Frightened by Degrees. In a small town of Kansas not long ago some individuals interested in sanitary measures engaged the services of a scientist from Chicago to lecture on bacteriology. In the audience were a man and his wife, the gardener and housekeeper of the leading citizen of the town. These worthy people, entirely ignorant of the subject of the lecturer's discourse, had been attracted to the hall by the announcement that magic-lantern views would be exhibited.

The two took seats in the rear of the hall. In the course of the lecture they evinced no signs of approval or objection; but when the discourse was concluded the gardener was heard to ask his wife: "Maggie, did you pay attention to what that Chicago man had to say?" "Yes, jes' as well as I could," was the reply. "An' ar' ye scared?" "Yes, I am scared, as much as I understand it."—The Sunday Magazine.

When asked what gave her such a brilliant and lovely complexion, she replied: 'A healthy woman can be sure of a fine skin if she will do as I do, use plenty of Cuticura Soap and water.' She insisted that I follow her example, which I did with speedy conviction. I find that Cuticura Soap keeps the skin soft, white and clear, and prevents redness and roughness."

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

Bradstreet's says: "Though reflecting some irregularity, due to midyear influences, or, in some sections, to less cheerful crop reports, the volume of distributive trade is a full one for the season and industry and manufactures show less than ordinarily the effects of the approach of the vacation period. Optimism as to the fall trade outlook is the main subject of notice, but it is to be noted that good reorders for summer fabrics are still active at some leading markets."

"Relatively the best reports come from the Central West and Southwest; the South seems quiet generally to hold the improvement reported last week, confidence has increased in the Pacific Coast reports, and the only important subject of complaint is that the weather has been too wet or too cool in portions of the corn and wheat belts to allow of the best crop development and harvesting."

PHONE AID TO MATRIMONY.

Girl with One in Her Home Always Popular with Young Men.

It is needless to say that the telephone is a great institution, says the Utica Press. It has long been an absolute essential in every place of business. Just now there is a great increase in the number of phones in private houses. It is possible to talk with pretty much everybody at his or her home. The companies are evidently endeavoring to boom that branch of their business, because they are advertising extensively. The other day a St. Louis paper had a big display ad at the top of which was a picture of an attractive young lady telephoning and represented as saying: "Is that you, Harry?" The text beneath it includes this statement: "It is a well-known fact that the girl who has a telephone is the girl who has the best friends and consequently has the best time."

This appeal to the young people is adroit and doubtless will serve to make the St. Louis exchange bigger and busier. The parents who have marriageable daughters will do well to consider this ingenious contrivance and modern aid to matrimony. It is something of a bother for a young man to call or even to write a note asking the young lady to go to the park, or to go for a walk or drive or to ride to the park, but if he can transmit the message by telephone it is an easy way of making an appointment. Many a delicious message is telephoned these days and there is reason to believe the statement made by the St. Louis company. It applies, of course, with equal force in every American city. The young ladies for whom a life of single blessedness has no charms are not exactly buying a lottery when they hire a phone. They can get much pleasure and comfort out of it as they go along, for it is a constant contributor to convenience. It is worth the price, with the enhanced matrimonial possibility thrown in as an extra inducement.

Hard-Luck Story. "I have just heard a real hard-luck story from one of my constituents," said Judge Bartlett of Georgia. "There has been considerable snow in Georgia, and my constituent who lives in a prohibition county, was going to a dance. He had to drive fifteen miles. He sent to an adjoining county for a quart of whiskey. On the night of the dance he decided to save the whiskey. "Before he went into the house he locked around for a place to hide his treasure. He saw a pile of brush near by, and going over to it took the precious quart and pushed it under the brush. In about one second he heard a muffled splash. He had tried to hide, perhaps, the only quart of whiskey in the county in an abandoned well."—Houston Chronicle.

Dangers to Traffic. "When Prince Henry made his long journey through the country," said an old railroad official, talking of recent railroad accidents, the schedules were so arranged that his train never passed a moving train anywhere on the road. The deadly danger from that source is well known among railroad men, although they are not much given to talking about it. Accidents to these long merchandise trains are constantly occurring.

"Not a quarter of them get into the papers, yet hardly a day passes that the papers do not have an account of one—trains late owing to a freight wreck; 'both tracks blocked two hours by coal train smash,' and so on. The public gives little heed to them, but they are the greatest danger in modern railroading."

Wanted Fishballs of Live Fish. At a boarding house where I was staying the landlady was noted for her excellent fishballs, which she made every Sunday morning, says a writer in the Boston Herald. The guests on one special morning were praising them profusely, especially an elderly lady. Sitting next to her was a young man who remarked:

"The only trouble with fishballs is they are made of dead fish."

"Dead fish!" cried the horrified elderly lady; "I shall never eat another as long as I live."

WANTED TO SLEEP. Curious That a Tired Preacher Should Have Such Desire. A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him.

"You will doubtless understand how the suffering with indigestion with which I used to be troubled made my work an almost unendurable burden, and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow till nearly daylight."

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me."

Six months have elapsed since I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and the benefits I have derived from it are very definite. I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table. I find that by eating a dish of it after my Sabbath work is done (and I always do so now) my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are insured me. I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on our table—we feel that we need it to complete the meal—and our children will eat Grape-Nuts anything they cannot be persuaded to touch anything else."
