AFFECTION IN JAPAN.

It is Deep and Lasting, but, as a Rule, Not Outspoken. Public demonstration of affection is most repugnant to the good taste of the Japanese, and it is the absence of this which is so generally mistaken for a lack of genuine feeling. I recall one man who was so devoted to his mother (though I doubt whether he could ever have been said to have "talked about" her) that when she died, while he was abroad, his depression was so profound that his husband watched him with anxiety lest he should commit suicide. The stolid training may render more unsympathetic a coarse nature, but repression to the refined soul brings an exquisite capacity for pain scarcely conceivable by those who are free to give utterance to every emotion.

Another man said to me, "I rarely speak of my mother, for a foreigner does not understand that a Japanese mother may be just as dear to her son as his to him and by the Japanese it is not expected that one should utter one's deepest feeling." That same son fainted with grief when his mother died and when consciousness returned rose to make light of a "little dizziness," without reference to its cause. To this day, whenever he goes from home, he carries with him his mother's letters, mounted on a beautiful roll of ivory and brocade, and on the anniversary of her passing beyond his mortal ken quietly devotes a portion of the day to meditation, and special thought of her. Even to his wife, despite the closest bond of love, he says not, "This is the day of my mother's death."—Outlook.

CRUSTY CARLYLE.

An Anecdote Which Illustrates His Disagreeable Disposition. Carlyle suffered from dyspepsia, and disappointment. He was therefore neither oversympathetic in intercourse with his friends nor fair in his estimates of other writers.

Though he personally liked Tennyson, he spoke with impatience of his "cobbling his odes," dismissed Jane Austen's novels as "dish washings," Hallam, the historian, as "dry as dust" and Goldsmith as an "Irish black-guard."

Even the writers of editorials in the press were saluted with this hard saying: "What are these fellows doing? They only serve to cancel one another." A characteristic anecdote illustrates his cruel disposition, which provoked him to inflict pain even on a friend.

An artist who frequented Carlyle's house painted a picture of him in his dressing gown smoking a pipe by the fireside and Mrs. Carlyle in an armchair sitting opposite him. The picture was hung at one of the Royal academy's exhibitions and, though not a striking work of art, was purchased by Lord Ashburton, Carlyle's friend, for £500.

The delighted artist hurried off to the Carlyles, expecting congratulations on the sale and some manifestation of pleasure on their part at having such a value set on a picture of themselves and their domestic interior. He delivered his glad tidings, but all the response he received from Carlyle was: "Well, in my opinion, £500 was just £405 too much."

When to Exercise. When to exercise is an important consideration. If the morning only is available the exercise should be light. Particularly is this the case if one is engaged in any work. The supply of energy must not be drawn from at the beginning of the day. The afternoon is perhaps the best time for exercise, when one has gained strength from the absorption of the morning and noon meals. Those who exercise vigorously at night should eat a midday dinner. Exercise should always precede bathing and not, as a rule, follow it. In this respect the ancient Greeks showed great wisdom. Exercise and bathing they called the two pillars of strength. Exercise was Hercules and bathing Apollo. Both were regarded with equal importance, and neither was complete without the other.

No Longer on the Map. "What makes you so late?" asked Tim's father, who in the boy's absence had had to see to the evening chores himself. "Teacher kept me in."

"What for?" "Cause I couldn't find Moscow on the map."

"Couldn't find Moscow? And I'd like to know who could, then! Why, I remember hearing tell of Moscow being burned when I was a boy! It's an outrage to put such nonsensical questions to children what's there to learn something useful. I'll look into that and let yer teacher know I ain't been elected on the school board for nothing!"—London Globe.

Ingenuities. "Jimmy," said the teacher after reading the youngster's note from his father, "excusing Jimmy's absence from school the day before, 'it seems to me your father's writing is very much like yours.'"

"Yes," replied Jimmy, unabashed, "father ain't had no education, and I'm learnin' him."

Taking Care of the Pennies. Pincher—I believe in that old saying about taking care of the pennies. You know it, don't you? Spender—Oh, yes! "Take care of the pennies, and the dollars will take care of your heirs."—Philadelphia Press.

TOUR TO THE WEST

Via Pennsylvania Railroad, Account Convention American Medical Association. On account of the convention of the American Medical Association, to be held in Portland, Ore., July 11 to 14, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run a personally-conducted tour, visiting the beautiful resorts in the Canadian Rockies, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, allowing four days in the latter city for attending the sessions of the convention and for visiting the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and five and one-half days in the Yellowstone Park, a full and complete tour of that wonderful land. Tickets covering every necessary expense enroute, except hotel accommodations in Portland, will be sold at the very low rate of $215 from all stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, except Pittsburgh, from which the rate will be $210. A special train of high-grade Pullman equipment will leave New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Monday, July 3. The route will be via Chicago and St. Paul to Banff Hot Springs, Laggan and Glacier, in the Canadian Rockies, thence to the Pacific Coast. Returning the route will lie through the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, to Yellowstone Park, and thence via Billings and Omaha to Chicago, reaching New York on July 26. For further information consult Pennsylvania Railroad ticket agents. A descriptive itinerary will be sent on application to Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, Pa.

Spring Mills vs. Centre Hall. The game of ball between Spring Mills and Centre Hall, played on Grange Park grounds, was an interesting and amusing affair to all those who laid aside business for the hour, Saturday afternoon. It was the first match game played by either nine. There was some splendid work done on both sides, and, of course, as would be expected, some amusing blunders. A study of the score will convince the base ball enthusiast that there is at least some splendid material in both nines that needs only further development to do entire credit to the diamond.

THE SCORE. CENTRE HALL. John Coldron, 2b.....2 Runs; Guy Jacobs, cf.....1; William Stump, ss.....1; Archie Homan, 2b.....1; Roy Stover, p.....1; Cleve Mitterling, rf.....2; Milton Bradford, c.....2; Samuel Goodhart, lf.....0; Ted Bailey, lb.....3.

SPRING MILLS. Clarence Helms, p.....1 Run; William Roseman, c.....3; Harry Osman, rf.....2; Cleve Gentzel, lf.....1; William Allison, lb.....1; Paul Leitell, 2b.....2; Charles Leitell, ss.....2; Samuel Leitell, cf.....0; Steve Kennedy, 2b.....0.

Centre Hall 1 3 1 1 0 0 0 1 6-13; Spring Mills 1 1 0 3 0 6 0 1 0-12.

Spring Mills is credited with three goose eggs—in the fifth, sixth and seventh, and Centre Hall to four—in the third, fifth, seventh and ninth. The latter also made triple plays in the third and seventh innings.

The umpires, Messrs. Earl Bartley, of Spring Mills, and Asher Stahl, of Centre Hall, were entirely fair in their decisions, and at no time gave the contestants occasion to "kick."

The young men composing the Spring Mills nine, and the dozen or more rooters—male and female—who accompanied them, conducted themselves with entire propriety during the game and after, showing that the contest could be a losing one without them losing their heads to the lad.

The return game is looked forward to with interest by both the nines and others who anticipate lending their presence.

Reduced Rates to Baltimore. For the International Convention United Society of Christian Endeavor, at Baltimore, Md., July 5 to 10, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell round-trip tickets to Baltimore, at greatly reduced rates, from all stations on its lines east of and including Pittsburgh, Erie and Buffalo.

The rate from Pittsburgh will be $9.00, from Altoona $7.49, Erie $12.00, Williamsport $6.33, Buffalo $11.00, Canandaigua $9.70, Elmira $8.50, New York $8.30, Newark, N. J., $6.10, Reading $5.15, Wilkesbarre $7.05, Dover, Del., $3.90, with corresponding reductions from all other points.

Tickets will be sold on July 3, 4, and 5, good for return passage leaving Baltimore until July 15, inclusive. On payment of $1.00 to Joint Agent at Baltimore an extension of return limit to August 31 can be obtained.

Tickets via Philadelphia permit stop-over within limit, if deposited with the ticket agent at Broad Street Station.

Special excursion tickets are on sale every Saturday and Sunday from Baltimore to Washington and return at rate of $1.25 for the round trip. These tickets are good for return passage until the last train Sunday night, affording ample opportunity for delegates to visit the National Capital.

"THE RECORD."

A Philadelphia merchant who spends hundreds of thousands of dollars every year for advertising was asked the other day what newspaper he considered the best medium through which to reach the public. His answer was unhesitatingly "The Philadelphia Record."

Then he went on to say: "I have used 'The Record' for years—in fact, ever since I have been advertising, and I find that it brings me the best results. It isn't necessary to experiment with 'The Record.' The experienced business man realizes that the money he spends to reach the readers of that paper is money well invested. 'The Record' is read thoroughly. A great many people, men especially, make a practice of buying several newspapers during the course of a day. They glance over the pages casually to see if there is anything of particular interest, and then throw them aside. But I have come to the conclusion from long observation that 'The Record' is the paper that is read thoroughly from beginning to end."

The Philadelphia merchant was undoubtedly right. There is no disputing the fact that "The Record" is the most popular paper in Philadelphia, and its influence throughout the surrounding country is evidenced by its claim to the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the State of Pennsylvania, a claim that is without doubt based upon actual figures. Nor is this strange, considering its merits. It is in every sense of the term a family paper—clean, wholesome, bright, entertaining, a welcome visitor to the home circle.

The growth of "The Record" is a gratifying tribute to the integrity of its methods. It is always fair and above board; it has nothing to conceal, and it is in every respect a model newspaper. More power to it!
