The annual banquet of the Pine Grove Mills High school, Prof. Poffenberger, principal, held in the I. O. O. F. hall, was one of the most successful and pleasing of any ever held. Covers were laid for one hundred and fifty guests and all were taken while quite a number of extra plates had to be provided, says the Watchman. Miss Beulah Smith made the address of welcome and Capt. W. H. Fry was chosen toastmaster. There were quite a number of impromptu but interesting short talks, a regular program of literary exercises and music while Norman King, of Altoona, delighted all with his remarkably clever slight of hand performance. Following the banquet a dance was held by the young folks.

DEATHS.

MRS. HARRIET FORTNEY.

Mrs. Harriet Fortney was born at Finkle's Mill, Haines township, about seventy-one years ago, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Patterson, at Boalsburg, Friday of last week. Interment took place Monday morning, the services being conducted in the Reformed church to which denomination the deceased belonged since her childhood. The ceremonies were conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. A. Black.

Mrs. Fortney was the daughter of Catharine and Philip Carper, and was married to John Fortney. This union resulted in the birth of seven children, six of whom are living. George B. McClellan was killed at the Twelfth Street bridge, Altoona, having met his death by being knocked off a box car while acting in the capacity of a brakeman. The living children are: William B., Donora, Washington county; Philip, Indianapolis, Indiana; John, Boalsburg; Mrs. J. D. Wagner, Altoona; Mrs. William Patterson, Boalsburg; James, Clinton, Ill.

She is survived by the following sisters and brother: Mrs. Jerry Kelley, Filmore; Mrs. Samuel Grenoble, Pine Hill; Mrs. David Young, James Creek; Mrs. Sarah Wellers, Look Haven; Adam Carper, Huntingdon Furnace.

One son, Philip, and two sisters, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Wellers, were unable to attend the funeral.

The children—William, George, Russel and Grace—of the deceased son, who with their mother (Mrs. Minerva Fortney) live in Harrisburg, attended the funeral.

Mrs. Fortney died from the ravages of age.

JESE M. FRYNSINGER.

Jesse M. Frynsinger, a native of Lewistown, died in Wilmington, Delaware, at the age of thirty-three years. Deceased was the son of Henry Frynsinger, formerly editor of the Lewistown True Democrat and since 1879 editor of the weekly Democrat at Chester, Pa.

Jesse Frynsinger was widely known as a successful base ball manager. About a month ago he was operated upon for an internal trouble and was improving, when internal hemorrhages set in and caused his death. He was married a year or two ago to Miss Margaret Cheavens, of Williamsport.

GEORGE HOY.

George W. Hoy died Saturday morning at his home at Pine Hill, near State College, aged about forty years. He had been a sufferer for a number of years from bronchial trouble.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Albert Hoy, his wife, eight children, five sons and three daughters, also five brothers and two sisters.

Funeral took place Monday morning. Interment in Pine Grove Mills cemetery, Rev. Heckman officiating.

LOCALS.

In the list of Pomona Grange officers given in last week's issue of the Reporter, an error occurred. George L. Goodhart is the chaplain, having been re-elected, and Frank W. Musser is the treasurer.

Mrs. Edward Robinson and daughter Edna, who for the greater part of the winter were stopping near Philadelphia, came to Centre Hall last week. They expect to go to Renovo in a few days.

Movable Bedrooms.

In one of the old castles of northern England visitors are shown two rooms which are connected with each other by a singular mechanism. Each room is adjoined by an alcove used as a sleeping room apartment, and the floors of the adjoining alcoves turn on a pivot in the center of the partition wall. This ingenious device was the invention of one of the ancestors of the present proprietor, who was somewhat of a wag and found great pleasure in frightening and mystifying his guests. When one had gone to bed in the green room and the other in the blue, the floors were turned on their pivots, and on awakening the visitor found himself in strange quarters, with clothes that were not his own. It is said that this fun loving lord lost a rich inheritance by thus disturbing the restful moments of a wealthy aunt, who never forgave the trick her nephew played upon her.

Parish Clerks as Actors.

In the fourteenth century the parish clerks of London frequently took a part in the miracle plays, then commonly acted in churches, and also annually performed mystery plays in public near the old clerk's well, which gave its name to Clerkenwell. Occasionally they even acted before royalty. Thus Hollinshead records that the London parish clerks of the Brotherhood of St. Nicholas, who formerly were a dignified body with a chartered guild and hall of their own in Bishopsgate street, performed a play on three successive nights before Richard II. and his queen and court to divert the royal resentment against the citizens of London for a recent riot in the city.
