THE JURY SYSTEM.
A Growing Belief That the Present Jury System Should be Changed.
In another column will be found the list of jurors to try the cases which will come before the court at the August term. At this time it might be well to thoughtfully consider the jury system of our country. There has been much discussion of recent years as to the best remedy for improving the jury system, or, rather, the growing difficulty of selecting "twelve good men and true." Our whole system of jurisprudence must stand or fall on the worth of the petit jury, and the matter being so vital, suggested reforms are well worthy of consideration.
Secretary of War William H. Taft, a lawyer of national reputation, Monday delivered the principal address to the graduates of the Yale Law School, in which he severely condemned the present trial by jury as being too lax, owing to the numerous changes made from the common law system and the liberties that are allowed the defense, both at trial and in the matter of appeals.
The Secretary declared that to do away with the jury would prove a benefit both in civil and criminal cases, assuring a more fair and impartial trial. It would then be divested of the sentimental issue and hypnotic influences that at present surround it.
In a recent speech before the graduating class of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association law school, Judge James B. Richardson, of the Massachusetts superior court, voiced the central truth in the whole proposition when he said: "The trouble is not so much with trial by jury as an institution, as with the composition of it—the men on the panel. As to the selection of jurors, let me say that the difficulty is not so much in the law, as in the administration of it. What chance is there of good judgment, when ignorance, imbecility, stupidity, race and class prejudices and affiliations with law-defying organizations are on the panel?"
These are the opinions of two thoughtful citizens who are concerned for the present status of judicial procedure in the United States. The one proposed to give the cases over into the hands of the court alone, the other wishes to be more careful in the selection of jurors. The question is simply one of the individual worth of the juror—his intelligence, his honesty and general character as known to the community. The democracy of the jury system can easily prove a menace to the right administration of justice if the individual element is not carefully weighed in the selection of takersmen. It requires a layman of keen mentality to decide a case on the law and evidence, unswayed by extraneous and, often, unworthy influences, and that he should be a man of probity goes without saying.

LOCALS.
C. D. Emerick is home from Wilmerding to recuperate.
Michael Speicher, of Pleasant Gap, was in town Wednesday.
The body of Ellwood Garman, the convicted murderer of William Murray, who committed suicide in jail Sunday, was buried at Millington Tuesday by his family.
Dr. C. S. Musser, of Aaronsburg, was a brief caller at the Reporter office Wednesday morning, having come to Centre Hall on professional business. Dr. Musser has no peer in his profession in Central Pennsylvania, whether in the line of medicine or surgery.
An Incident of History.
Julia Ward Howe had just written "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and was reading it to Elizabeth Cady Stanton.
"Well Lizzie," she asked when she had finished, "what do you think of it?"
"Great!" was the reply. "But you are boasting man again in defiance of our glorious principles. Sit down now and write another to be called 'The Battle Her of the Republic.'—New York Telegram.
The Pygmies of Africa.
"The pygmies of Africa," says Dr. Gell, the traveler, "are the most dangerous savages I ever met. They are quick, very warlike, and the women fight as hard as the men. They are experts in poisons, which they use to advantage against their enemies. I think there has been some confusion in the past between pygmies and dwarfs. The latter are found for the most part in the 'little forest' and on the outer edge of the 'great forest,' whereas the pygmies are well within the 'great forest.' Pygmies and dwarfs are distinct in physiognomy.
"Entering the 'great forest' from the south end of the mountains of the Moon, after crossing the Semliki grass lands, I came across the pygmies in about three days' journey. It is a curious fact that the pygmies pitch their camps within about half a day's journey of the big savages—the giant savages, as they are called. Although I had to sleep fully armed, I was never attacked.
"It has been my invariable rule to treat natives as gentlemen. I find that the greatest savage appreciates kindness and consideration. In my journey through the forest I used compasses to guide me. The pygmies can find their way by simply looking at the trees. They are a wonderful race, active and intelligent."

Grange Memorial Service.
Bald Eagle Grange of Milesburg, held an impressive memorial service in their hall on Sunday. The service was a fitting tribute to two members of this Grange who, during the past year, have been called from time to eternity. Col. James F. Weaver and G. H. Lyman. The former was a charter member of Bald Eagle Grange and was prominent in the work of the order throughout the state. Rev. Lathrop of the Baptist church preached the memorial sermon and was assisted in the services by Rev. Bingham, of Ruauville, and Rev. Piper, of Milesburg.

Williams-Musser.
A very quiet wedding took place in the Lutheran church, Pine Grove Mills, Rev. C. T. Alkems, officiating, on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. The contracting parties were William Williams, of Altoona, and Miss Anna Musser, of Pine Grove Mills. Only a few guests were present, among them Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Goss, of Bellefonte, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ross, of Linden Hall. The bride is an estimable young lady, well and favorably known in her community, while the groom is an industrious young man who holds a responsible position in the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Altoona.

Thrown from a Horse.
W. H. Franz, of near Townd, was thrown from a horse Monday afternoon and was badly hurt so that he is confined to his bed. He was carrying a fork which frightened his horse and caused it to become unmanageable, with the result that Mr. Franz was thrown to the ground.

The borough of Berlin, in Somerset county, which has a population of about 1,000, has the distinction, according to the statement of a correspondent in the Berlin Record, of having had born and reared within its limits seven Reformed church ministers, seven Reformed church ministers' wives, two Reformed church missionaries, six Lutheran ministers, two Lutheran ministers' wives, one Dunkard minister and his wife, one Christian minister, one Methodist minister and two Methodist ministers' wives.

Cuban Diarrhoea.
U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs, of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.
