NEWS FROM NORTH DAKOTA.

Green Decker, formerly of Potter Township, Writes from Fleisher.

The following was received from Fleisher, North Dakota, the home of Green Decker, formerly of near Potters Mills:

Believing that a letter from this section will be of interest to the Reporter readers, I have concluded to write briefly. We got to Dakota too late last spring to raise farm crops of any account, but made some garden, and planted beans, potatoes, sweet corn, melons, pumpkins and squash and in my life.

Corn planting is done differently here from the methods in Pennsylvania. I planted two varieties-first ninety day and later sixty day corn. The planting was done immediately was dropped into the furrows, the Gray, by whom he is survived, togethnext furrow covering it. That was all er with five children-four boys and corn began to ripen. The first ears ing fifteen years of age and the youngwere plucked for seed, and it was no est five years old. One brother and trouble to find ears twelve inches in length. How is that for North Da-

Young Woman as Farmer.

The west is not the only section in which the ability of a young woman to manage a farm is demonstrated. The eastern woman can do the same, as is proven by Miss Ella Decker, who Seaboard Air Line Railway, 1411 manages her father's farm, in Georges Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
