust and banking business, insure the owners of real estate from loss by reason of defective titles, liens, and encumbrances, receive deposits.

"A Madcap Princess."

The many theatre-goers are naturally looking forward with the greatest interest to the appearance in Philadelphia on Monday, October 31st, at the Chestnut Street Theatre, in a two week's engagement of Miss Lulu Glaser in her latest vehicle, "A Madcap Princess," a comic opera by Harry B. Smith and Ludwig Engländer.

The pleasantest recollections are entertained here of this gifted prima donna, and according to all accounts her hold upon the appreciation of her admirers will be vastly strengthened by her work in the title role of the new opera, wherein she is held to have eclipsed all her previous triumphs. England's beautiful madcap princess, the Tudor kaleidroscope of human emotions, is said to fit this dainty, winsome artist like the proverbial glove. She is said to carry her audiences along on a floodtide of merriment, singing and dancing, storming and cozening her way into their affections in the most irresistible fashion.

It may fairly be claimed, as is demonstrated in this performance that Miss Glaser is now among the foremost of American comedy women. Her humor is delightfully spontaneous, and catching. An actress who, by sheer animal spirits, can keep her audience constantly laughing, is indeed a rarity to be prized.
