President Roosevelt's Toast.

"Gentlemen: I propose a toast to which there will be no answer and to which I ask you in silence, standing. I drink to the welfare and prosperity of the sovereigns and people of the great nations whose representatives have met one another on this ship. It is my most earnest hope and prayer, in the interest of not only these two great powers, but of all mankind, that a just and lasting peace may speedily be concluded between them.

Louisiana Captures a Mississippi Vessel.

A SURRENDER WITHOUT A SHOT.

The Seat of Controversy Is on the Boundary of the Two States Crew of Captured Boat Taken to Jall, and a Messenger Dispatched to Governor Vardaman to Advise of the Situation.

New Orleans, La. (Special). - The first cslah in the Louisiana-Mississippi boundary growing out of the quarantine war between Louisiana and Mississippi occurred Friday morning, when the Jipsey, of the Mississippi quarantine fleet, was captured by the Louisiana troops under Lieutenant Ivy, of the Fern, acting under the instructions of Sheriff Nunez, of St. Bernard. The captain boarded the Fern and was at once placed under arrest. The crew then surrendered without firing a shot. The Jipsey was at once taken possession of by Sheriff Nunez and conveyed to St. Bernard waters, while the captain and crew were locked up in the parish jail. Capt. Walter Blunt, of the Mississippi flagship Grace, asked permis-sion to go to Mississippi to consult the authorities there as to what he should do, and was allowed to depart.

The third Mississippi war vessel, which was blockading the Chef Menteur entrance into Mississippi Sound, sailed away on notice from the United States revenue cutter Winona. It is presumed from this that the Mississippi quaranine authorities have abandoned their blockade of the Louisiana coast and their right of search of Louisiana vessels. Annie Hirsh, a pretty artist of 19, stole from her father's home, 125 East One Hundred and Tenth street, in her night dress, ran through One Hundred and Tenth street to the East River, more than a mile away, and plunged into the waters of Hell Gate to end her life.

The girl graduated from the Normal School two years ago, developed into an artist of merit, and after a course at an art school intended using her talents to make her living.

At school, however, she met a young artist, who is said to be Milton Wright. A love affair began between the two, and an engagement was the result.

Miss Hirsh's father, Solmon Hirshobjected to the match. He said that his daughter was too young to be a wife, and advised that the young couple wait

Miss Hirsh and young Wright had planned to be married a year ago. The night a number of her young friends were asked to a small reception at the Hirsh home, the parents hoping that the presence of the guests would make her more cheerful.

When the guests departed Miss Hirsh went to her room, but later when she had discarded her evening clothes for her night dress and the other members of the household were asleep, she stole to the street and made for the river. Martin Carroll, a night watchman cleaning department, saw a little figure in white dart past him, and with a piercing shriek dove into the water. "I want to die!" she yelled.

The girl fought with such desperation that Carroll could not drag her in the boat until the water had made her unconscious. Then he rowed her to the pier and called for assistance. Before assistance came Carroll was rolling the unconscious girl on a barrel.

When Miss Hirsh comes from Harlem Hospital she will have to face a charge of attempting suicide.
