

WAITING FOR TOKIO NOW

Meeting of Peace Envoys is Again Postponed.

ROOSEVELT DOES NOT GIVE UP.

Signs That His Perseverance is Causing Resentment—The Respective Sultans of Plenipotentiaries Take a Discouraging View of the Outlook—Have Trunks Packed and Accounts Read—Preparatory to Departure.

The gravest crisis in the peace negotiations has been reached. At the request of the Japanese, who are awaiting a response from the Mikado to a communication supposed to have emanated from President Roosevelt, the next meeting has been postponed until Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Takahira says that as the conference was brought about by the President, it would be well to go cautiously out of courtesy to him. He considered the situation "almost hopeless."

The Russians insist the Czar has said his final word, but whether or not they are bluffing remains to be seen.

A high Russian authority at Portsmouth says the President in his communication to the Russians showed that he considered that Japan's victories gave her the right to ask indemnity in fact, if not in name, and entitled her to Sakhalin.

Portsmouth, N. H. (Special).—There is a persistent report here that President Roosevelt has made a new appeal to the Emperor of Japan.

Tokio (By Cable).—A specially summoned council of the cabinet and elder statesmen is now in session discussing the latest final phases of the peace conference at Portsmouth.

Portsmouth, N. H. (Special).—At the very moment when the peace conference was, it was feared, about to end in failure President Roosevelt has stepped in to the breach and caused a postponement of what was generally regarded as the final meeting.

The mere fact that, through the President's efforts, the meeting fixed for Monday will not be held until Tuesday may not appear to be a very important development, but it means another 24 hours gained, and every additional day that the conference lasts affords reason for hope of a successful outcome.

It was at the solicitation of the Japanese envoys that the arrangement for the postponement of the next meeting was made. They were impelled to this course by a message from Baron Kaneko, Japanese financial agent in this country, who acted in behalf of the President, with whom he has had frequent conferences recently.

The purpose of the President in requesting that there be no session of the plenipotentiaries until Tuesday has not been disclosed authoritatively, but there is reason to believe he expects the Japanese government will send new instructions to Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira, which may have some effect upon the outcome of the negotiations.

Mr. Takahira, according to information obtained from Russian sources, told M. Witte that a response which he and his colleague, Baron Komura, was expecting to a communication they had sent to Tokio had not arrived, and it was desired that additional time be given for its receipt.

BOTH SIDES REINFORCED.

Front of the Army in Manchuria Greatly Extended.

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria (By Cable).—Intelligence of the constitutional grants by the Government has been received by the army, and general information relating to Portsmouth affairs continues to reach here from 3 to 10 days late.

Since the Japanese reconnoitered the Russian center about 25 or 30 miles on August 10, which resulted in retaliatory skirmishing, as well as the checking of a wide movement of considerable bodies of troops throughout three days, nothing important has occurred. During the long quiet there have been reinforcements to both sides, giving the theatre of war a much-changed appearance.

The front has been greatly extended, a departure made possible by the use of the wireless telegraph, and because of the unexampled size of the armies the character of the third stage of the war, whether it be active hostilities, demobilization or the garrisoning of contested territory, will be complicated.

The relative positions of the two armies is comparable to that of a year ago, and the country immediately facing the Japanese is almost identical with that which confronted them at Liaoyang.

The acquisition of the railway and rivers by the Japanese at Mukden, together with their Fengwangcheng communications, and General Kawamura's new line of communication and defense, running from the head of navigation on the Yalu river across to Kaiyuan, with the occupation of the Changpaishan Mountain region, makes control of the administration of South Manchuria as complete as that achieved in the north by similar organization, and in the rapid consolidation of these connections the destiny of Manchuria is clearly fixed regardless of other influences.

Japanese Transport Sunk.

Nagasaki (By Cable).—The British steamer Heralon and the Japanese transport Kingko collided at 10 o'clock P. M. in the Inland Sea. The transport was sunk and 160 men were drowned.

Twenty Actors Injured.

Berlin (By Cable).—The collapse of the timber work of a terrace 16 feet above the stage during a rehearsal at the Metropole Theatre, while 30 performers were on the terrace and the stage was crowded, caused the injury of 20 persons. Panic-stricken actors and actresses rushed into the streets in stage attire. It is feared that four of the injured will die. Max Steiden, the most popular comic singer in Berlin, being among the number. Nearly all of the others injured are young girls.

PRESIDENT TAKES DIVE

Goes Down on a Submarine in the Sound.

WAS SUBMERGED FOR FIFTY MINUTES.

President Roosevelt Spends Three Hours, All Told, on Board the Plunger and the Submarine Is Put Through All Her Maneuvers for His Benefit—The Boat Behaved Beautifully, Though a Heavy Sea Was On.

Oyster Bay, L. I. (Special).—President Roosevelt late in the afternoon made a descent in Long Island Sound on board the submarine torpedo boat Plunger. He was aboard the vessel about three hours. At one time the little boat was submerged for 50 minutes, and in that time was put through all of the submarine exercises of which she is capable.

The President expressed his delight at the novel experience, and said that he was immensely impressed with the boat and with the manner in which she was handled. In thus braving the dangers of submarine maneuvering the President has endeared himself to naval officers and men the world over, and made Lieut. Charles H. Nelson, commander of the Plunger, the proudest and happiest man in the United States Navy.

The President's intention not only to make a personal inspection of the tiny vessel, likely to prove so deadly in naval warfare, but to make a submarine descent in it was reached after a conference with Lieutenant Nelson. The Plunger's commander explained to President Roosevelt the operations of the boat and assured him that a trip on her and a descent into the depths of Long Island Sound would be as devoid of danger as would be a trip on a New York subway express train.

The President long has desired to watch the operations of a submarine torpedo boat at close range, and before he had not been deterred from taking the risk by advice of his friends and official associates. Convinced by the logic of Lieutenant Nelson, he arranged to take a trip on the Plunger and to see the little vessel perform all her wonderful maneuvers while he was on board.

The special trial of the boat, with the President on board, took place between 3 and 6 o'clock in Long Island Sound, just off the entrance to Oyster Bay. Shortly after 3 o'clock the President went aboard the Plunger in one of the launches of the naval yacht Sylph, which he boarded at the J. West Roosevelt pier.

As soon as the President had descended into the boat the manholes were closed, and conveyed by the naval tender Apache, the Plunger started for the sound. No maneuvers were attempted until the vessel was well beyond the entrance to the bay. A stiff northeast breeze kicked up a heavy sea in the sound, but the Plunger behaved beautifully. The water where the trial took place is about 40 feet deep, too shallow, in the opinion of Lieutenant Nelson and his experts, to enable the vessel to do her best work. Soon after the vessel was directed downward until she rested on the bottom of the sound. Then the mechanism of the craft was explained minutely to the President by Lieutenant Nelson, so that he afterward experienced no difficulty in understanding the maneuvers which were performed.

While the President was thus resting on the bottom of the sound in a submarine boat a storm 40 feet above him was raging unnoticed. The rain descended in torrents and the northeaster whipped the water into big rollers, but it was as quiet and peaceful where the President sat as an easy parlor would be.

Explanations of the working of the Plunger being completed, Lieutenant Nelson began to put her through her paces. From the bottom, porpoise diving was tried—that is, the boat would ascend to the surface of the sound for several seconds, long enough to enable her commander to sight any warship that might be within view, and then dive again immediately. After this maneuver had been repeated a few times, the Plunger was sunk down a distance of 20 feet below the surface and her engines stopped. Then the engines were surface backward. The boat ascended to the surface.

Lieutenant Nelson made his boat perform the remarkable feat of diving to a depth of 20 feet and while going at that speed at that depth, reversing her course. The complete turn occupied only one minute. Subsequently the engines were stopped and the vessel was submerged to a depth of 20 feet. There she was kept motionless as a demonstration of her ability to remain in that position for hours while awaiting an opportunity to launch one of her torpedoes at a vessel of a blockading squadron which might be passing or repassing a given point.

Burglars Blow Open Safes.
Flemington, N. J. (Special).—Burglars blew the safe in the Three Bridges Postoffice to atoms early the other morning. Enough nitroglycerine was used to wreck a dozen safes. The thieves secured $6 in cash and between 140 and $150 in postage stamps. The burglars did not disturb the mail matter, but carried away a bundle of papers belonging to Postmaster Wood. The amount of cash and stamps was not forced open. Frank H. Van Syckle's meat market was broken into, but nothing of value was taken. Surrounding towns were quickly notified to be on the lookout for suspicious characters, but no arrests have been made.

W. C. Hardison a Suicide.
Charlotte, N. C. (Special).—W. C. Hardison, of Wadesboro, N. C., identified with various manufacturing enterprises, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head, only half an hour after reaching home from Blowing Rock, where he had been on account of his health. He died almost instantly. The act is attributed to ill health, coupled with recent heavy losses occasioned by the failure of the Independent Cotton Oil Company, of Darlington, S. C. Mr. Hardison was owner of one of the mills controlled by this company.

LIVE WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, in his annual report, tells of the detection and arrest of a number of counterfeiters and the confiscation of their plates and molds.

Secretary Bonaparte has referred the report of the Bennington case to the Judge Advocate General.

Thomas E. Waggaman, late treasurer of the Catholic University, and whose financial difficulties have attracted considerable attention by reason of the amount involved, was indicted by the federal grand jury for embezzlement in connection with his management as trustee of an estate.

Through the Department of Commerce and Labor, the officers of the Immigration Bureau have been asked to state their views regarding the operation of the immigration and Chinese exclusion laws, so as to determine what changes, if any, are desirable.

Edwin H. Conger, ambassador to Mexico, has resigned. David E. Thompson, minister to Brazil, will probably be his successor.

WANTS TO RACE AIRSHIPS.

Aeronaut Knabenshue Issues Challenge to Another Flyer.

New York (Special).—A. Roy Knabenshue, the Toledo aeronaut, who aroused all New York by his airship cruise, practically challenged Leon Stevens, of 305 West Forty-seventh street, to an airship race between the Toledo II, and the California Arrow for $5,000 a side.

"I am willing to meet him at any time," said the man who has twice sailed over this city. "I will race him in any airship he can get."

Knabenshue, having twice viewed this city from aloft while sailing in his airship, took a look around on the level on which ordinary humanity lives, taking his crew through the financial district, Chinatown and the East Side, and then going up to Grant's Tomb.

AMERICANS IN PRISON.

They Are Held in Nicaragua—Our Government Growing Anxious.

Washington, D. C. (Special).—The State Department is growing anxious over the imprisonment of two Americans in Nicaragua. The men are vaguely known in the State Department as the Albers brothers, and the representatives in Nicaragua of a Philadelphia concern. It was through his efforts to procure release for the prisoners that Consul Donaldson, at Managua, incurred the displeasure of the government of Nicaragua, which canceled his exequatur. The department has cabled to Minister Merry to make a cable report on whether or not the men are still in jail, and if they had been given a trial. If they are in prison direct representations will probably be made to the Nicaraguan government.

Rockefeller the Donor?
Chicago (Special).—That the hue and cry about "tainted money" has driven John D. Rockefeller to adopt secrecy in his benefactions is the inference here from the announcement of President Harper, of Chicago University, that he has $6,000,000 in hand for the construction of new buildings, the source of which he declined to disclose. The announcement following right on the heels of President Harper's visit to Mr. Rockefeller's home in Cleveland, leaves little room for doubt about where the university's latest windfall has come from.

Fired on From Ambush.

Tracy, Tenn. (Special).—When the Tennessee Consolidated Coal Company attempted to open the mines, after a shut-down of over fourteen months, J. B. Rust, Dick Henley, John McGovern, bush, and another man were shot from ambush. Rust and Henley are dead, and McGovern is probably mortally wounded. The company had refused to recognize members of miners' union.

Cholera in Manila.
Manila (By Cable).—An outbreak of cholera in Manila has been reported. It is thought that it is due to green vegetables from Hongkong. Two soldiers died at Camp McKinley, which is now quarantined. In the city several natives and one American woman have died. The surgeons of the board of health say that the disease is not serious, and that heroic efforts will be made to place it under control.

Shoots His Wife and Self.
Pittsburg (Special).—Alexander Stemer, a millwright, living in McClurg street, South Side, shot his wife through the head and then, placing the revolver in his right temple, sent a bullet into his brain. Stemer died instantly, but his wife will recover. The shooting, it is said, was caused by insane jealousy due to drink.

The Board of Health at Natchez, Miss., announce 6 to 10 cases of yellow fever there.

New Orleans, La. (Special).—The United States Marine Hospital Service has agreed to take charge of the fruit shipments from Port Chalmette, so as to meet the objections of Surgeon General Wyman. The fruit cars will not go through New Orleans. This arrangement will permit of handling the fruit trade through the Mississippi River, relieve the congestion at Mobile and the famine in the West.

The State Board of Health, having made an investigation of the health conditions at Patterson, has concluded that the vigorous measures are needed there, and has placed Dr. C. L. Norton in charge. The civil authorities will report to him and receive orders from him. So far the efforts to check the disease in Patterson having produced no practical results; fortunately the disease is milder there than anywhere else in the South, the death rate being only one-half of one per cent. Why this is so has not been yet learned.

On the other hand, the situation is bad at Lee, the fishing settlement on Bayou Lafourche, where there are 223 cases. There are now three doctors there. The fishing business is completely suspended, and the people are short of provisions and medicines. These, however, are being supplied by the authorities, and ample provision will be made for the healthy as well as for the sick. They are simple fisher folk, obey all sanitary instructions, and seem heartily thankful for what is being done for them. Unfortunately, through their ignorance and lack of a resident doctor, they let the disease get firmly seared in every house in the settlement before notifying the health authorities.

Dr. Krauss has been placed in charge at Lake Providence, where the recurrence of the fever, after having once been crushed out, has caused much disappointment. It is restricted to the negroes, only one white person being sick, whereas of old the negroes were believed to be immune.

The discovery of yellow fever at Gulfport, Miss., was, it now appears, made at New Orleans, just as that at Mississippi City was discovered by the Alabama health authorities.

Burial of Paul Jones.
Washington, D. C. (Special).—April 24, 1906, has been definitely fixed by Secretary Bonaparte as the date for the exercises at Annapolis in connection with the interment of the body of John Paul Jones. This is the anniversary of the great Admiral's capture of the Drake. After a consultation with Admiral Sigsbee, Superintendent of the Naval Academy, Mr. Bonaparte was convinced that the condition of the yard, because of the building in progress there, would not be such this fall as to permit of the programme of the burial being carried out satisfactorily.

Leprosy Cured.
Manila (By Cable).—What appears to be a well-authenticated instance of the cure of leprosy has been found here. A few weeks ago a patient who had been afflicted with leprosy, and who had been under treatment for that disease, died of liver complaint. After the patient's death every part of the body was subjected to a searching microscopic examination by bacteriologists, but not the slightest trace of leprosy could be found. Dr. H. B. Wilkinson, the physician who treated the patient for leprosy, is a graduate of the University of Virginia, class of 1894.

Army of Fourteen Millions.
Clifton, Mass. (Special).—The first business session of the central committee of the International Sunday School Association was held here. Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, Ohio, general secretary of the Association, presented his annual report, showing 154,593 Sunday Schools, with 1,522,473 teachers and a total membership of 14,168,305 in the international field.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

Sleuth "Tim" Donahue of the customs service noticed a second-cabin passenger of the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm under his coat, waistcoat and trousers. He bumped against the man, incidentally felt the bulges and found them very solid. He showed the passenger, who is Moritz Mordell, a jeweler of Boston, his badge and invited him into a room on the pier. There the protruberances were reduced without surgical help. They contained 18 packages of unset stones, mostly diamonds; three packages of loose stones of less value; 12 pairs of cuff buttons, a pair of earrings, four settings for earrings, 70 settings for gold rings, 15 gold chains and other jewelry. The value of the lot will be estimated by appraisers. Donahue said it might be worth several thousand dollars.

A huge man-eating shark was brought ashore at Coscob, N. Y., by Judge Geo. E. Brush. It was necessary to tow the fish in behind a catboat. The shark weighed 400 pounds, measured 9 feet in length, was 20 inches thick, and was 4 feet in circumference as it lay on the shore. It had a double set of teeth and was ferocious in appearance.

"Police! Help! I am on fire!"
These startling words were uttered by a young woman who was dining in the little roof garden over the dining-room extension of the Hotel Navarre, at Seventh avenue and Thirty-eighth street.

She rose in her seat as she screamed for aid, and it was seen that her corsage was ablaze, and the other diners rushed toward the exit leading to the one narrow flight of stairs. The young woman, left alone, tore away the burning portion of her waist and joined the panic-stricken crowd on the stairway.

Two firemen from the station in Thirty-seventh street, with the aid of an extinguisher, managed to put out the burning canvas covering of the roof garden.

The population of New York city will aggregate nearly four millions, according to estimates that have been made from reports of the recent State enumeration taken here. Computations on the same basis place the population of the entire State at 7,800,000. The total population of New York city in 1900, when the last census was taken, was 3,437,202, and that of the entire State, 7,268,012.

Ellen Hardigan cared little about the fact that she was arraigned in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, on a charge of disorderly conduct, but she did object strenuously to the attire she was compelled to don before being taken before Magistrate Tighe.

When the matron of the Adams Street Police Station gave her a clean white shirt and a black skirt Ellen rebelled and cried aloud for the suit of blue trousers and seaman's blouse which she wore when Police Captain Condon arrested her as she was skylarking with a crowd of noisy boys in the neighborhood of Butler and Court streets.

Almost from infancy she has shunned her sex and everything pertaining thereto. Boys have been her boon companions; baseball, football and craps her favorite diversions. She has steadfastly refused to wear girl's clothing.

Once she whipped a man in a fair fight. "He got fresh," she said, when telling of her exploit, "and he got all that was coming to him."

The heroism of a little girl of 6, who grabbed a burning flag from the wall when it threatened to start a conflagration, saved a congregation of 3000 persons Sunday who had packed themselves into the synagogue Beth Hakeneseth Bialystok to attend the dedication ceremonies.

The flag was hanging over the gallery seats, and was half consumed before anyone noticed it, so intent were all present on the cantor. Then a dozen eyes saw the curling flame.

Police Captain Joseph McGlynn, in charge of the reserves, saw it and signaled to the choir to sing. He had started for the blazing flag, but before he could reach it Gertrude Rosenbaum of 107 East Eighty-eighth street, had climbed on a chair and snatched the burning cloth from the wall.

She burned her hands severely, for the staff resisted her attempt at first, but it gave way finally, and she cast the flag on the floor, where a man stamped out the fire.

Gunda, the pride of the Bronx Zoo, is rapidly learning to play the harmonica. Gunda is an elephant. He takes his music lessons daily from Keeper Gleason and seems to like it. It is vehemently asserted that he has
