

CAST YOUR BREAD UPON THE WATER.

A Centre Hall Lady Handsomely Rewarded for Her Generosity.

The above scriptural passage was beautifully illustrated in 1894 by the family of George Flory, of Centre Hall, who responded to an appeal from farmers in Nebraska for help during the threatened famine in that state.

Among other things handed over to the soliciting committee by the Florays was a hand-made quilt that represented many days of tedious labor.

Time went on, and finally a note was received from W. W. Graham, Ragan, Nebraska, thanking the Florays for their great kindness in remembering the sufferers in Nebraska, at the same time giving an account of their reverses.

The other day the climax came—Mrs. Flory was the recipient of a postoffice money order, the largest she ever received, and with it a note from the Grahams again expressing their gratitude for help when in the greatest distress of their lives.

Mrs. Flory is declining in years, she has no means of earning a livelihood. She is now enjoying the fruits of "casting bread upon the waters."

DEATHS.

LOYD H. LAWALL.

Lloyd H. Lawall died at his home in Allegheny, Saturday morning, 17th inst. In March of this year he was stricken with Bright's disease in its worst form.

In 1889 Mr. Lawall was married to Miss Fannie M. Evans, of Williamsport, formerly of Potters Mills.

Mr. Lawall had many friends and acquaintances in Centre Hall, as his vacation days were spent along the streams in Potters Mills and vicinity.

MISS BESSIE LINGLE.

Miss Bessie Lingle, the eldest daughter of W. C. and Amelia Lingle, of Patton, died Thursday in a Sanitarium in Philadelphia, where she had gone for special treatment.

Mrs. Eva Zettle died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Gray, in Milton, Monday evening, at the advanced age of about seventy-six years.

Sober.

C. K. Sober, of Lewisburg, was a caller at the home of U. G. Auman Saturday.

L. P. Smith's saw mill was burned down on night last week.

An infant child of Ezra Confer died and was buried this week.

O. J. Wolf lost a valuable cow.

W. W. Krisber's father, of Union county, was a visitor in this place over Sunday.

Willis Breen and Henry Immel, of Georges Valley, were guests of U. G. Auman Sunday.

Bucknell Graduates.

In the class of seventy-eight who graduated at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, are two Centre countians—Miss Nellie Thomas, of Phillipsburg, and Irvin W. Zeigler, of Centre Hall.

IN ALTOONA.

What Penna Valley People Are Doing in the Busy Railroad Town.

Penna Valley is well represented in Altoona, the busy railroad town. Two days' stay at that point is all that is needed to learn that if this beautiful, fertile valley were obliged to withdraw its sons from Altoona's population, the cogs of industry that continually whirl would at least be momentarily checked.

Among others whom the writer came in contact was John O. Scholl, one of the superintendents at the city electric light works. Mr. Scholl began work in Altoona in a humble position than he now holds, but by faithfully serving his employes he soon was advanced.

James P. Herring is a well-known figure in Altoona. He has been a resident of that town for many years, being possibly the first who from this immediate vicinity located there.

Among the younger men who are giving their brains and muscle to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are John Breen, Jr., Wm. H. Breen, A. B. Thomas, Burchard Musser, Lloyd Smith, Andrew Risher, Harry Decker, S. Edwin Royer, J. Edgar Metz, Wm. Harshbarger, K. H. Goodhart, Andrew Kremer, George E. Meyer, Alfred Osman, John F. Zeigler, all of whom it may be said are holding good positions.

Howard Honan, contractor and builder, lives as cozily as a railroad president would wish to. He is making good money at his trade—busy every day.

Henry Reardick, who learned blacksmithing with Charles Bollinger, in this place, is one of the mechanics to receive the higher wages. His surplus he is now investing in real estate in Juniata Park, a section of country now being boomed by the West Juniata Realty Company.

In proportion, a bull frog couldn't half puff up to the size of Morris A. Burkholder, not because he holds a better place than others from this section, but because he, just recently, heard a sound from a female infant that he translated "papa."

Edward Wolf has been in Altoona for a good many years, and the Reporter readers will regret to learn that he has been ill of a disease of dropsical nature. At present he is mending.

Grover C. Gentzie is one of the clerks in the electrical store room. He is one of the younger men and is taking a course in a correspondence school to fit him for a more responsible position.

Alvin S. Meyer is one of the many lumber inspectors employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. He is sent from one point to the other along its extensive system to put his mark of approval on lumber purchased previously and delivered ready for shipment.

Ralph C. Boozer, a graduate of the Williamson Free School of Mechanical Arts, Electrical Engineering Department, was one of the many young men similarly qualified to install the electrical appliances in the largest foundry in the world, and since has been retained at the Pennys shops.

Morris Breen, a plumber, is employed regularly by George Stone, a well established man in his business, and is receiving good pay for his labor.

Claude K. Stahl is clerking in a grocery store, and at the same time he is keeping a watch on a place to his liking in the shops.

Sanford Miller, formerly a printer, is now in the insurance business. And but for the time he spends with his sweetheart in Tyrone, is always hustling for a man willing to take a risk.

Surprised.

Monday evening about sixty relatives, friends and neighbors met at the home of G. A. Hettlinger, on J. R. Bible's farm, Sprucecreek, to surprise Mr. Hettlinger and celebrate his thirtieth birthday.

The guests assembled about nine o'clock while Mr. Hettlinger accompanied his mother, brother and sister to Spring Mills. Upon returning and entering the house he was much surprised at the reception given him, but took it all good naturedly.

After the excitement had worn away the guests were treated to ice cream and cake, to which all did ample justice.

Mr. Hettlinger received numerous presents, and no doubt this birthday will long be remembered by him, as well as by those present.

LOCALS.

Double harpoon forks, $1.00—C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville.

Mr. Fairbanks felt like a president the other day. A crank gave him a scare.

Miss Edna Krumrine and Miss Anna Grove attended commencement at Bucknell University.

Miss Louise Brackbill, of Bellefonte, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Laura Runkle, at the Centre Hall hotel.

Miss Mary Kennedy, daughter of J. Q. A. Kennedy, attended commencement exercises at Lock Haven Normal.

Mr. and Mrs. Arney Lee, of Pittsburg, are in Centre Hall to spend their vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lee.

J. W. Mitterling returned from Philadelphia Wednesday morning, after having made sale of a car load of milk cows shipped to near that point.

Mrs. G. M. Boal, of Centre Hall, and Mrs. W. Gross Mingle, of Bellefonte, are in Nelson, Tioga county, on a visit to Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Park, the latter being a daughter of Mrs. Boal's.

Mrs. L. Rhone and daughter, Miss May, both of whom have been ill for some time at their home in Centre Hall, were reported on Wednesday as not being quite as well as on the day previous.

Millinburg Times: Robert Stover came down from Coburn last week to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Kate Charles. Saturday his mother came down and spent a few days in her native town.

Hugh B. Fiedler's Star Magazine (Williamsport, Pa.) for July is now out and it is pronounced on all sides as one of the finest summer outing publications ever issued from Central Pennsylvania.

Prof. C. R. Neff, principal of the Millheim High School, since the close of the schools, is giving a portion of his time to overseeing the Neff farm, above Old Fort, owned by him and his brother, Chas. D. Neff.

Misses Marion and Ella Fischer, daughters of Rev. W. E. Fischer, D. D., of Shamokin, together with several other young ladies of the same place, will come to Centre Hall for their summer vacation. They will stop at the hotel.

Miss Lizzie Zeigler, of Centre Hall, and A. E. Zeigler, of Linden Hall, went to Lewisburg Tuesday to be present at the graduating exercises at Bucknell University, from which institution Irvin W. Zeigler, a brother, graduated.

Miss Maude Seehrist, who recently returned from York, attended the commencement exercises at Central State Normal School, Lock Haven, of which institution she is a graduate. Since then Miss Seehrist has been teaching in Columbia county, near Berwick.

Cleveland Mitterling is carrying a black eye, the result of an accident at the derrick. One of the workmen was using a hand hammer, when it slipped from his hand, striking young Mitterling above the eye. The flesh was cut to the bone, causing the blood to flow freely.

George Torrence, wife and sister, of Punxsutawney, last week were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith, in this place. Mrs. Torrence is a nephew of Mr. Smith's. Before coming here they attended the commencement at State, where a son of Mr. and Mrs. Torrence graduated.

Mrs. S. R. Kamp and daughter, Miss Edna, at present are at the home of Hon. Leonard Rhone, and during the illness of Mrs. Rhone Mrs. Kamp is assisting in caring for her. Miss Edna is a student at Central State Normal School, Lock Haven, and will remain here for a few weeks.

James A. Keller, D. K. Keller and family, Rev. John H. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Fisher and daughter are camping along the railroad in the vicinity of Paddy Mountain tunnel, having gone there Wednesday. They will entertain a number of their friends while in camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Durst and grandson, of Boalsburg, were in town Tuesday. Mr. Durst was a caller at this office, and in speaking of the great damage done to corn by cut worms, he suggested that if a three year rotation were adopted the cut worm would do little harm. He speaks from experience.

Copper and Beef acquire a new and still more startling meaning in the July Everybody's. The greater part of their story has so far been untold, and a generous slice of it—a pithy, dramatic, historically significant slice—has been inserted, for the benefit of a continent of vitally concerned readers, in this single number of a magazine.

Mrs. J. H. Meyer, of Boalsburg, writes the Reporter that she greatly enjoys reading the 1871 news published each week in this paper, and adds that the night before Bristlin's store, at Potters Mills, was robbed, the same parties cleaned their smoke house of meat. She also gives the names of the parties who committed the deed. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, from 1868 to 1875 lived on the Van Valkah farm, west of Centre Hall, and it was there that the incident took place.
