Hard Drilling.

More than the usual difficulties have been experienced by the drillers up to this time. Great boulders, largely iron, have been the chief hindrances.

The machinery employed is as good as any to be found in the oil regions anywhere. Just before coming to Centre Hall a well was sunk to a depth of over 3000 feet in McKean county.

The derick is seventy-four feet high. A two and one-eighth inch rope is employed. The auger stems are forty feet long by four and one-half inches; bits ten inches with two and one-half by three and one-half joints. A Bovair & Seyfang engine, especially adapted for drilling is used.

The presence of boulders will necessitate the continuation of spudding for several days yet before the walking beam can be put to use.

DEATHS.

JOHN H. SWARTZ.

John H. Swartz, a well known South Renovo citizen, died suddenly Thursday morning of last week, of acute indigestion. Mr. Swartz was in his usual good health and attended to his duties in the railroad shops on Wednesday. He went home shortly after six o'clock, ate a hearty supper and was in good spirits when shortly after he was seized with acute indigestion. He grew rapidly worse and although everything was done for him he died at 4:20 next morning. Deceased was born at Millheim, 1848 and thirty-three years ago was married to Miss Emma C. daughter of the late John G. Musser and wife. He went to Renovo in 1859, where he resided until 1893 when he became a resident of South Renovo. Mr. Swartz was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church, Knights of Malta, No. 254, and a member of the South Renovo borough council, also a justice of the peace. Besides a widow the following children survive: Ray, James, Philip, Claude and Miss Julia, of Renovo; Mrs. R. B. Kendig and Ralph Swartz, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Waldo W. Hull, of Williamsport; also his mother, Mrs. Keister, of Clarno, Wis., and one sister, Mrs. Carl Henn, of Shenandoah, Iowa.
