two buggies from the same house the other day. One cost $18.00 more than the other. Then he took the buggies all apart to see just why one was higher priced than the other. Here is what he found out :

Both buggies had exactly the same seat and back, same size body, same wheels, she fis and everything eise, except that the higher priced one had 14-oz. cloth trimmings instead of Keratol, found in the ch waper ; a leather boot, ins, tead of rubber ; a better axle, and the finish on the woodwork was slightly better, but not ver y much.

What do they give for the $1:8.00 difference in price? The actual difference in cost, to the buggy maker, did not exceed $3.80, yet one buggy costs you $18.00 more than the other.

Now, either the factory making and selling these buggies to the house Mr. Shaw bought from, was fooling the house, or the house was fooling you. In either case, you were paying $18.00 for $3.80 worth.
