The Sneezewood Tree.

Among 'its many other peculiarities. South Africa includes the "sneezewood" tree, which takes its name from the fact that one cannot cut it with a saw without sneezing. Even in planing the wood it will sometimes have the same effect.

No insect or worm will touch it; it is bitter to the taste, and its specific gravity is heavier than water.

The color is light brown, the grain running very close and hard; it is, too a nice-looking wood, and takes a good polish. For dock work, piers, or jet-

THE KEYSTONE STATE

Latest News of Pepnsylvania Told in Stori Order.

A movement is on foot throughout the State to have a bill passed by the approaching Legislature providing for the publication in not less than two newspapers of each county of the laws passed from session to session. This movement is the outgrowth of the large number of prosecutions under the pure food and game and fish laws. It is contended that many persons are ignorant of the laws which are passed by reason of fact that these laws are not the published in the newspapers. New York, Ohio and other States have been printing the laws for many years under the direction of the State officials. A law similar to the one now in force in New York is the basis for the act which will be introduced at the coming session.

R. C. Hall, a Pittsburg capitalist, Who last week purchased the Connecticut State Building at the St. Louis Fair, paying about $50,000, will remove the structure to his Summer home in Aspinwall, on the Allegheny River. The building is a pure example of Colonial architecture. The building will be placed on river barges at St. Louis and towed all the way to Aspinwall, where it will be reconstructed on the top of a hill crowning Mr. Hall's premises. If bridges do not interfere, the structure will be removed bodly to the barges at St. ouis. Otherwise it will be partly lismembered for transportation.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N.Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W.C.T.U., tells how she recovercd by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MES. PINKHAM :-- I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old. I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact. I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles.

"My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incur-able. She took your Vegetable Com-pound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her hus-band's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cfired of different ki ds of female trouble, and am satisfier that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women." -- MRS. ELIZABETH H. Andrew Carnegie says that bigger fortunes will be made in the rubber industry than in any other during the | crat. Best holf-century the trackless railroad about 25 per cent. more electric current was used than on regular street cars. It should also be said that the maintenance of the cars, owing to a greater wearing out of the rolling stock and extensive need of lubricators, etc., is larger than on track cars. On the other hand, the higher cost of maintenance is met by an expense for tracks and the keeping of them in good condition.

A track road for every kilometre costs from $20,000 to $30,000, while a trackless road can be built for $3,750 to $5,000. A frackless road three kilometres long, now in active operation, estimated its cost at about $4,500 per kilometre, or a total of $13,500 for the whole distance. The total cost of operation per kilometre is 5 cents, or 15 cents for three kilometres. This 5 cents per kilometre compares favorably with that of the great Berlin Street Car Company, which estimates its actual cost of operation at 5.17 cents a kilometre, and other street-car lines in Germany even report 6.25 cents per kilometre.

Similar favorable figures are given by Schiemann in the operation of the trackless line in the Bila Valley. According to the latest reports, after a three months' operation, the cost of the electric current used was double that of a track road. This greater utilization of current was, however, only one-tenth of the sum which track roads require for interest and maintenance

A large part of the income of the trackless roads is obtained by the carrying of freight, which is a source of profit even when the passenger traffic is inadequate. Furthermore, legally considered, the trackless roads are very useful, for they are not required to meet such stringent conditions as are asked of electric track lines. As a matter of fact, the streets are not at all injured by the trackless cars, but they have a smoothing effect on the pavement over which they pass. It is believed here that even on asphalt pavement trackless cars can be successfully used .-- Western Electrician.
