

DIED CELEBRATING.

Harry Riter, of Coburn, an Embellish, Celebrates His Majesty Day and Dies of Acute Alcoholic Poisoning.

Death due to acute alcoholic poisoning was the verdict of the coroner's jury rendered after taking testimony on the death of Harry Riter, at Coburn.

Young Riter, a weak-minded man, celebrated his majority day by imbibing from a bottle of whiskey, Tuesday, and shortly after noon on that day he was found dead at the grain house of Commissioner Weaver, at Coburn.

A jury was appointed, and after hearing evidence in the case, rendered the verdict noted above.

Harry Riter, a son of George Riter, was a "character" about Coburn, and was the butt of many jokes. On reaching the age of twenty-one he became intoxicated first with the joy of having reached his majority, and later with the juice of the barley corn.

The termination of life under such circumstances is indeed sad, and the fact that the man was not fully accountable for his own acts adds to rather than lessens the horrors of such a death.

The coroner's jury consisted of Jackson Stover, G. R. Stover, J. C. Hosterman, W. L. Hosterman, George P. Shaffer, A. L. Auman.

Timber sold.

The school board sold the timber on Public School Park to B. D. Brislin & Company for $75, the same to be removed within six months.

This sum, together with the proceeds from the sale of the lots to the Odd Fellows, will be placed on interest, under the provisions of a law permitting the accumulation of funds for the purchase of a building site or the erection of a school building, although no time has been set for the purchase.

GOOD ROADS AND NEW LAWS.

Movements for Better Highways is Receiving More Attention.

All the new system of road administration, the all-cash-tax departure is one that has uncovered considerable diversity of opinion among farmers. The average rural voter is naturally conservative; and he scrutinizes all legislation affecting his home affairs with jealous circumspection.

The one feature of the Act of 1905, which more than any other, made the cautious agriculturists view it suspiciously and askance, is the fact that the local option, granted with so much apparent graciousness by the Legislature, is one-sided.

But there is nothing drastic nor onerous in the new law. Its great advantage to the whole taxpaying public lies in its final abolition of the old supervisor system—probably the most slipshod method of road administration ever devised by legislative disincumbency.

The new system will meet with difficulties and obstructions, as a matter of course, but all these will be overcome. Judge Bouton, of McKean county, has declared the new law unconstitutional on account of its local option feature.

The winter term of school at this place closed Tuesday.

The Daily News has this item: Dr. John Riter, who is known throughout Penns Valley as an expert veterinary surgeon, has moved to Bellefonte and with his son-in-law, Ben Brown, will occupy a house on Penn street.

"The Pink Hussars, or His Honor the Mayor," the big musical comedy which has just finished a four months' engagement at the Chicago Opera House under the management of the Alfred E. Aarons Musical Comedy Company, will be brought to the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, for an engagement of three weeks, beginning Monday, April 2nd, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The story deals with the Hon. Teddy Todd, Mayor of Kankakee, who is "doing" Europe. In Paris he meets some former acquaintances of the Illinois town, among whom are his enemies as well as his friends. The mistake and entanglements of which His Honor is made the victim, furnish a great fund of wholesome amusement. In the second act the various characters meet on an island in the Danube, the land of "The Pink Hussars."
