DEATHS.

MRS. SUSAN WISE.

Mrs. Susan Wise died at the home of F. P. Duck, from cancer of the stomach, aged seventy-four years. Four daughters and four sons, twenty-four grand children and nine great grand children survive. The immediate children are: Thos. F., Madisonburg; Chas. S., Clyde, O.; George E., Rebersburg; Wm. C., Portland, Oregon; Mrs. J. H. B. Hartman, Mrs. F. P. Duck, Millheim; Mrs. H. D. Hagan, Farmers Mills; Mrs. Solomon Homan, Williamsport.

JOHN P. GEPHART.

John Philip Gephart died at his home in Bellefonte, Wednesday evening of last week, after a lingering illness of seven years from paralysis. Deceased was seventy-nine years of age and was a native of Penn township. In his early life he kept a store in Millheim. In 1864 he was elected register and recorder of the county and served three years. In 1879 he was elected a member of the Legislature and served until 1882. In politics he was a Democrat and a man of considerable prominence not only in this county but throughout the state. He was twice married, and is survived by his second wife and two children, Mrs. L. T. Munson, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. W. B. Dix, of Dayton, Ohio.

LOCALS.

John L. Runkle, of Tusseyville, and William Reiber, of Colyer, were in town Monday on business.

Roy Shaffer will be employed on the farm by D. K. Keller. He and Mrs. Shaffer and baby Shaffer will have their home with Mr. Keller, on the Old Huston farm.

George B. Lee and Elmer Miller, of Colyer, were callers Saturday. Mr. Lee is baggage master at Milton, and after his sale on February 21st, he will move his family to that place.

The Osterburg Press, a sprightly little paper in its first volume, is deserving of the patronage of the good people of Osterburg and vicinity. The editor and publisher is Miley M. Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Decker, of near Spring Mills, who made sale of their personal belongings recently, Monday started for their new home in Mitchell, South Dakota. They will begin farming in the northwest.

After suffering three months from the effects of a broken leg, E. Potter Tate, of Yeagertown, is able to be about again. The break occurred through the runaway of a team of horses. The fracture was reduced, but the bones failed to knit satisfactorily, and Mr. Tate was taken to the German Hospital, Philadelphia, on Thanksgiving day, where he was treated until a few weeks ago when he returned to his home with his son, George Tate, at Yeagertown. Dr. Dever had the case in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swint, 1120 Gano Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., are mourning the loss of their little daughter, aged one year, eleven months. Mr. Swint, when a boy, had his home with the Slabigs near Centre Hall, and will be remembered by many of the Reporter readers, all of whom will regret the affliction of the family.

THE BOROUGHS CAUCUS.

Democrats and Republicans Nominate Local Tickets.

The Democratic caucus was held in the Council Room, Penns Valley Banking Building, Saturday evening. There was a very good attendance, and in most instances the nominations were made by acclamation, the exceptions being school directors and councilmen.

D. J. Meyer, the local committee-man, called the house to order, and received the nomination of W. B. Mingle, Esq., as chairman, and Messrs. L. L. Smith and Charles D. Bartholomew as clerks. The motion was put and carried.

A rule was made that each candidate must receive a majority of the votes cast to become the nominee.

The ticket nominated is as follows: Judge of Election—John T. Lee. Inspector—John H. Puff.

School Directors—D. A. Hoozer. S. W. Smith. Councilmen—W. Frank Bradford. J. W. Mitterling.

Justice—W. B. Mingle. John G. Danberman.

Tax Collector—J. Frank Smith. Burgess—M. L. Emeric.

Auditor—S. S. Kreamer. High Constable—John Geary.

For the office of school director Messrs. M. L. Emeric, Thomas G. Wilson and Dr. G. W. Hosterman were also nominated and received, respectively, 8, 10 and 12 votes.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

The Republicans of the borough, B. D. Brisbin, chairman, held their caucus Monday evening. The only candidate nominated was for the office of inspector, for which place M. N. Miller was named.

Three Plays.

The members of the Epworth League, in Centre Hall, will render three plays in Grange Arcadia, Saturday evening, 10th instant. These young people, on previous occasions, have entertained audiences in a most delightful way, which is a guarantee that the plays advertised by them will be well worth hearing. Tickets are now on sale by Chas. D. Bartholomew. Buy early and secure choice seats. Admission 10 and 15 cents. Reserved seats, 25 cents.

Obituary.

Sarah Treesler was born the 12th day of May in the year 1839. She was baptized into the Christian faith and was a faithful member of the Evangelical church.

The 8th day of December, 1864, she was married to M. B. Duck, and eight children were born to grace this union. She died on the 22nd day of January, 1906, being the first one of the family to end her labors in the body.

The lovely and lovable character, about which these facts center, and which runs through them like a golden thread, lends them nobility and sublimity. Its purpose and aspiration were that of the Psalmist: "As for me I shall behold thy face in righteousness, I shall be satisfied when I awake in thy likeness." To behold the face of God in righteousness, and at last to awake in his likeness, controlled her life.

The simplicity and unselfishness of her devotion and service to her family have never been surpassed. She never considered her own comfort or life when she could serve her family. It was her delight to "disappear" individually that she might "re-appear" severally and collectively in the greater joy of family successes. For the joy that was set before her, she counted the temporary deprivation and cost for naught. The sincere joy of Christian self-sacrifice was all the reward she coveted.

Flowers are beautiful and fragrant, but the center-piece gives them more than beauty and more than fragrance. From her there shines a purity rivaling the pure white throat of the lily's corolla, and a fragrance that shall only increase with the years; for she has written for herself a character upon the immortal elements of the world. For two score years she has been the center of the family and its ambitions, the source of its inspirations, the recipient of its trophies of victory, and now the time has come that the center-piece has been removed so that the surrounding units may assume full place as subsequent centers, and work out for themselves a like beautiful and influential life.

It is an artifice of nature to give much life through death. In this case one has given herself, body and soul, and eight robust children, all in the prime of life, are the result of her life. And this was her joy—to give herself that they might have life, and have it more abundantly. Knowing that she now beholds God's face in righteousness and is satisfied on awakening in his likeness, let us endeavor to surrender her to Him who has given so much through her.

The following are the surviving members of the family, all of whom were present to pay a last tribute of love to the memory of the mother: The husband and father, Mrs. Lilla Hettinger, and Magnus T., of Spring Mills; Mrs. Blanche E. Phillips, of New York; Elkanah M., of Montville, N. J.; Florida B., of St. Louis, Mo.; Charles C., of Munson; Almon L. and Bertha O., at home.

A POINTER FOR BOYS.

The Boy Who Tries to do the Least Always Has the Hardest Time—He Must Trot to Catch Up.

An exchange gives boys the following tip: "A horse that is a fast walker does not have to trot so much. Did our boys ever notice that? Well it is much the same with boys. A boy who walks right up to and with his work—keeps abreast with his duties, has a much more pleasant time than the boy who is always lagging to the rear. A boy must in some shape or other, do his share, and if he persists in poking along whenever the eye of the instructor is on something else, he must be made to trot to catch up with the fast, even walker who finds his work easy and pleasant because he never allows it to get ahead of him. Take a lot of boys together and the fellow who tries to do the least has much the hardest time of any. The boy who has the easiest time is the one who peels off his coat and starts right in with the determination of doing well and promptly the work that is assigned to him to do.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Mother's Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children, for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.

Engraved Cards.

Orders for engraved cards, invitations, etc., taken at this office. The highest class work.

Afraid of Strong Medicines.

Many people suffer for years from rheumatic pains, and prefer to do so rather than take the strong medicines usually given for rheumatism, not knowing that quick relief from pain may be had simply by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm and without taking any medicine internally. For sale by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.

Mushrooms.

Tommy—Papa, is it always damp where they raise mushrooms? Papa—Yes, my son, Tommy—is that why they look like umbrellas?

Measured Him.

Brown—Did the tailor take your measure? Jones—I should think he did. He said I had to pay in advance.

VACCINE VIRUS VS. SMALL-POX

While Victims of the Horrible Disease Fell All About Them, Mr. Hyatt and His Family, With Vaccination As Their Only Weapon, Lived Unharmed.

Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon has received the following letter from John T. Hyatt, of Jersey Shore, Pa., former Vice-Consul at Santiago, telling of Mr. Hyatt's personal experience in fighting small-pox with vaccine virus:

Jersey Shore, Pa., Jan. 4, 1906. Hon. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir—As at Lock Haven and other parts of the state there is so much opposition to vaccination, as required by the Act of June 18, 1895, I feel constrained to write you some of my own experiences and observations, with reference to that subject.

I was American Vice-Consul at Santiago De Cuba from 1893 to 1897 inclusive. The influx to Santiago from the rural districts, where, on account of the revolution, it was very dangerous to live, was very heavy, and particularly after the inhuman reconcentration order of General Weyler. In 1896 industry was stifled and poverty and starvation were reigning supreme at Santiago, meat selling as high as 75c. and $1 a pound, eggs at 10c. apiece, and other things at proportionate prices. At this time yellow fever and small-pox broke out in the most virulent form. It was estimated at the time that during that year there were 10,000 cases of yellow fever and 26,000 cases of small-pox in the city of Santiago.

As I recollect it now, the death rate from these two causes alone in that city ascended to a level of from 60 to 100 deaths per day.

The Spanish government, unmindful of the welfare of the people, took little or no steps to stamp out the sources, and although private enterprise imported a considerable amount of vaccine virus, yet the indifference of the authorities and the opposition of the filitantes, being perhaps about 75 per cent. of the population, prevented any considerable amount of vaccination. No efforts were made at quarantining. Those suffering in various stages of small-pox walked about the streets, mingling with the people unmolested, and many of them came into the consulate on business. Small-pox broke out in nearly all of the houses in the vicinity of the consulate. One man, I remember particularly, afflicted with the dreadful disease in its confluent form, lay in my plain sight in the open air under the eaves of a house standing back in the adjacent lot, not more than 40 feet from where I worked at my desk, with the breeze blowing from him to me, and I saw this man die and his corpse carried away.

My father and mother and wife were with me at this time, and as soon as the small-pox broke out we were all vaccinated, although we had each been successfully vaccinated in previous years. The vaccination took slightly with each member of our family, and we were all vaccinated regularly thereafter every month or two, in order to use every possible precaution, but the vaccination did not take in any case practically after the first application. Whenever fresh virus came to the consulate from the States we distributed the supply where it seemed to be most advisable. Although constantly exposed to confluent small-pox for nearly two years, none of my family took the disease. Neither did others at Santiago during that eventful period who were careful to be successfully vaccinated, as I recollect now from inquiries then made, although the dead wagons were crying such a continuous freight to the cemetery that it was a common thing for the sexton and his help when night fell to find 20 or 30 more corpses on their hands for interment than they were able to bury, and which they had to leave out all night in the cemetery and bury in the morning.

If this letter can be of any help to you in your magnificent work of enlightening the people of this Commonwealth on the importance of vaccination, you have my permission to use it. Very respectfully yours, JOHN T. HYATT.

The term "Greenhorn." The term "greenhorn" originated in this way: The pioneers of the west were much given to hunting deer. It was a fact known to early settlers that when the horn of a fawn began to grow there was a ring of green hair around the spot. It was considered a disgraceful thing for a hunter to kill a fawn, a cruel act, and the killing time was regulated by the growth of the horn. There was a sort of unwritten law that no one should kill a male fawn before its horn could be seen. A person who was so unthoughtful as to kill a deer under the proper age was called a "greenhorn." He was so named because the young horn of the deer and the hair around it were still green. The use of the appellation gradually spread until it was applied to all raw or inexperienced youths or persons easily imposed upon.

The Clerk Was Right. "Well," said Wymat, as he vainly tried to get into a No. 12 shoe with the aid of four shoe horns, "the clerk that sold me these shoes was right. I should have worn the box."

Love is blind, and it may also be a case of dumb luck.

The beauty about castles in the air is that they require no bills for plumbing.

Startling But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. WILCOX, Logan, New York. Sold by C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills.
